Putting the Pieces Together

High school is one of the many stages we encounter in our lives. We make up many of the pieces of the puzzle of life. We are at the brink of leaving adolescence and entering adulthood. In time, all of us change, grow, and experience the joys and sorrows of life. But there are also the missing pieces to our puzzle; the feats to be accomplished, mistakes to be corrected, and an undecided future to face. Trying to understand the pieces is not easy, but neither is the puzzle of life.

Pulling Robbie Richardson and Mike Ferguson apart is like eating peanut butter without jelly.

Bobby Hood, Tina Polla, Anissa Vanderhoof and James Brannan look forward to a fruitful year.

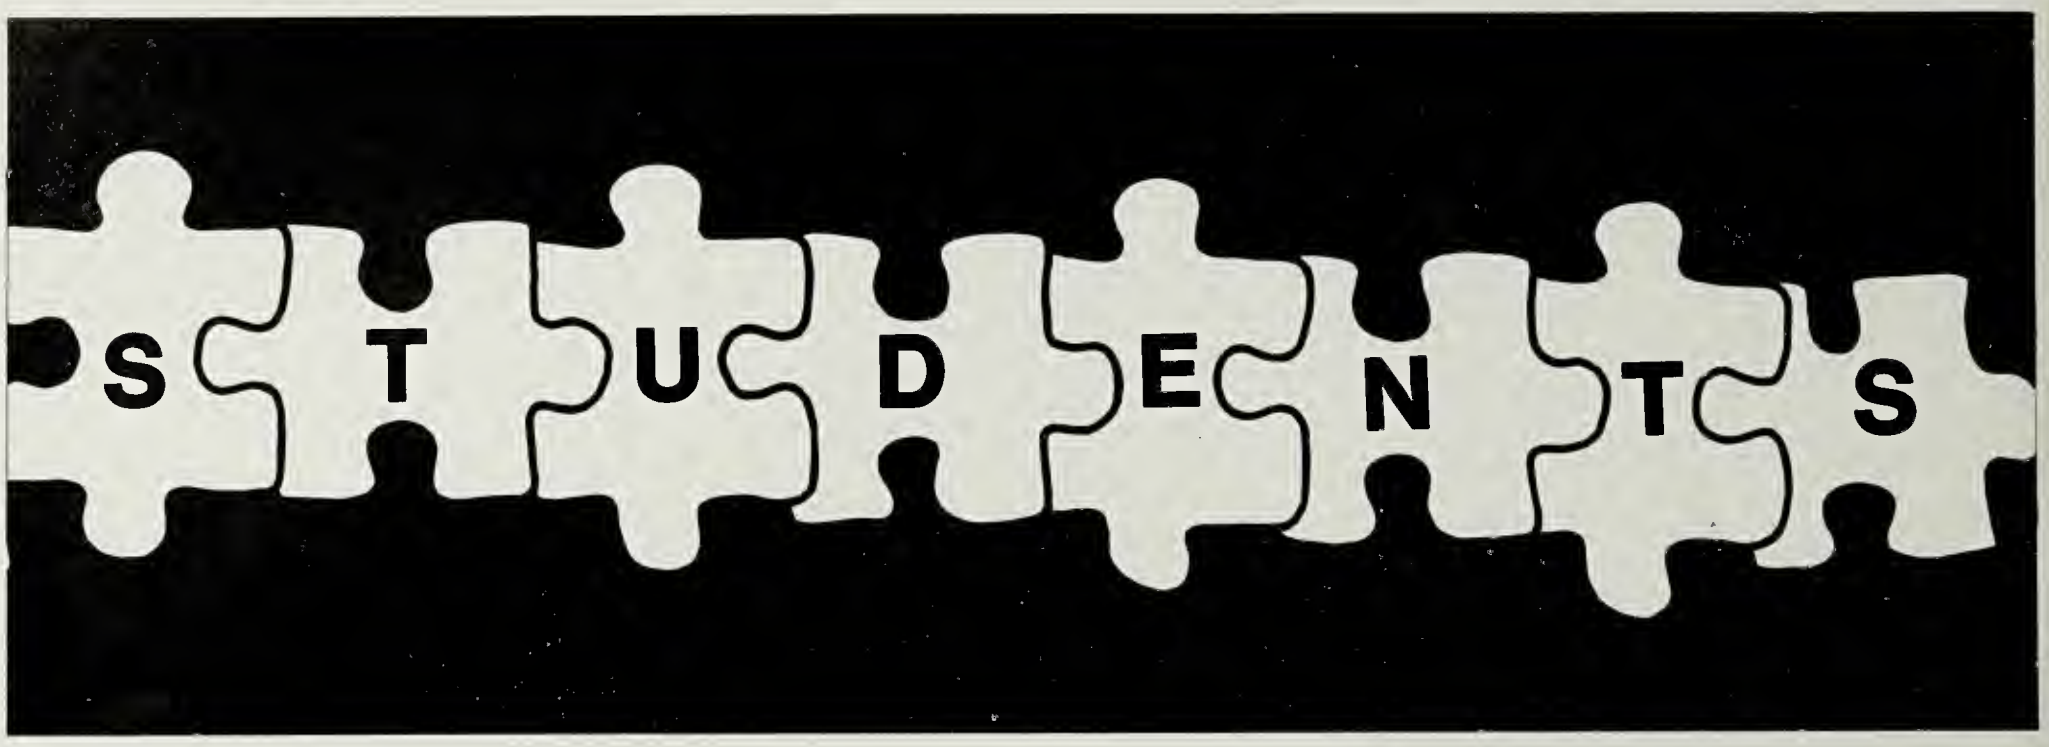

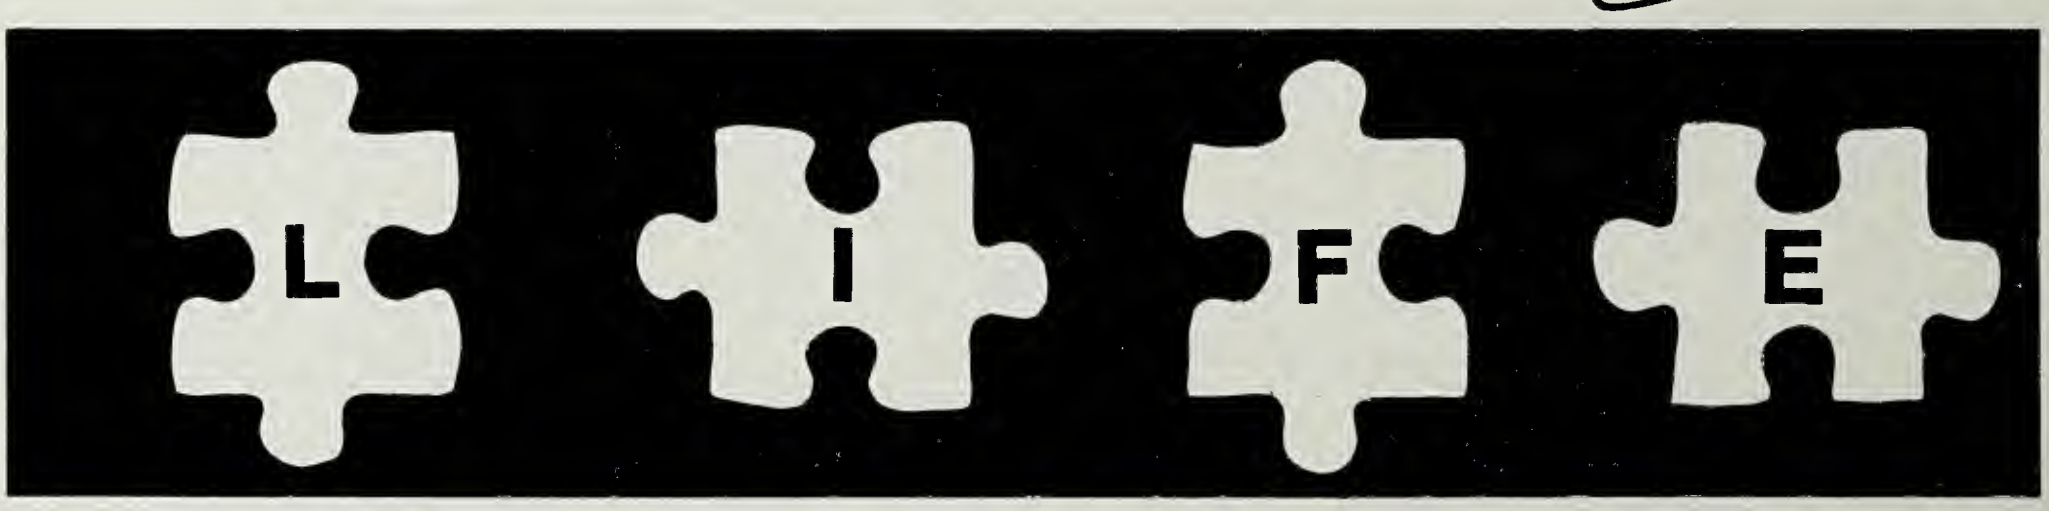

The essence of spring.

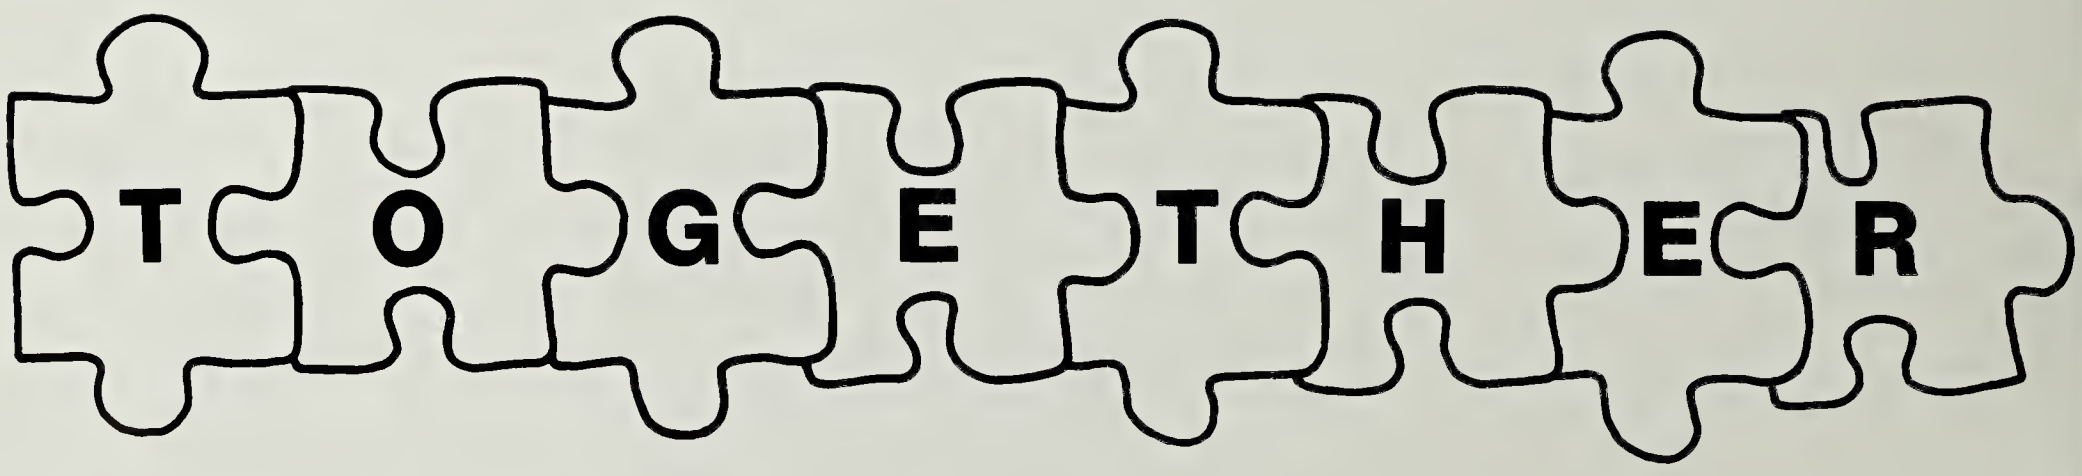

Discussing grades is a daily occurrence among faculty and students, as can be attested to by Kim McCoid and Mrs. Combs.

PUTTING THE PIECES OF

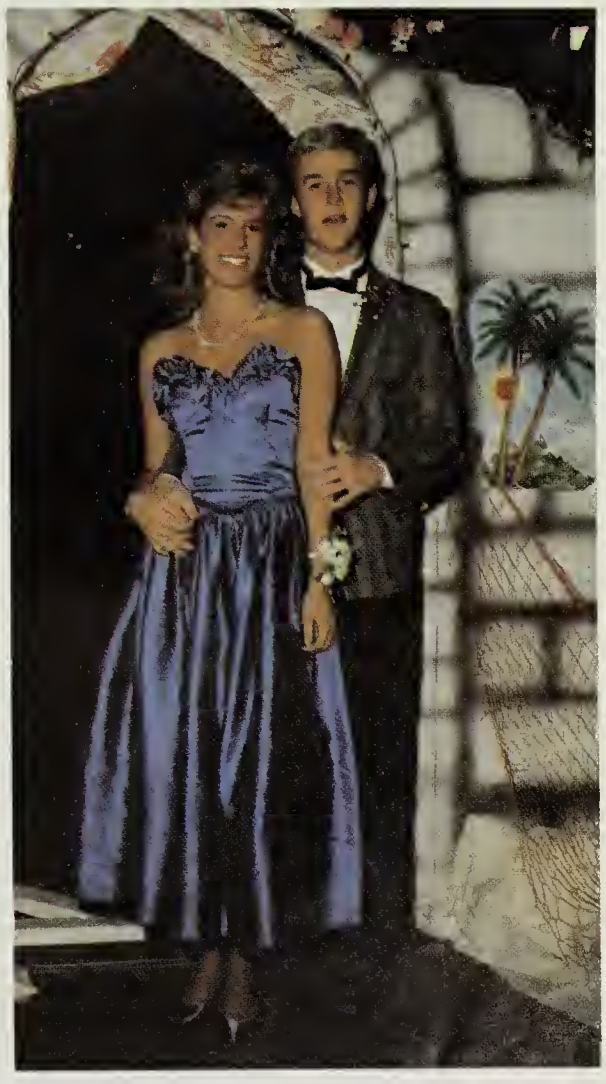

A Tradition We Will

"I can't believe that she wouldn't dance with me, but she'll dance with HIM!" says a confused Brian Wickum.

Tiffany Dangoia, Lisa Bloxton, Kecia Knoernschild, and Tammy Kennedy showing off their pearly whites.

Last year's prom is cherished but done
A memory to what '86' had begun
A tradition '87' tries to uphold
"Make this prom better," is what we were told.
To some the prom brings a joyful smile
To others it brings a tear
For four years you've treaded a path
Which leads you to graduation year
And just as it seems the path you chose
Has come to an end
There's a door to all you've waited for
Just around the bend
So here's to your effort and success
We'll miss you when you're gone
So to the class of '87'
We dedicate this prom.

Laura O'Brien, Matt Struble, and Lisa Endy never fail to see the humor in one of Mike Rendino's infamous jokes, unfortunately, Drew Taylor seems to be left out in the cold.

Never Outgrow

Among all of the couples that were color coordinated at this year's prom, none were so beautifully matched as Curtis Marshall and Jenny Kinziger.

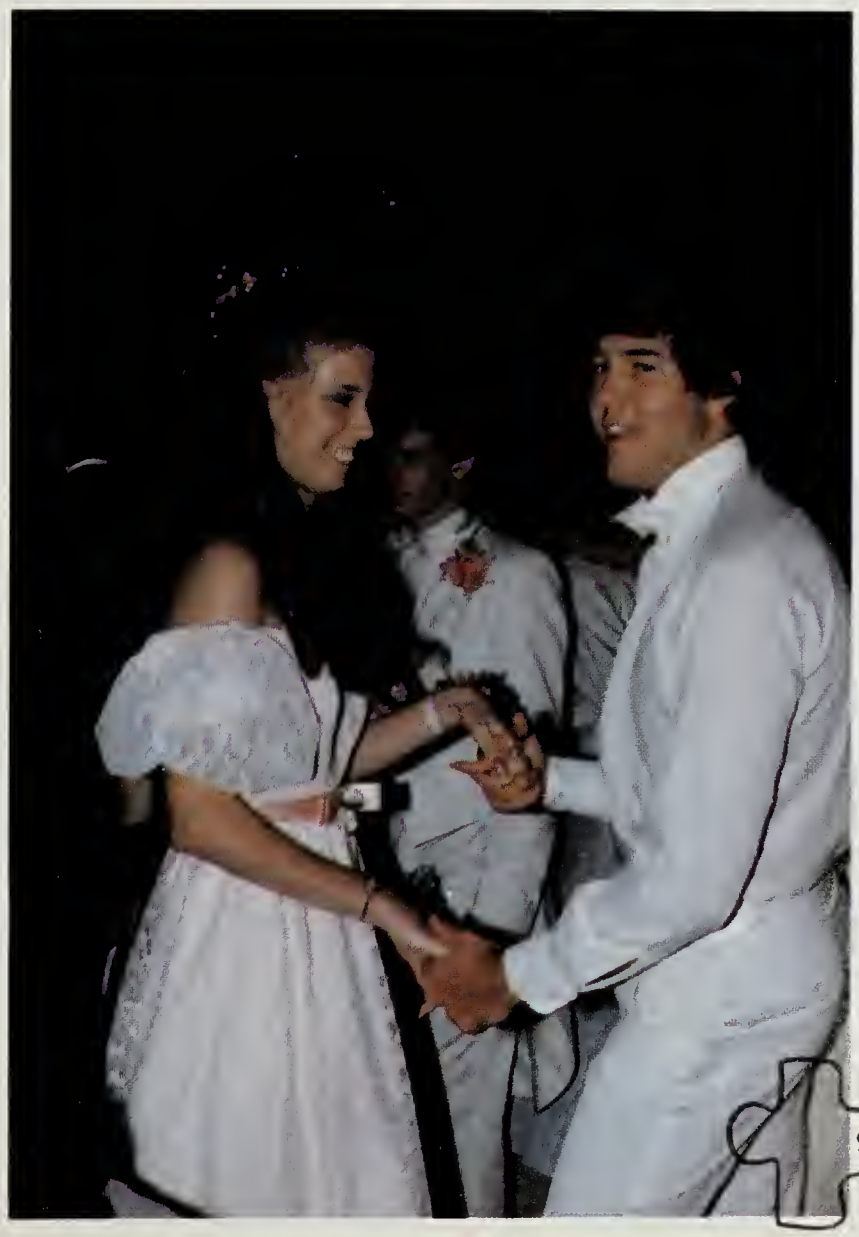

It is debateable how much of this year's prom Mike Fowlkes will truly remember.

The story of prom: first dance, second dance, third dance ... and they danced happily ever after. The end.

"One of the nicest things about prom is dancing the night away," thinks Stacey Carlson.

"The Event That

A school year without a homecoming?! That's almost worse than television without MTV. Well, this year that almost happened to us.

A homecoming committee was organized, meetings were held, but there was only so much the committee could do. Starting at the end of September, daily pleas for help came by way of the P.A. system during both morning and afternoon announcements. Class and club floats needed to be made, convertible cars had to be found, decorations had to be made for the dance. No one seemed to respond, but the announcements continued anyway until the day just before the dance. Suddenly the student body seemed to care! The reality that a time honored tradition was not going to miraculously happen by itself sunk home. Floats were made, convertible cars appeared, and decorations were produced.

On October 18 students were able to dance the night away. All the hard work had finally paid off. Graduates came home to attend the big event. Of course, they were welcomed with open arms because that is what "Coming Home" is all about.

Everything's coming up roses for Homecoming Queen Michelle Cashwell.'

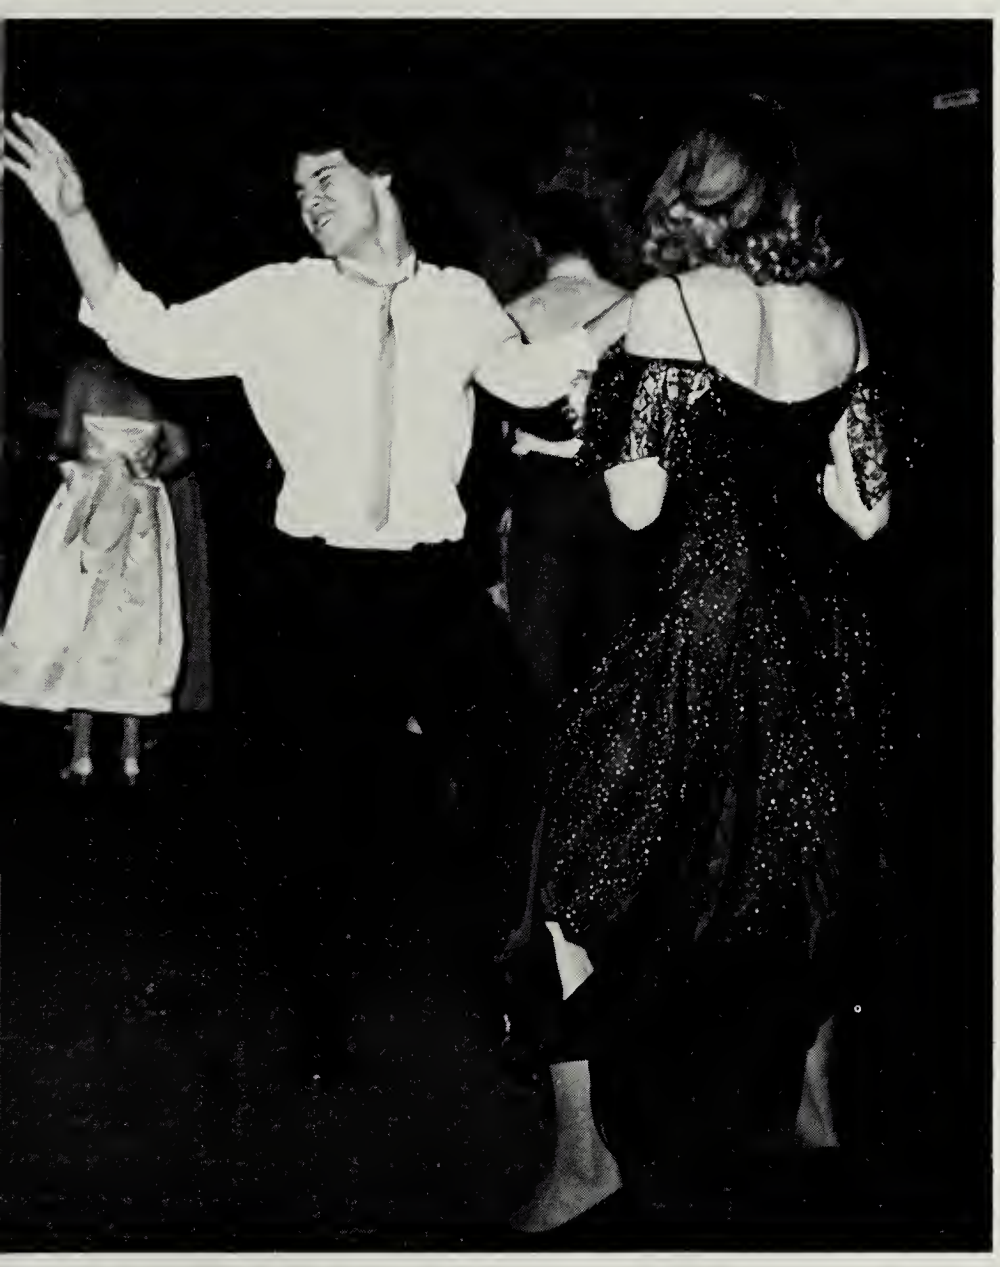

The Homecoming Court Anita Jones, Stephanie Shrewsbury, Winona Landry, Diana Moody, Sandy Meehan, Cammy Hunsley, Michelle Cashwell, and Joy Pennington patiently awaiting their Prince Charmings.

"YOU LOOK

Mannequins? Close but not quite! Living dolls, Kevin Wright and Monty Lacey sport the preppy conservative look with a twist--a pink shirt here, and a paisley tie there!

Suzanne Green dressing simply "casual" in fashionable but comfortable FORENZA sportswear. A look that Works!

It's hot, it's cool
It's new and it's you
Stripes, polka dots, flowers, palm trees
Tans, legs, muscles, curves, even knobby knees
So vogue, so fashionable, so funky and chic
So sexy, so ravishing, so smashing, and sleek.

Now that's fashion if I've ever seen it
That's fashion to a "T", a perfect fit
Fashion at it's best, it's a big hit.

You can flaunt it, you can sport it
Heck, you can make it world wide
But baby if there's one thing you can't do
It's hide!

Elisa Thomas adds shades of her own to the shades that make up fashions favorite color combo--black and white! The classic color duo that will never go out of style!

MARVELOUS DARLING''

Chutima Ratanapool's classic look is definitely a coca-cola original.

Ever wonder what teachers wear on those teacher workdays? Well, here they are folks! Ms. Hamill prefers the comfort of Outback Red, while Ms. Woodbridge sports around in sequined denim. Our Ms. Martin and Ms. Rosenblatt find jogging suits quite chic and Mr. Aleo prefers that He-Man look with his plaid shirt.

Matt Cosand feeling comfortable in his gray stripped tuxedo and red cumberbund and bow tie as he pursues a very "formal" education.

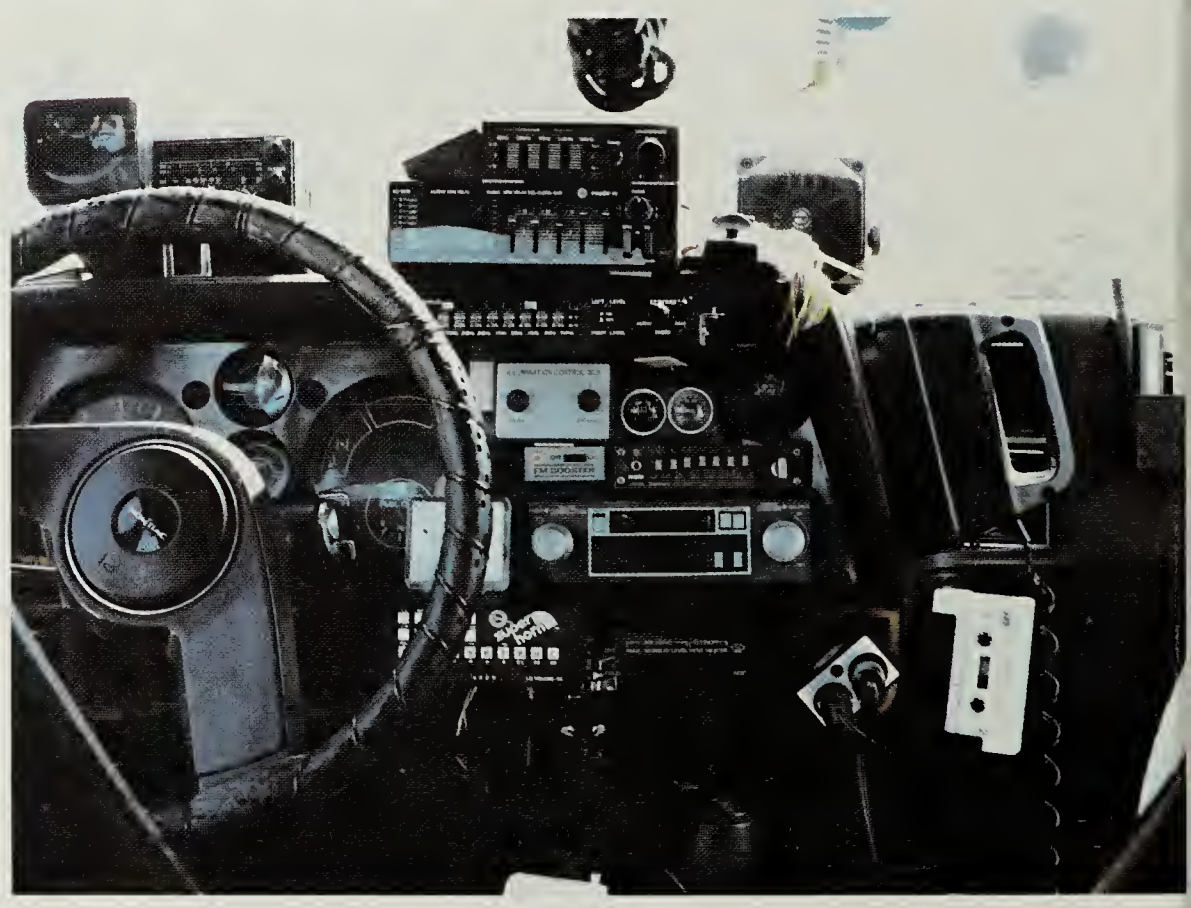

"The Cruzers

Robert Fisher: "a serious cruzer."

Jim Correia opens the door to a new path of life.

The making of an ultra cool cruisin' machine.

Of America"

George McCoy keeps on truckin'.

Darrell Sadler says, "check it out."

Chris Bolac ready to take his chevy to the levy.

It's Mr. Tubs-awesome piece of machinery and everyone knows it.

"Not Just For Kids"

I don't make house calls.

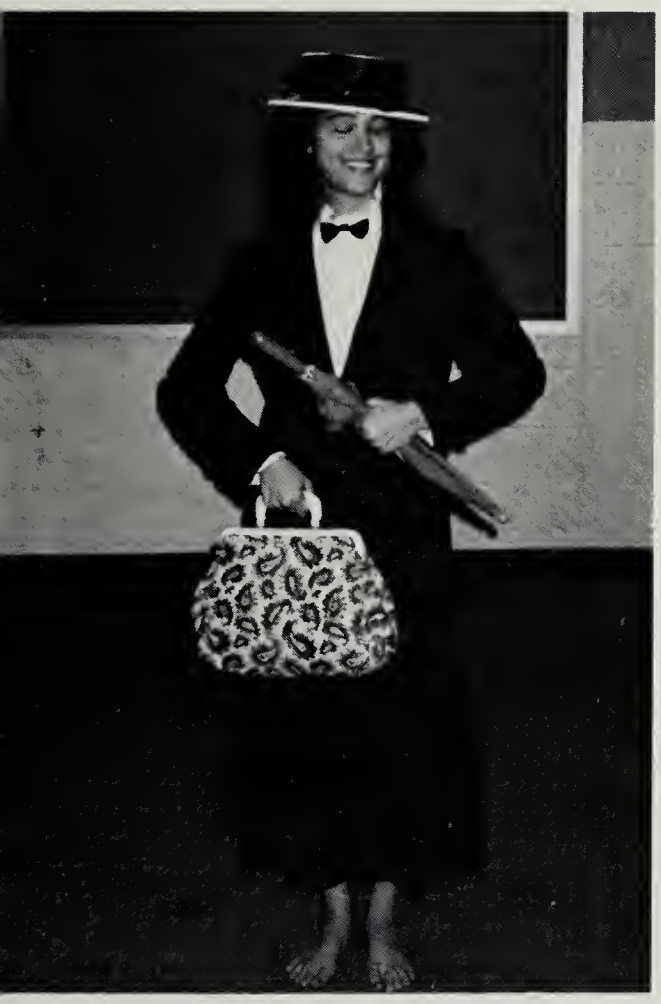

Eric Davis daydreaming about his upcoming performance.

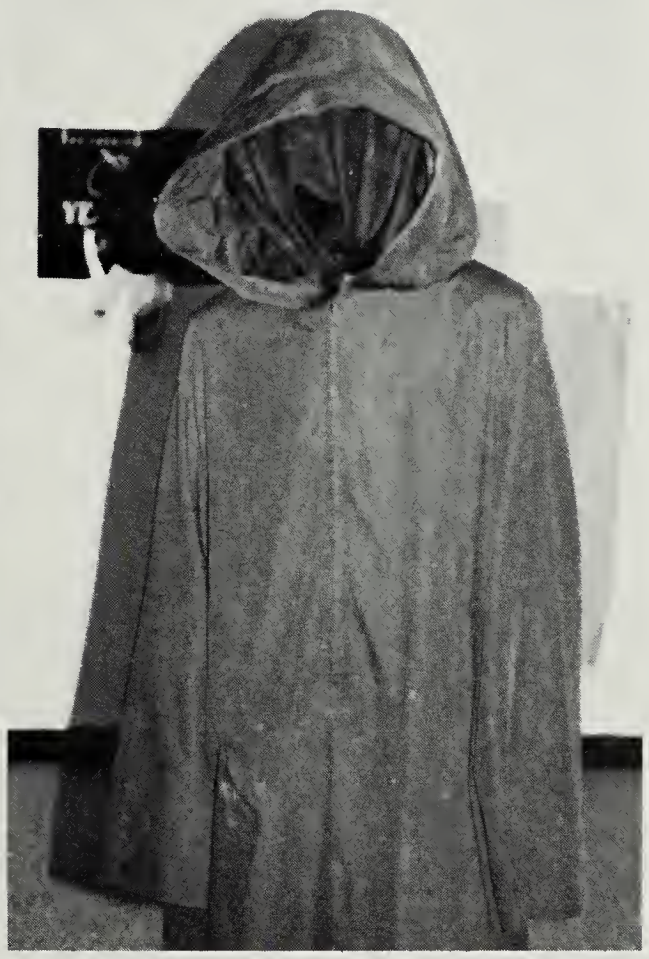

Farmer Edwards and Grandma Gibson typify the goodness of America.

Miss Turner obviously hasn't had her second cup of coffee. She's still suffering from the "black plague."

Will the real Coach Labozetta please stand up? Tim Fitzwater and John Heller really cracked the coach up with this stunt.

Halloween is not just another ordinary day for Gar-Field High School. It's a day when a person can be anything he or she wants to be. On October 31, the student body as well as the faculty did just that and as you can see, they were able to use their imagination to the outermost limits.

Halloween is not just a holiday for kids, it's a celebration for everyone. In fact, it is a treat for everyone, with a few tricks here and there.

Pee Wee Herman, meet your match-Steve Marsh.

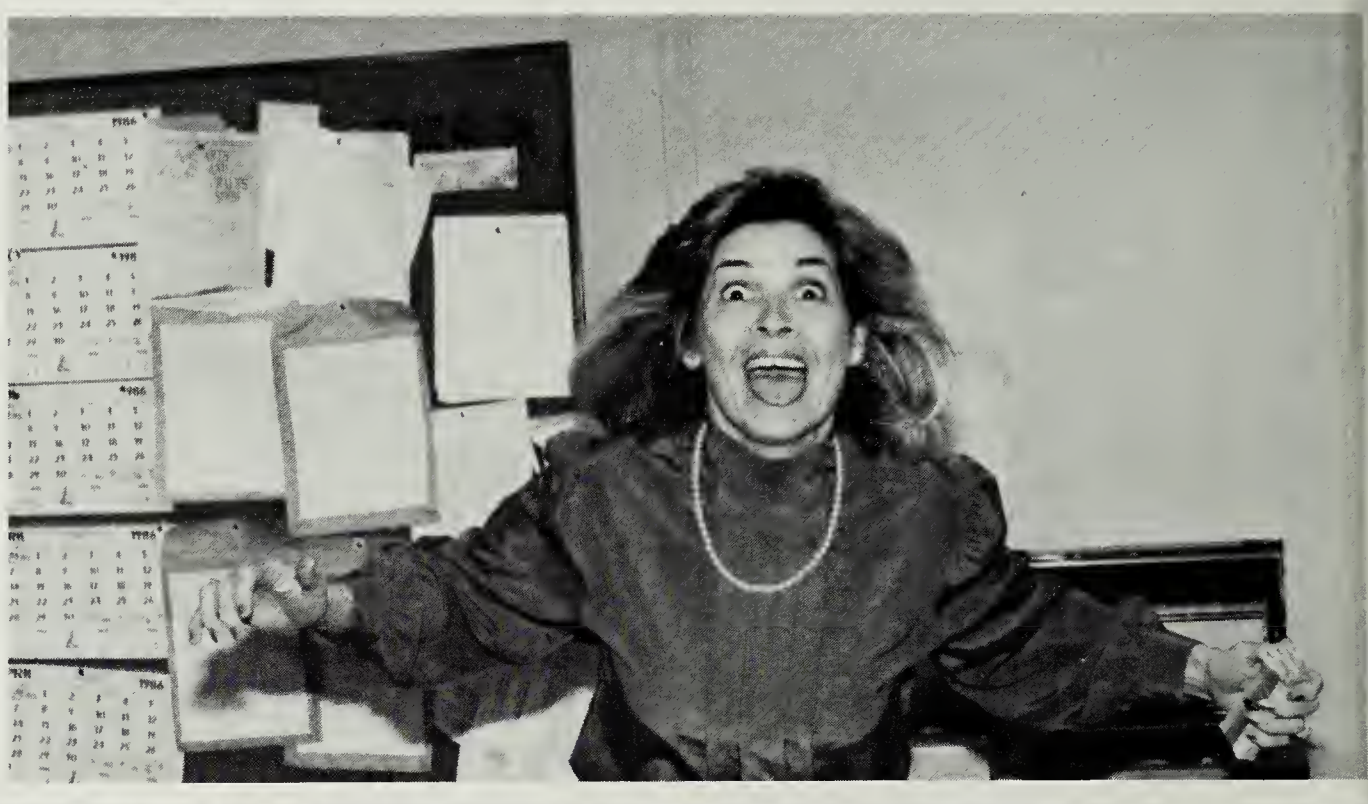

Marilyn Poppins landing on her own two feet.

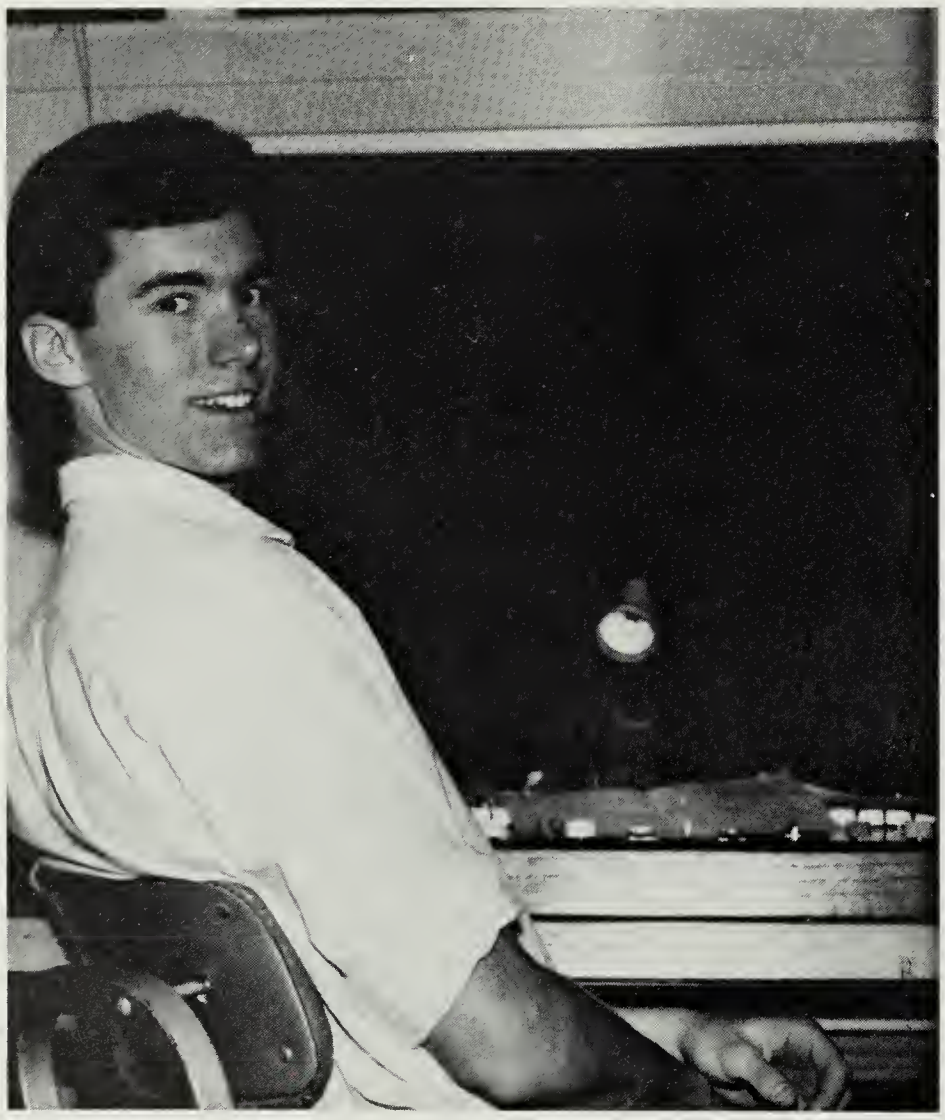

Who is that masked man?

"Here's Lookin'

Expressing one's self is only natural. Whether it be by body language, certain looks, or something someone says. These are all different forms of communication. In fact, there are so many different forms of communication, that communication is always changing. This past year, a lot of expressions were shared by many students. These expressions became known as "Gar-Field's English." Here are some examples:
Stop the Madness = calm down
Straight Up = be truthful
That's the Ticket = that's right
Bumpin' = everything's fine
Cool = alright
Bad = awesome
What's Up = how are you

Mrs. Combs- "No coffee! Don't you know I can't funtion without my morning coffee."

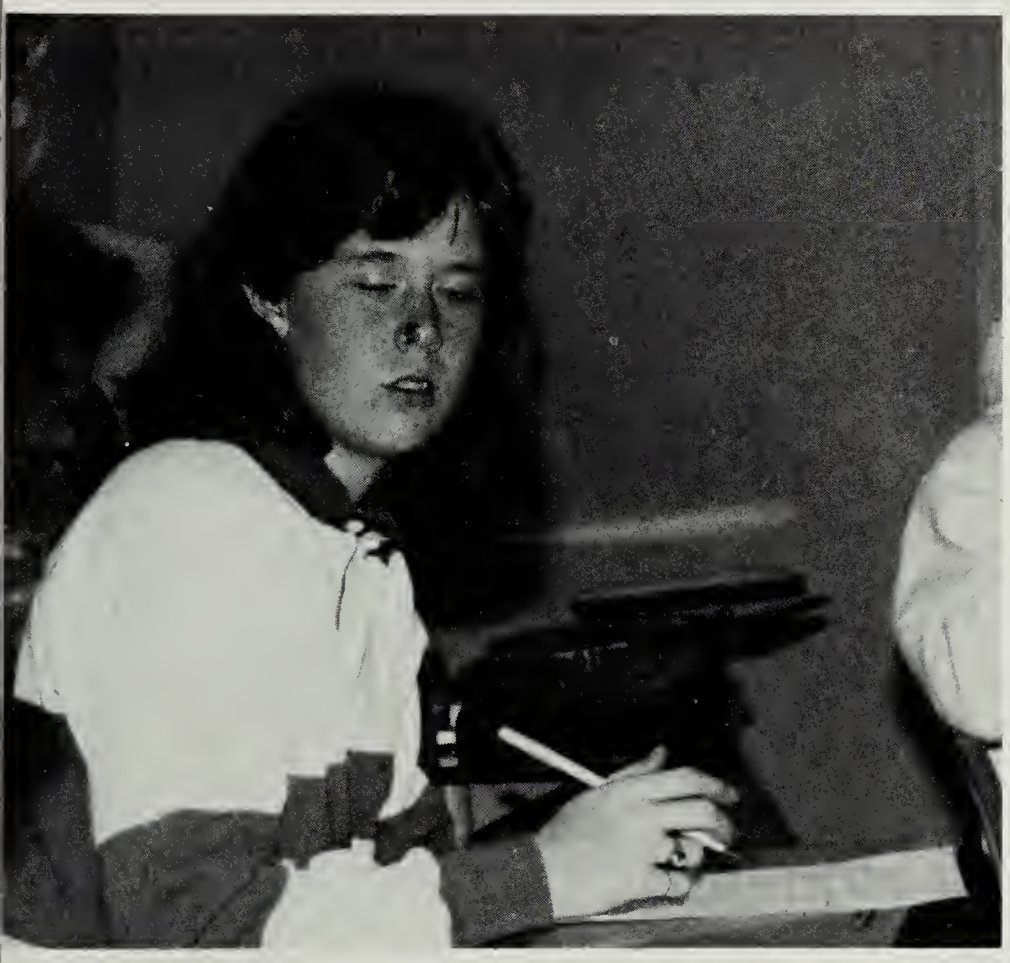

Bryan Feeney's dry idea: "There are 3 nevers in high school: Never come to class unprepared, never underestimate the power of a principal, and never, no matter how much of the research paper your dog ate, let a teacher see you sweat."

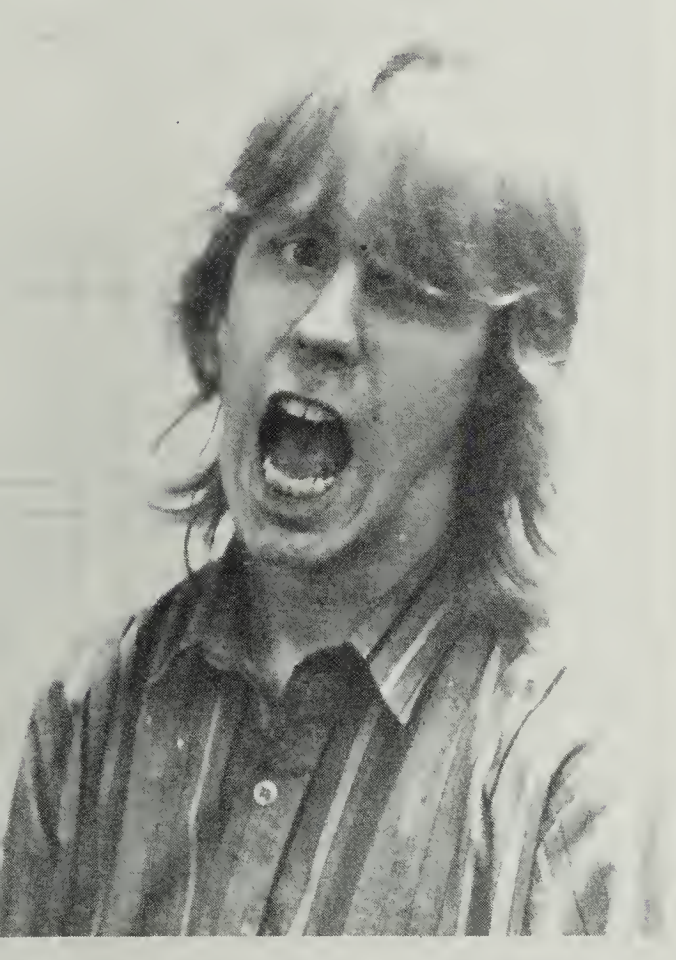

Kim Morello- "I've got a headache that has Excedrin written all over it."

At You Kid''

Karen Richards - "Wake me up when it's time for the weekend."

David Hall-"I hate Mondays!"

Kenny Goulet- "What do you mean we don't graduate until June 16th?"

Scott Throckmorton a.k.a. Mr. Bond-"WOMEN! You can't live with them, you can't live without them."

"The Stars Of Tomorrow

On Friday, March 21, 1986, the house lights dimmed, the spot lights shone on stage, and the stars came out to shine.

Sophomore, LeShaun Morgan said, "I wanted to see the talent Gar-Field has." And talent she saw as Clarence "Bam" Wright danced with style and pizazz that would frighten Michael Jackson right out of his sequined socks.

51/50 rocked the stage with their band and drove fans wild. While E.A.U.H. (Exceptionally Attractive Uninhibited Honies) told about the "Kinda Guys They Like" in steady beat.

But whether you danced, sang, or just observed from your seat, the Junior Variety Show was an event you could never repeat.

"Let's Hear It For

It's 7:50 a.m. and another school day has begun. It's time to struggle through English, parlez through French, figure out quadratic equations, and sit through study hall. Lunch and tardies go practically hand-in-hand. Then-blessed relief! It's 1:55 p.m. and the final bell rings. Hundreds of students head for buses and cars to go home and end the day. For others, however, the day is just beginning. Usually a day of four or more hours. A day of minimum wage or, if they're hard workers, a little more. Gar-Field: Meet your working class!

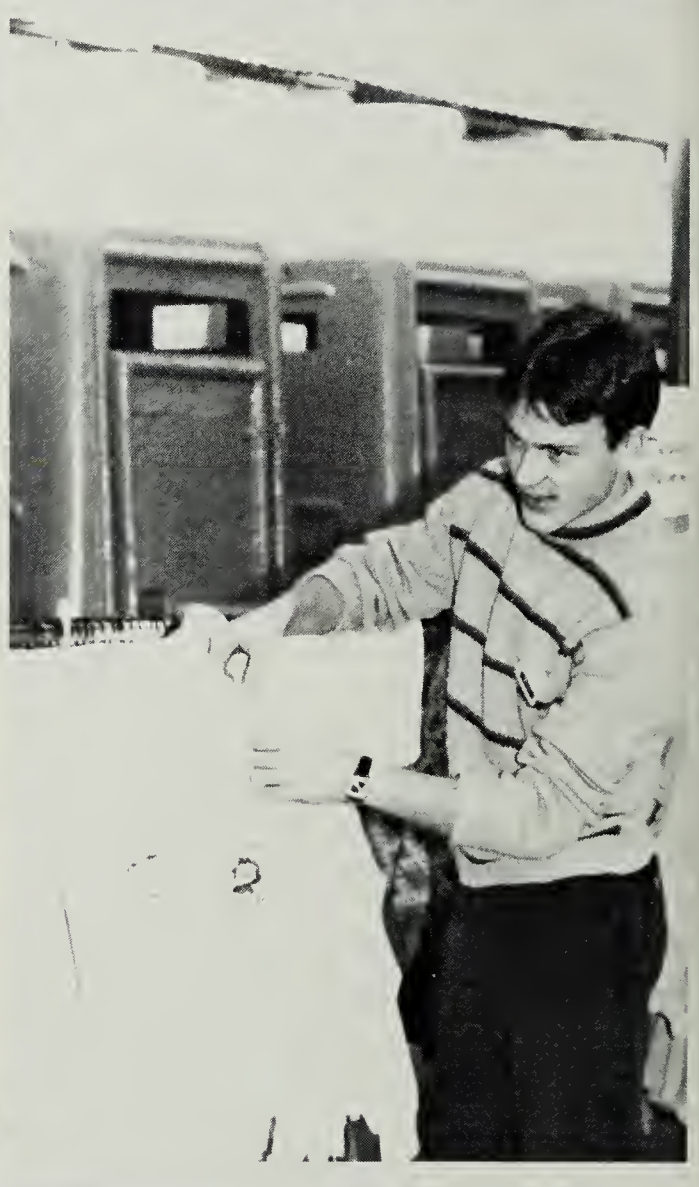

Kelly Hoff and Joey Crespo help the "Nike" tradition live on.

Ne Ne Thompson you deserve a break TODAY!

Haven't you ever wondered what your teachers were like before they became what they are today? Well, we found some of the various occupations that got them started. Here they are:

Mr. Clark: Farmer
Ms. Watts: Picked & packed peaches
Mr. Sherill: Furniture store
Ms. Combs: Worked in a junkyard
Mr. Greer: Grave-digger
Mr. Roadcap: Worked in a cemetary
Mr. Aleo: Fought forest fires
Mr. Larson: Built missiles
Mr. Wilson: Camp counselor
Mr. V.: Worked in a donut shop

And helped us overcome our fears
For every time you held our hand
When we were confused & didn't understand.

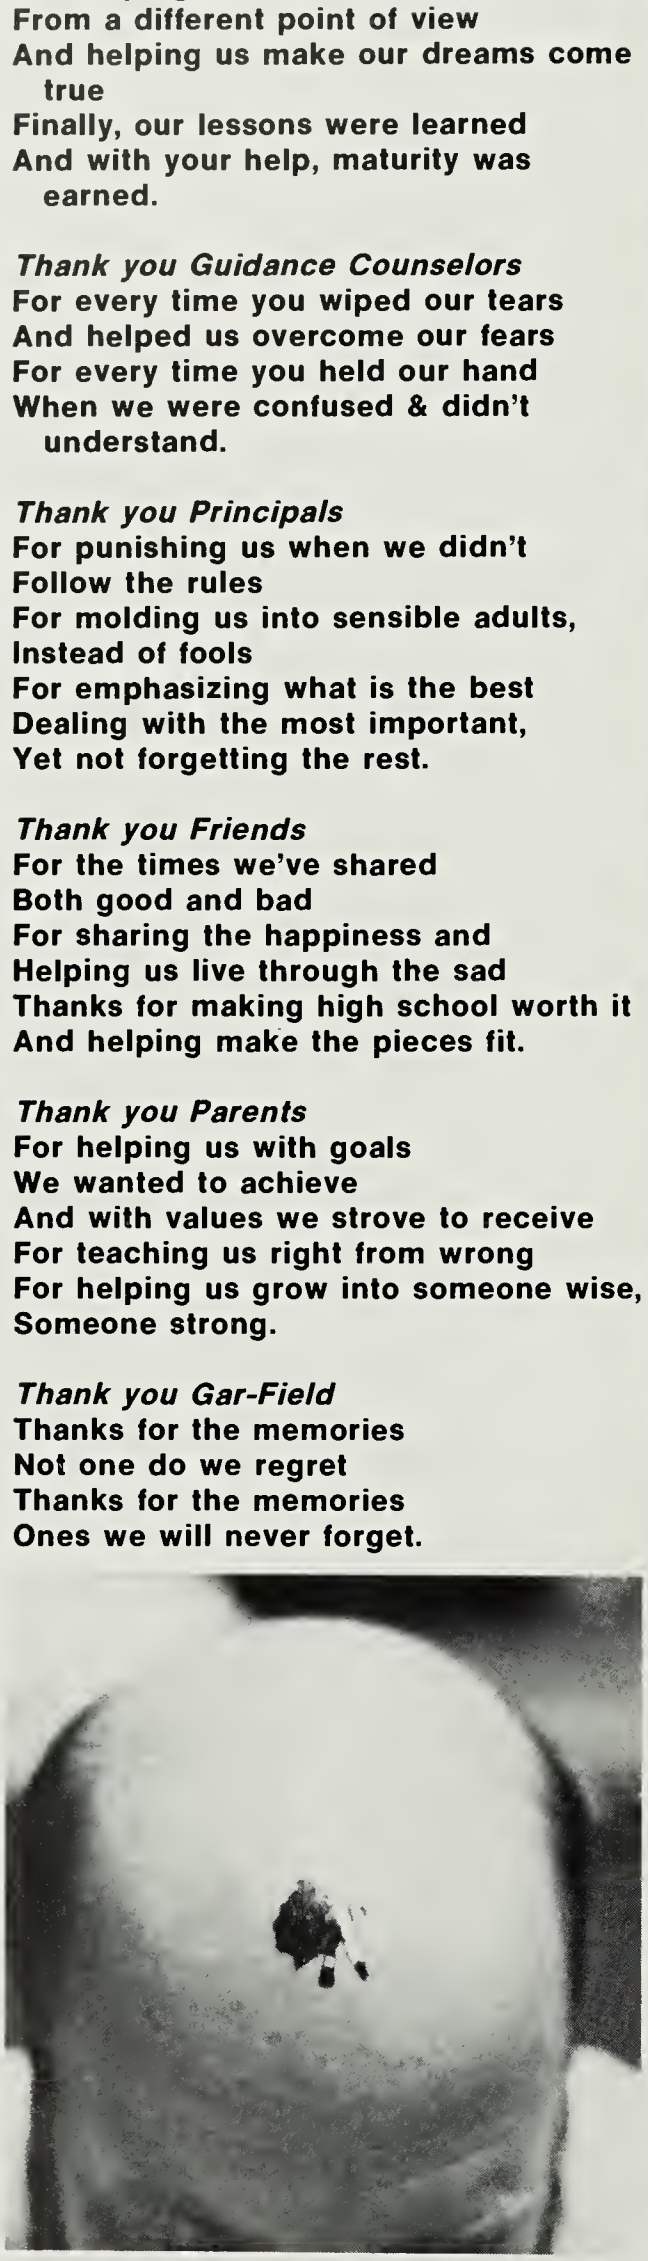

Thank you Principals
For punishing us when we didn't
Follow the rules
For molding us into sensible adults,
Instead of fools
For emphasizing what is the best
Dealing with the most important,
Yet not forgetting the rest.

Thank you Friends
For the times we've shared
Both good and bad
For sharing the happiness and
Helping us live through the sad
Thanks for making high school worth it
And helping make the pieces fit.

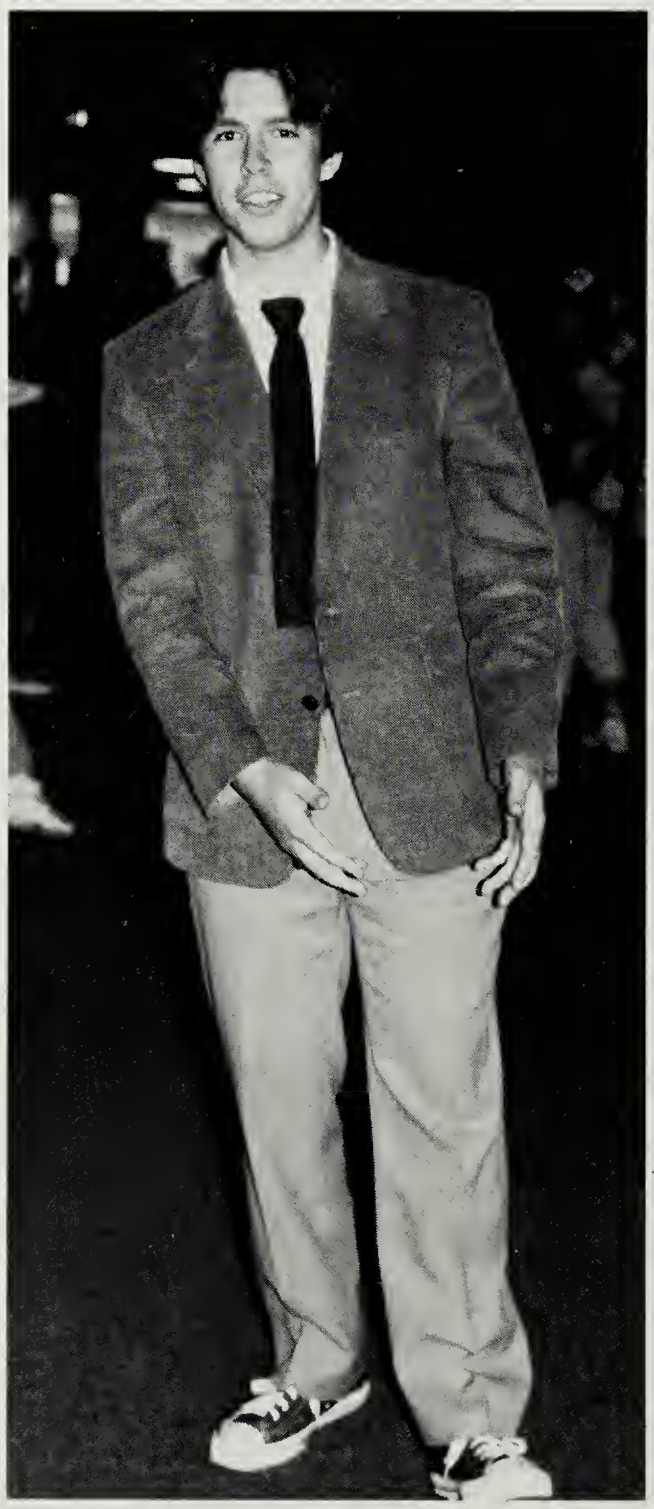

Thank you Parents
For helping us with goals
We wanted to achieve
And with values we strove to receive
For teaching us right from wrong
For helping us grow into someone wise,
Someone strong.

WE'RE MAKING THE GRADE FOR ...

HIGHER EDUCATION

"I heard you received an Academic Letter." "How did you do that Mary?" "Alot of hard work and studying."

For many years recognition for school achievement was limited to athletics or elective courses such as music, art and other outside activities. Now with the progression of a new society, outstanding students are commended for their hard work and efforts in the classroom.

Academic letters were received by almost 200 students this year and their was an increase in National Honor Society membership.

These students are expanding their horizons and making our school one of the best in the district.

Free To Be Me

Art is not a class that should be taken for an easy "A". It is a class in which a student can show his or her artistic abilities and talents.

There are four different levels of art. These levels are not different classes, yet most people seem to think that they are. The fact is that each level is mixed into a class. When given an assignment, each level is slightly different. For example, if a drawing assignment is given, the lower levels' picture is usually simpler and done in pencil, while the higher levels' picture will be more complex and may be done in pen and ink.

In order for an art class to be successful, you must first have an art lab. The lab is stocked with many supplies so whatever the students are working on, whether it be drawing, printmaking, ceramics, fashion design, sculpture or batiquing, the necessary materials are available.

Just Minding Our Own Business!

The clickty, click, click of a typewriter, the whir of a copy machine are all familiar sounds of the Business Department.

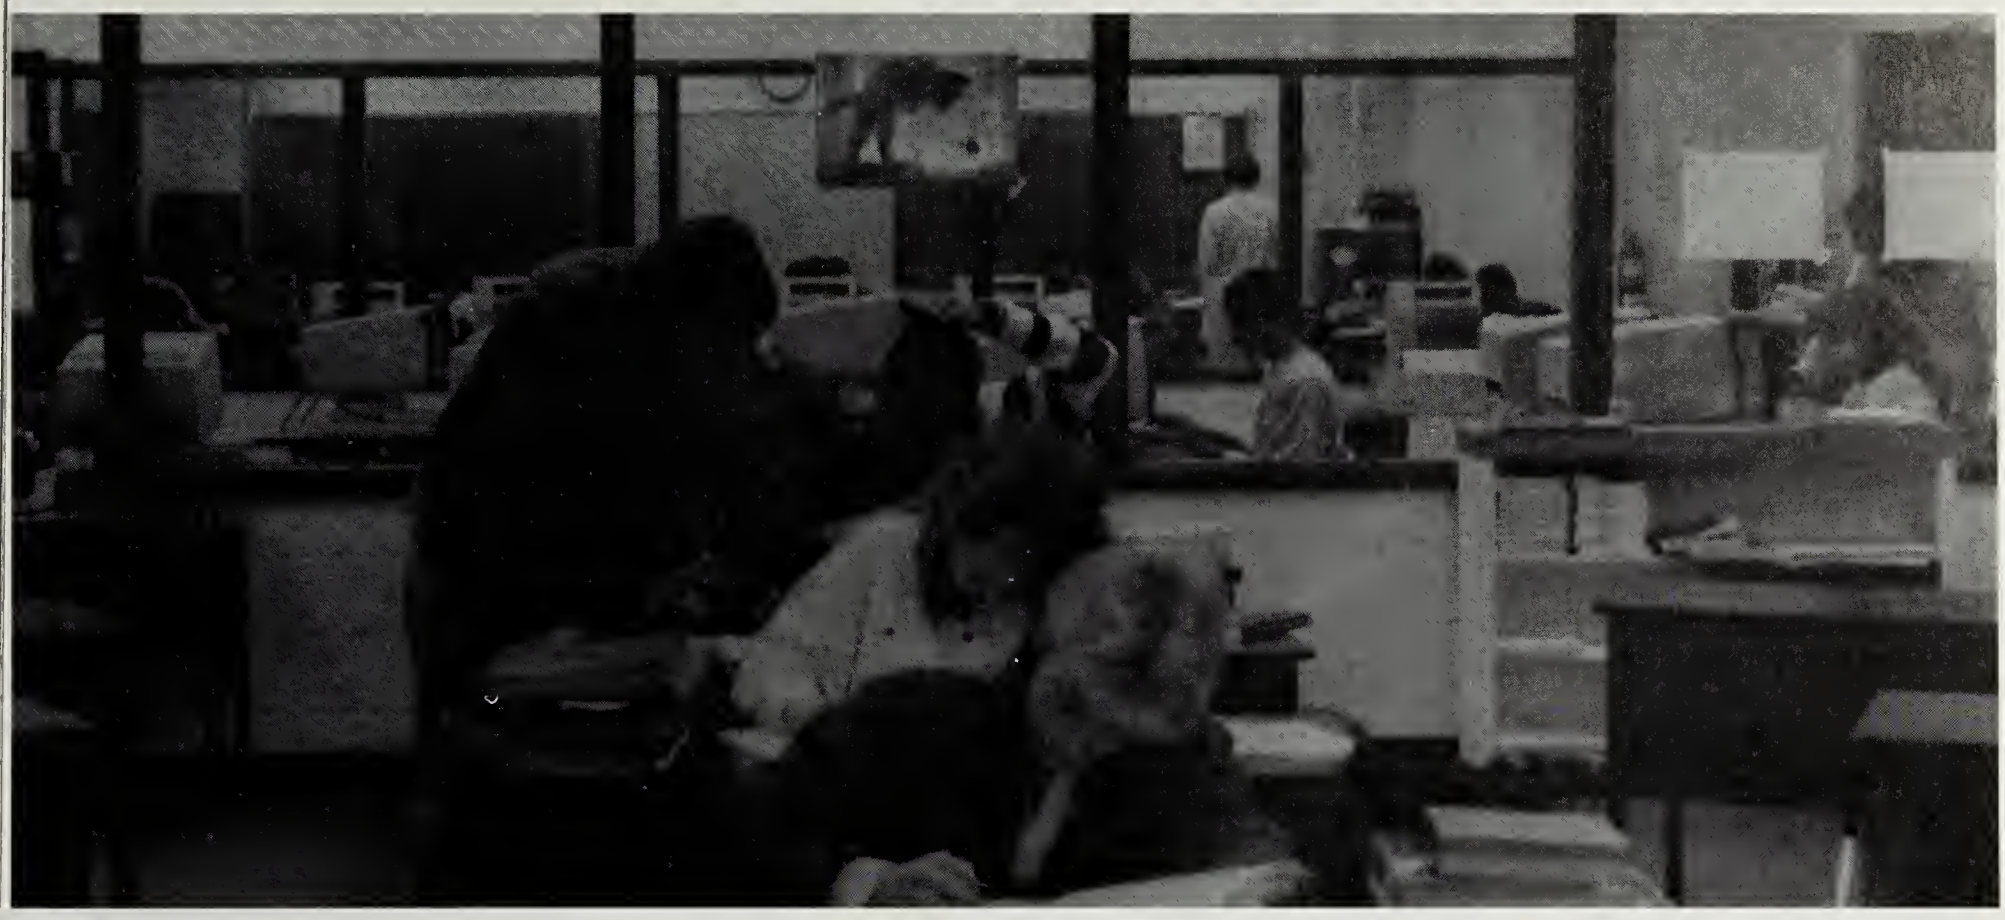

If you've ever wondered how secretaries who write your passes for early dismissals or tardies learned speedy shorthand or how data processors got their start, it was probably right downstairs in the Business Department.

Upperclassmen can take "Business, Law and Administration" while freshman receive " An Introduction to Business" class. The classes are benefical because they teach the basics of good secretarial, business and office skills. "The classes are not only interesting," says Sheila Bowen, "but I'm learning skills I'll always be able to use."

Substitute Mr. Banks says "This place is better than the Computer Learning Center."

Afra Hersi and Peggy Thompson are quickly becoming our future secretaries.

Industrial Cooperative Training also known as ICT is offered to students who are interested in trade, industrial, technical or health occupations. ICT is a great way to earn a credit, make money and leave school early all at the same time. Students can leave school to work at a job which will prepare them for a future in an industrial field.

During school, students learn how to be productive workers and prepare for employment opportunities. Teachers often visit student work places to observe and to better understand the workplace in order to apply it to a students' studies. Many jobs and careers are open to ICT students giving them a head start on tomorrows career openings.

It All Adds Up...

. . . SOMEHOW

For the majority of students, math is definitely a four-letter word. With the exception of an elite group who seem to enjoy math, it is usually a subject that is much dreaded during the day.

What math subject is considered the hardest by students and teachers alike? Geometry! Why? Mrs. Centola, the head of the Math Department states, "It is a drastic change from Algebra. This is the first place where logic is studied."

Unfortunately, geometry is not the only subject that students find difficult. It seems that you either like algebra and hate geometry, or you like geometry and hate algebra.

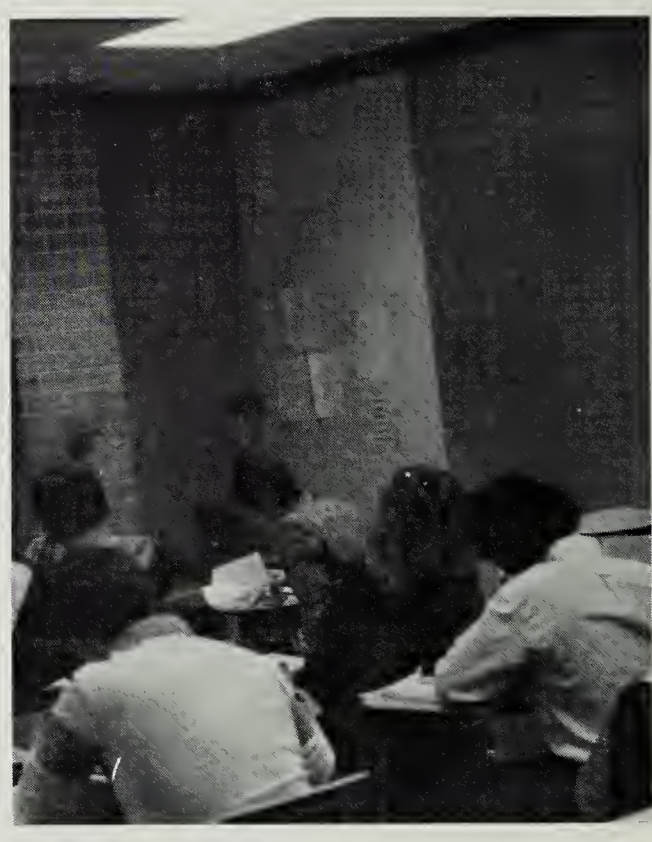

What comes after the years of algebra and geometry? Math Analysis and calculus. Nice, but why take these classes?

Sheila Cephas, a junior taking Math Analysis, says that math is not one of her favorite subjects, but she is taking the class "so that I won't have to take it in college. If I score well enough on the A.P. exam, it's one class out of the way in college."

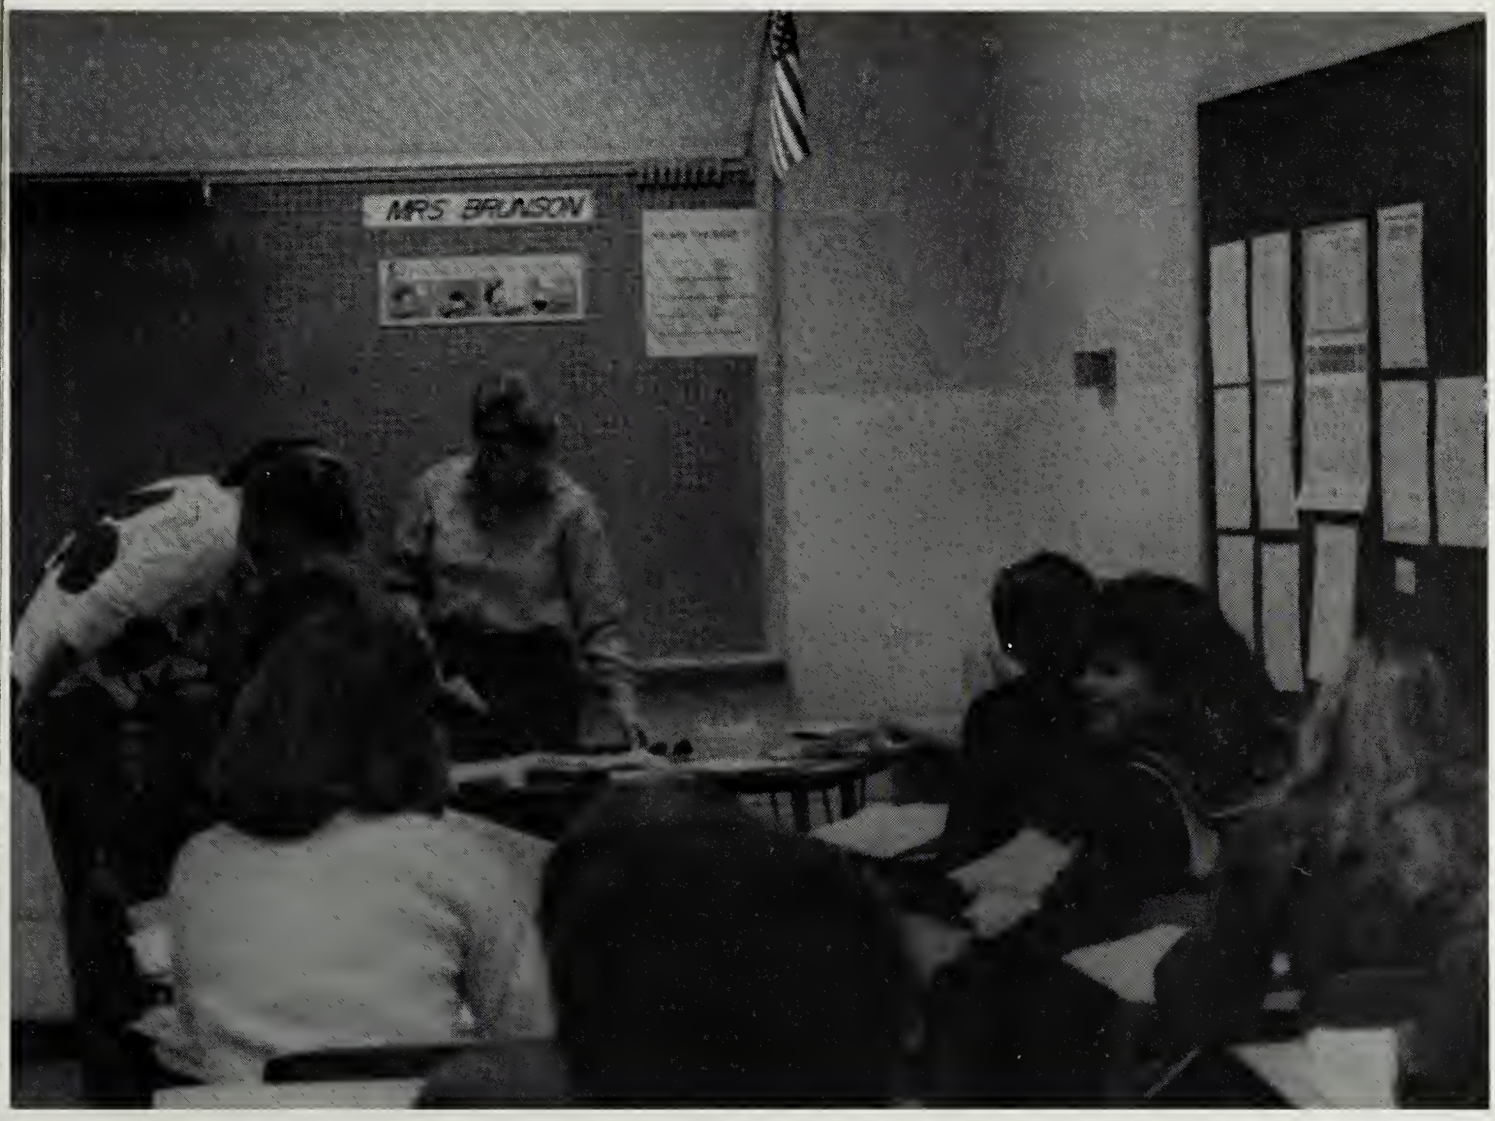

This is fine and dandy, but it doesn't help anyone who doesn't have a talent in math. Mrs. Centola has some suggestions for you: take notes, pay attention in class, attempt every homework problem, and ASK QUESTIONS.

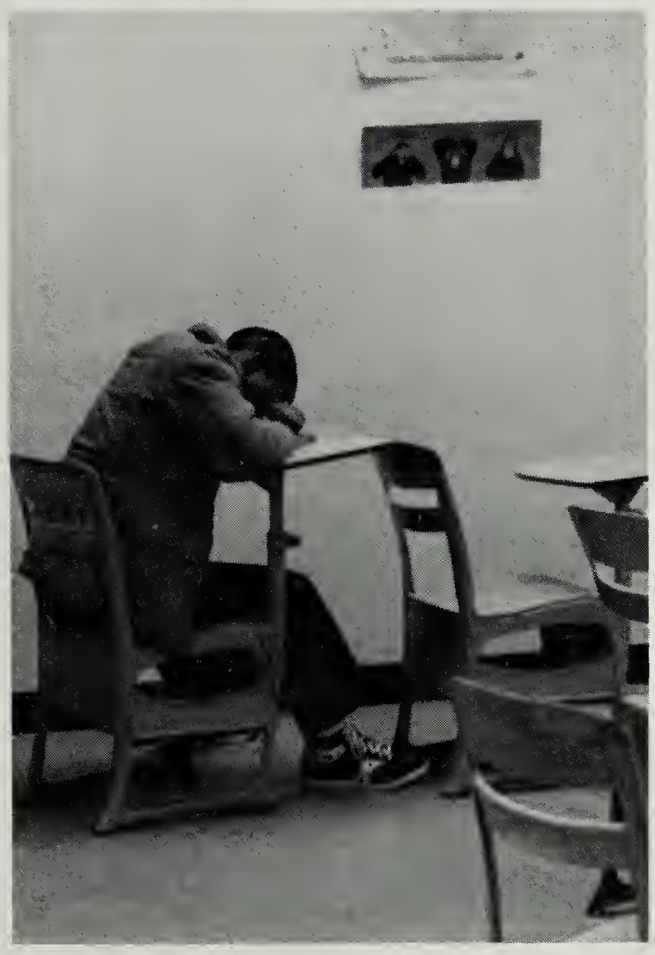

This probably doesn't make sense now, but it will all fall into place later.

Despite Mrs. Dangerfield's warm welcome, Joe Portell finds it difficult to get excited about Algebra II.

Shelley Birchmier checks on the progress of another student while Matt Cosand works diligently on his own.

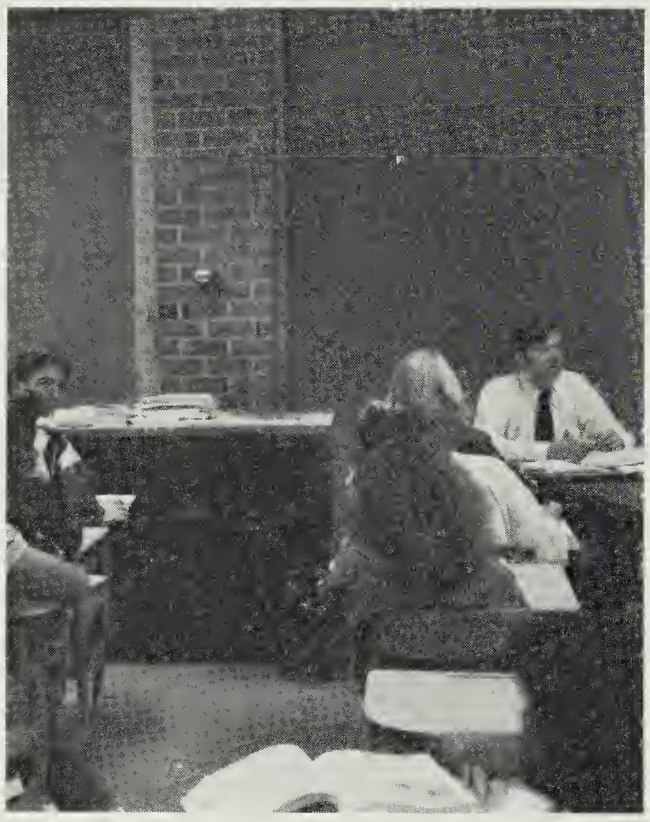

Randy Hayes checks with Mrs. Brunson to make sure that his average is stable.

Evidently having math first period is a bit too much for Charles Brittingham.

We'll Go Down In History!

Why are students doing poorly in the higher level classes? Many teachers feel that the reason is because students are not well prepared in advance. The History Department is trying to implement tighter restrictions on advances courses such as A.P. History. According to Mr. Bailey, head of the History Department, the majority of the student body finds history interesting but unfortunately many of them fail to understand it. He states that "many students enjoy the interesting stories about historical events and people but they don't like the concepts, and the concepts are what is important." He states further that "History is important because what we are as a people and as a nation is a result of what we were. We have to know what we were in order to know what we can be."

Obviously Billy Wise is more interested in posing for this photographer than he is in listening to Mr. Sawyer.

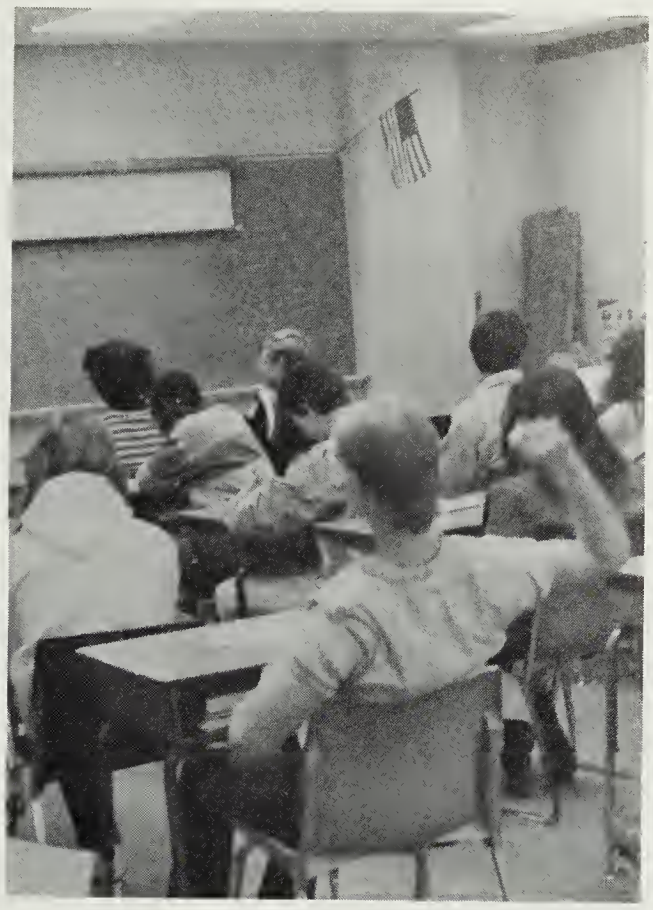

Evidently Susan Ness finds the Civil War humorous although Gene Nopwasky, Jenny Newell, and Chris Feather take this period of American history quite seriously.

Chris Euler speaks on the negative aspects of the Civil War as his classmates listen to his case.

Shane Smith are you sure you want to answer that question?

Academic excellence is achieved by paying attention in class.

Jonathan Bennett and Mike Ferguson are all smiles because they were the only ones in Mr. Spencer's class that knew the answer to the question.

Spring is the time when love is in the air and marriage proposals are abundant. Boy asks girl, girl says YES, and all the preparations are begun for a wedding.

Weddings also happen in the Social Studies Department with Mr. Aleo's and Mr. O'Shea's mock sociology wedding. The students research proper etiquette, proceeds, and fashion for their weddings.

They perform in all the essential roles needed i.e. brides and grooms, best men and maids of honor, bridesmaids and ushers, musicians, and last but not least "the ministers." The vows, music performed, and reception decor are all arranged by the students. "We do this so that the students understand what they will be getting into when they get older," says Mr. O'Shea.

Molecular Matters

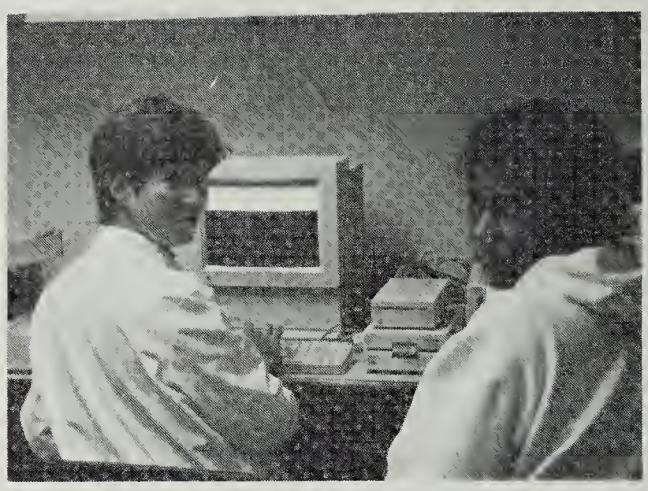

Dissecting animals, bubbling (and breaking) test tubes, and working with velocity-related problems are probably the things most related with science in a students' mind. Of course the teachers hope that you get more out of the class than just the experience of the lab, but most teachers feel that the labs are important. But that's not all that goes on back there.

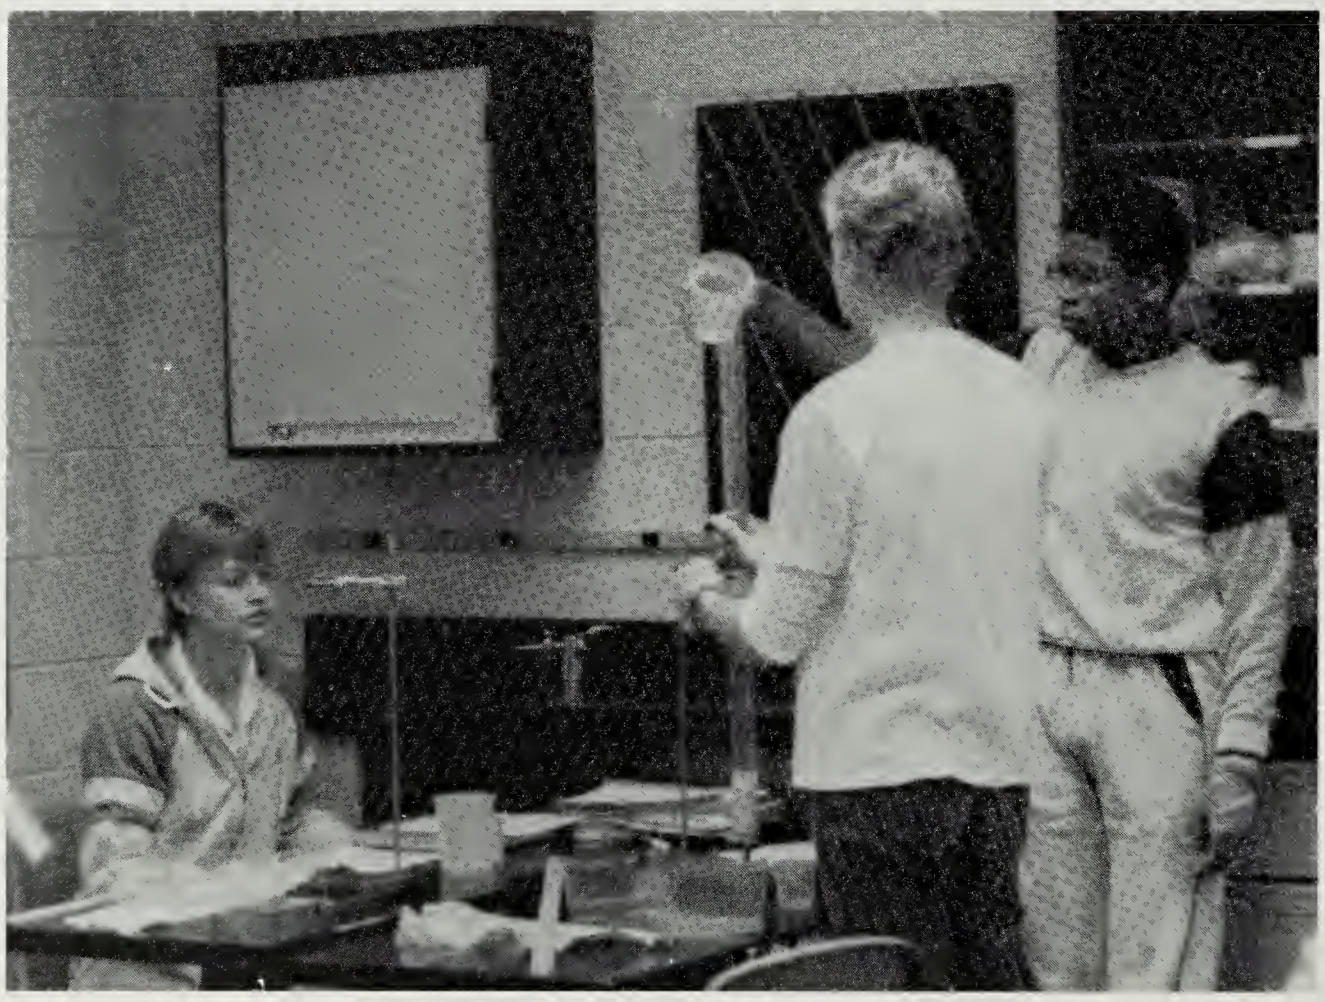

There are high-hopes in the Science pod that a computer room will be built in the near future. As Mrs. Hamill, head of the department states, "We need room for our computers!" The science teachers use the compputers for labs, tests, and some use them to average grades. If a computer room were to be added, it would be a great convenience to all.

So, what do the science teachers have in store for us? As Mrs. Hamill says, "I hope all our science students learn to see the wonder and beauty in the physical world around them--to really appreciate and enjoy scientific things."

LaWanda Benefield points out the chemistry between M&M's and school work.

Robbie Hayward, Michael Stafira, and Kevin Woodfolk test the poursity and permability of plastic beads.

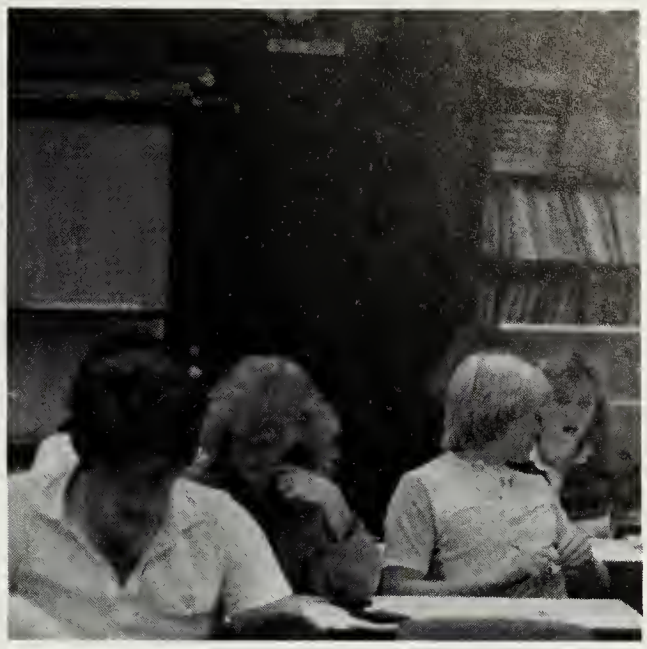

Keeping the science department inventory on computer is a time consuming job according to Sheila Cephas and Ms. Hammill.

No Strings Attached, Right?

Walking by the band room fourth or fifth period, you will hear various selections of music. The Chamber Orchestra, which is held fourth period plays the most difficult pieces, grade six. Fifth period, the Gar-Field Orchestra, basically plays grade four and five pieces. This year they played a wide range of music, from "Over The Rainbow" to the Missa Brevis with the Concert Choir.

After playing with the Concert Choir for their annual Christmas Concert for the second year in a row, Mr. Trowbridge, the Orchestra Director, feels that this new tradition will continue. "It's a lot of fun to play with the choir, and it's great to hear the two groups play together."

Besides their school concerts, the orchestra members can participate in various outside competitions. Junior Regionals is open to freshmen throughout Prince William County and neighboring counties. Senior Regionals is for sophomores and up, All County is for freshmen on up, and to be qualified for All State, a student must have been chosen for Senior Regionals.

It is an honor to be chosen for any of these orchestras. The following people should be commended for making All County Orchestra: First Violin -- Jenny Newell, Gretchen Ennett, Heather Austin, Laura Winslow, Beth Jakub, Osie Brown, JoAnn Sayko, Sandy Ennett, Angela Mason, Heather Presnell, Arwen Wyatt, and alternate Terry Opauski. Second Violin -- Wendy Richmond, Audra Wilson, Beth Sunderland, Patricia Richards, Sunday Frey, Jenny Jordan, and alternate Steve Hides. Viola -- Kim Richmond, Marilyn Pugh, Lysette Heaton, Samaria Joyner, Chad Hartmann, and alternates Maggie O'Donnell, Ralph Warren, and Rochelle Taylor. Cello -- Earle Perez, Gudrun Ortman, Connie Wise, Stephanie Pile, Mike Chenderian, Allen Wilson, Nancy Figueroa, and alternate Lisa Moore. Bass -- Sean Masciandaro, Cecil Conley, Mike Smith, and Alternates Bryan Miller and John Mann.

Gretchen Ennett, Arwen Wyatt, Angela Mason, and Nancy Jordan of the Chamber Orchestra work hard on their new piece.

Jenny Newell, Deanna Rohrig, Wendy Richmond, and Audrea Wilson of the Chamber Orchestra practice for the next concert.

First chair viola in both orchestras, Kim Richmond and Chad Hartmann take the viola seriously.

The Dominants spend a great deal of time rehearsing to make their performance perfect.

At The Top Of Our Lungs

Another section of the music department is choir. There are four choirs in which students may participate: Varsity Choir, Treble Choir, Concert Choir, and Dominants.

In order to get into any of the choirs, one must audition for a seat. You sing a piece of your choice, a scale, and sight-sing.

In class, the choirs sing a wide range of music. Every style possible is sung; this includes renaissance, baroque, classical, romantic, and contemporary. All of this singing leads to four concerts a year. The choirs perform at Christmas Concert, District Festival Concert, Spring Show, and a Pyramid Concert in which the elementary and middle schools sing with our choirs.

The Dominants is not just a choir, they are a jazz and show choir and they aim to entertain people. They perform about fifteen concerts a year, performing for various organizations.

During the school year the choral students can audition for select choirs. This year the following people were selected for the following choirs:

Regional Choir

Soprano I: Rayanne Gonzales,Delinda Culbreth, Jennifer Lee, Nancy Figuero, and alternate Rexanne Wright. Soprano II: Susan Straight, Jeanine Valvo and Terri Truitt. Alto I: Kathy Henson. Alto II: Mary McKelvey, Tina Polla, Rhonda Thomas, Emily Simmons, and Carla Tomasino. Tenor I: Daniel Ackerman, Rick Ewing, and alternate Mila Diaz and Brent Good. Tenor II: Ruben Basantes and Dennis O'Brien. Bass I: Jimmy Curlis and Leonard Rowe. Bass II: Ali Kerem, Jeff Bowers and Wayne Conahan.

Jeff Merrifield appears to be writing the computer story for the HYPHEN, but what is he really up to?

So you buy the HYPHEN again, one of six issues a year. Big deal! Did you know that it is an award-winning publication? The HYPHEN has won Trophy Class which is the highest award given by the Virginia High School League Publications Division, and International First Place from Quill and Scroll since 1982.

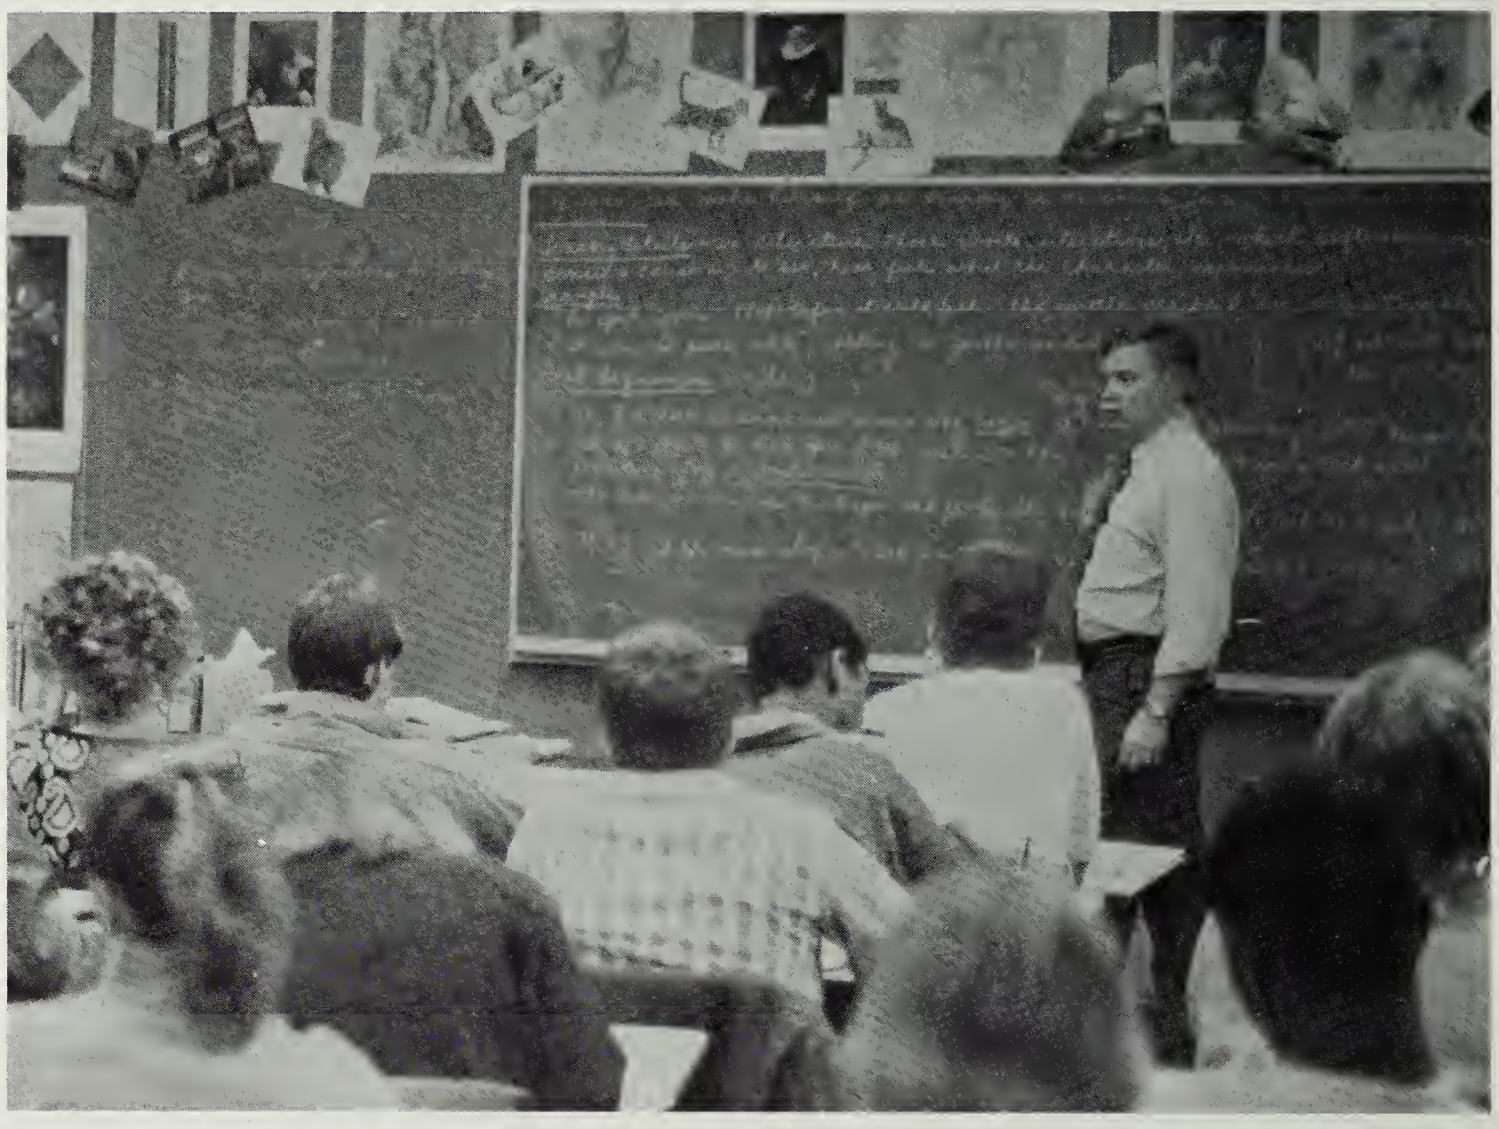

The HYPHEN staff meets one class period a day, and they get one credit for the year. To get on the staff one must take Journalism I. The following year, one may take Journalism II and be on the HYPHEN staff.

Every spring the journalism classes go to Columbia University for a three-day workshop. Ms. Winner, the HYPHEN advisor, feels that "without the workshop, we would not be able to put out the quality publication that we do."

Cool Class-ics

Kim Toth and Sean Lewis work hard to keep up with Mr. Edwards.

Mr. Corbin shows his class the proper way to critique a novel.

Have you ever found yourself so involved in a novel that you just forget everything and lose total self-consciousness. You do not remember where you are, who you are, or what you are doing. Once minute you find yourself on a deserted island with the love of your life; the next minute the world is depending on you to save them from a monster who only you have the power to destroy; and then, before you know it, you will have witnessed a murder and it is up to you to prove who did it without getting killed first. For that short amount of time you just might be living out your fantasy; being where you have always wanted to be, being who you have always wanted to be, and doing what you have always wanted to do. Could this have possibly been what Ms. Combs, head of the English Department, was talking about when she said, "I would have to say that reading fiction is what students enjoy most about English."

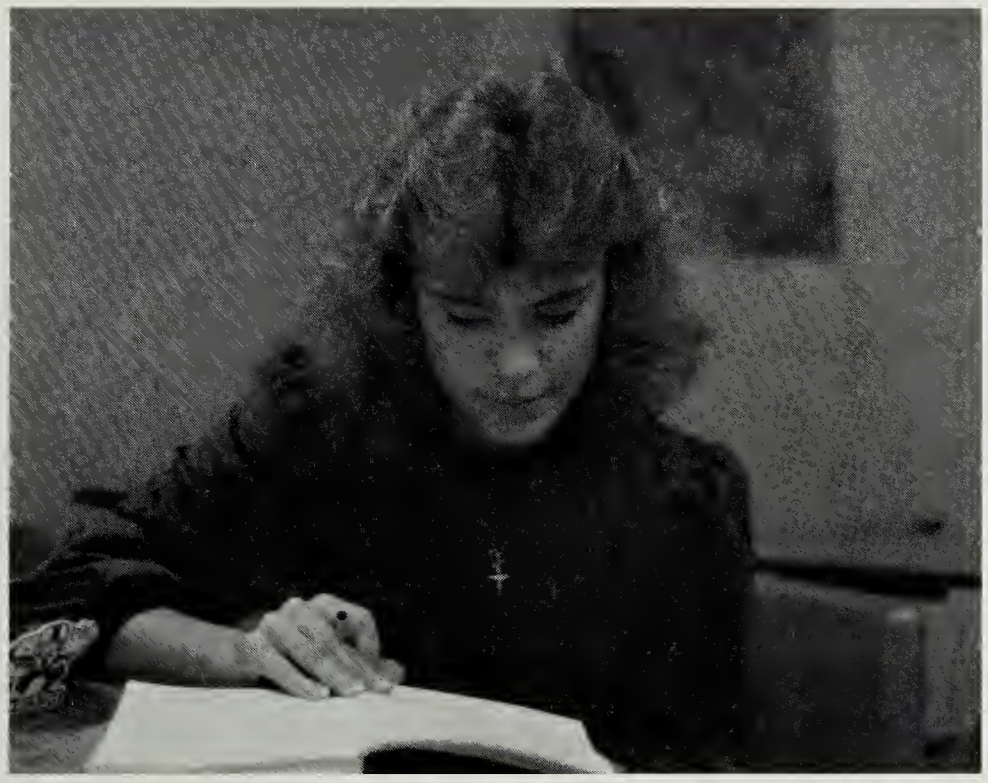

Yet, let us not forget what the students like least about English. What are the majority of students weakest points when it comes to English? Ms. Combs quickly replied, "Grammar!" The structure of sentences, the usage of words, the difference between an adjective and an adverb, elements every student dreads and the same elements every student must try to understand and master.

A new English course was added to the curriculum this year, Speech & Drama. It was up to Mrs. Martin to teach several groups of students to speak as well as present themselves with confidence.

As one should already know, English is a four-year requirement for graduation and therefore is considered a very important academic course. But why is English so important? Ms. Combs stated that "English is more than just a language, it's a culture. Therefore, to deny someone his language would be denying someone his culture."

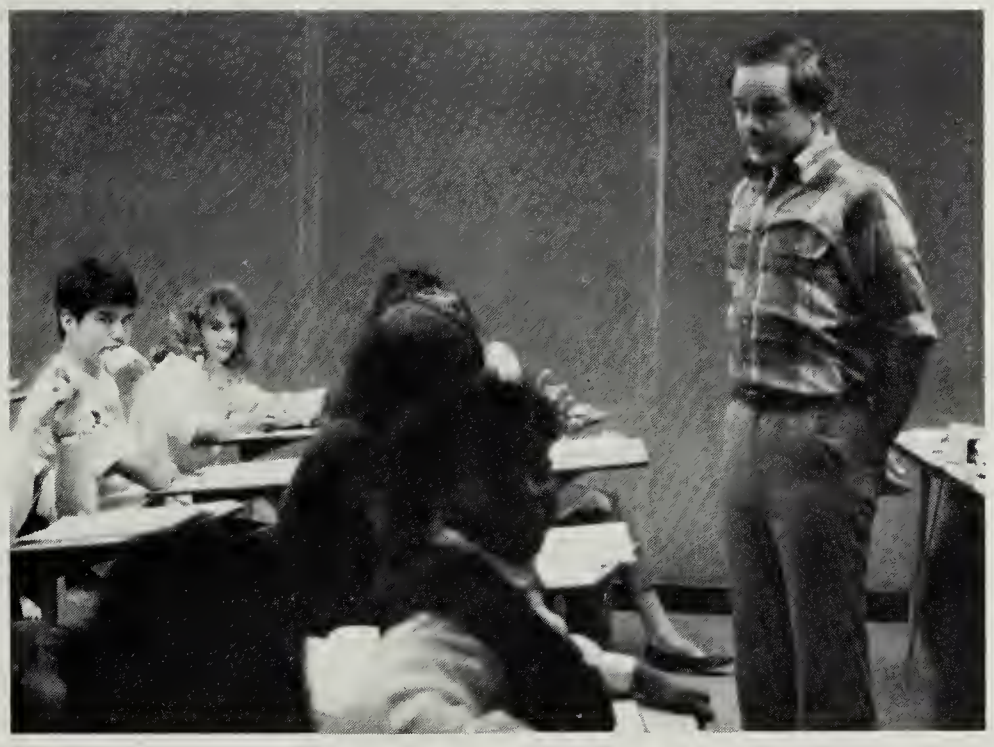

Mrs. Martin really gets into Myrtle Wilson's murder in the Great Gatsby.

When it comes to answering questions about bibliography formats for research papers, Mrs. Harris' students always have the answers.

Brian Singleton and April Lewis are always giving Mr. Edwards a hard time.

We're Not Just Play Acting!

What's new in the English Department? Speech & Drama! We have been trying for a number of years to get this course in our curriculum offerings and have finally succeeded. This course is not a part of the Drama Club or the Speech & Debate Club.

What goes on in Speech & Drama? Students learn to develop and orally deliver 3, 5, and 8 minute speeches, practice techniques for debating, participate in drama activities, and learn the elements of good conversation.

This may seem like a lot of work, but Mrs. Martin, the Speech & Drama teacher, disagrees. She feels that the students benefit because it's never boring. They spend 50% of their time in motion instead of sitting in a desk.

Student response to this new course can be summed up be Terry Thompson when she says "I wish there were a Speech & Drama II course!"

Kim Rhorer looks a bit worried as Mrs. Martin calls on her to give an impromptu speech NOW!

Tonya Walker is learning to be confident and poised when giving a speech. This is only the 10th speech she has given this year! You know what they say Tonya "practice makes perfect."

Jay Baker sits lost in a train of thought as Tracie Johnson catches up on the Great Gatsby.

When you combine the number of years Ms. Jandreau, Ms. Harris, Ms. Pannell, Ms. Combs, and Mr. Lawrence have been teaching English it calculates up to over 100 years!

Kim Rhorer delivers her impromptu speech for Mrs. Martin. It wasn't that bad, was it Kim?

All Tongue-Tied

Various foreign languages are offered to the student body. The one classical language which is offered is Latin, and the three modern languages offered are German, French, and Spanish. Yet, there is still demand for another language. When Ms. Kabler, the head of the Foreign Language Department, was asked if she could change one thing about the departmental curriculum and what would it be her answer was, "I wish an oriental language could be added."

It has been said that all languages have something in common. Ms. Kabler feels that all languages are expressions of a culture, and that all of them involve the importance of pronunciation, structure and listening. Why bother learning another language if you already can speak fluently in one? According to Ms. Kabler, "Career wise, it is an important asset to speak fluently in more than one language. In fact, being able to speak fluently in more than one language offers several profits in major companies. Most importantly though, is having studied a foreign language gives a student a basis for the real world." The foreign language department's main objectives are for the students to be able to have an experience in another language, for the students to learn the importance of communication, and the chance to have a cultural experience.

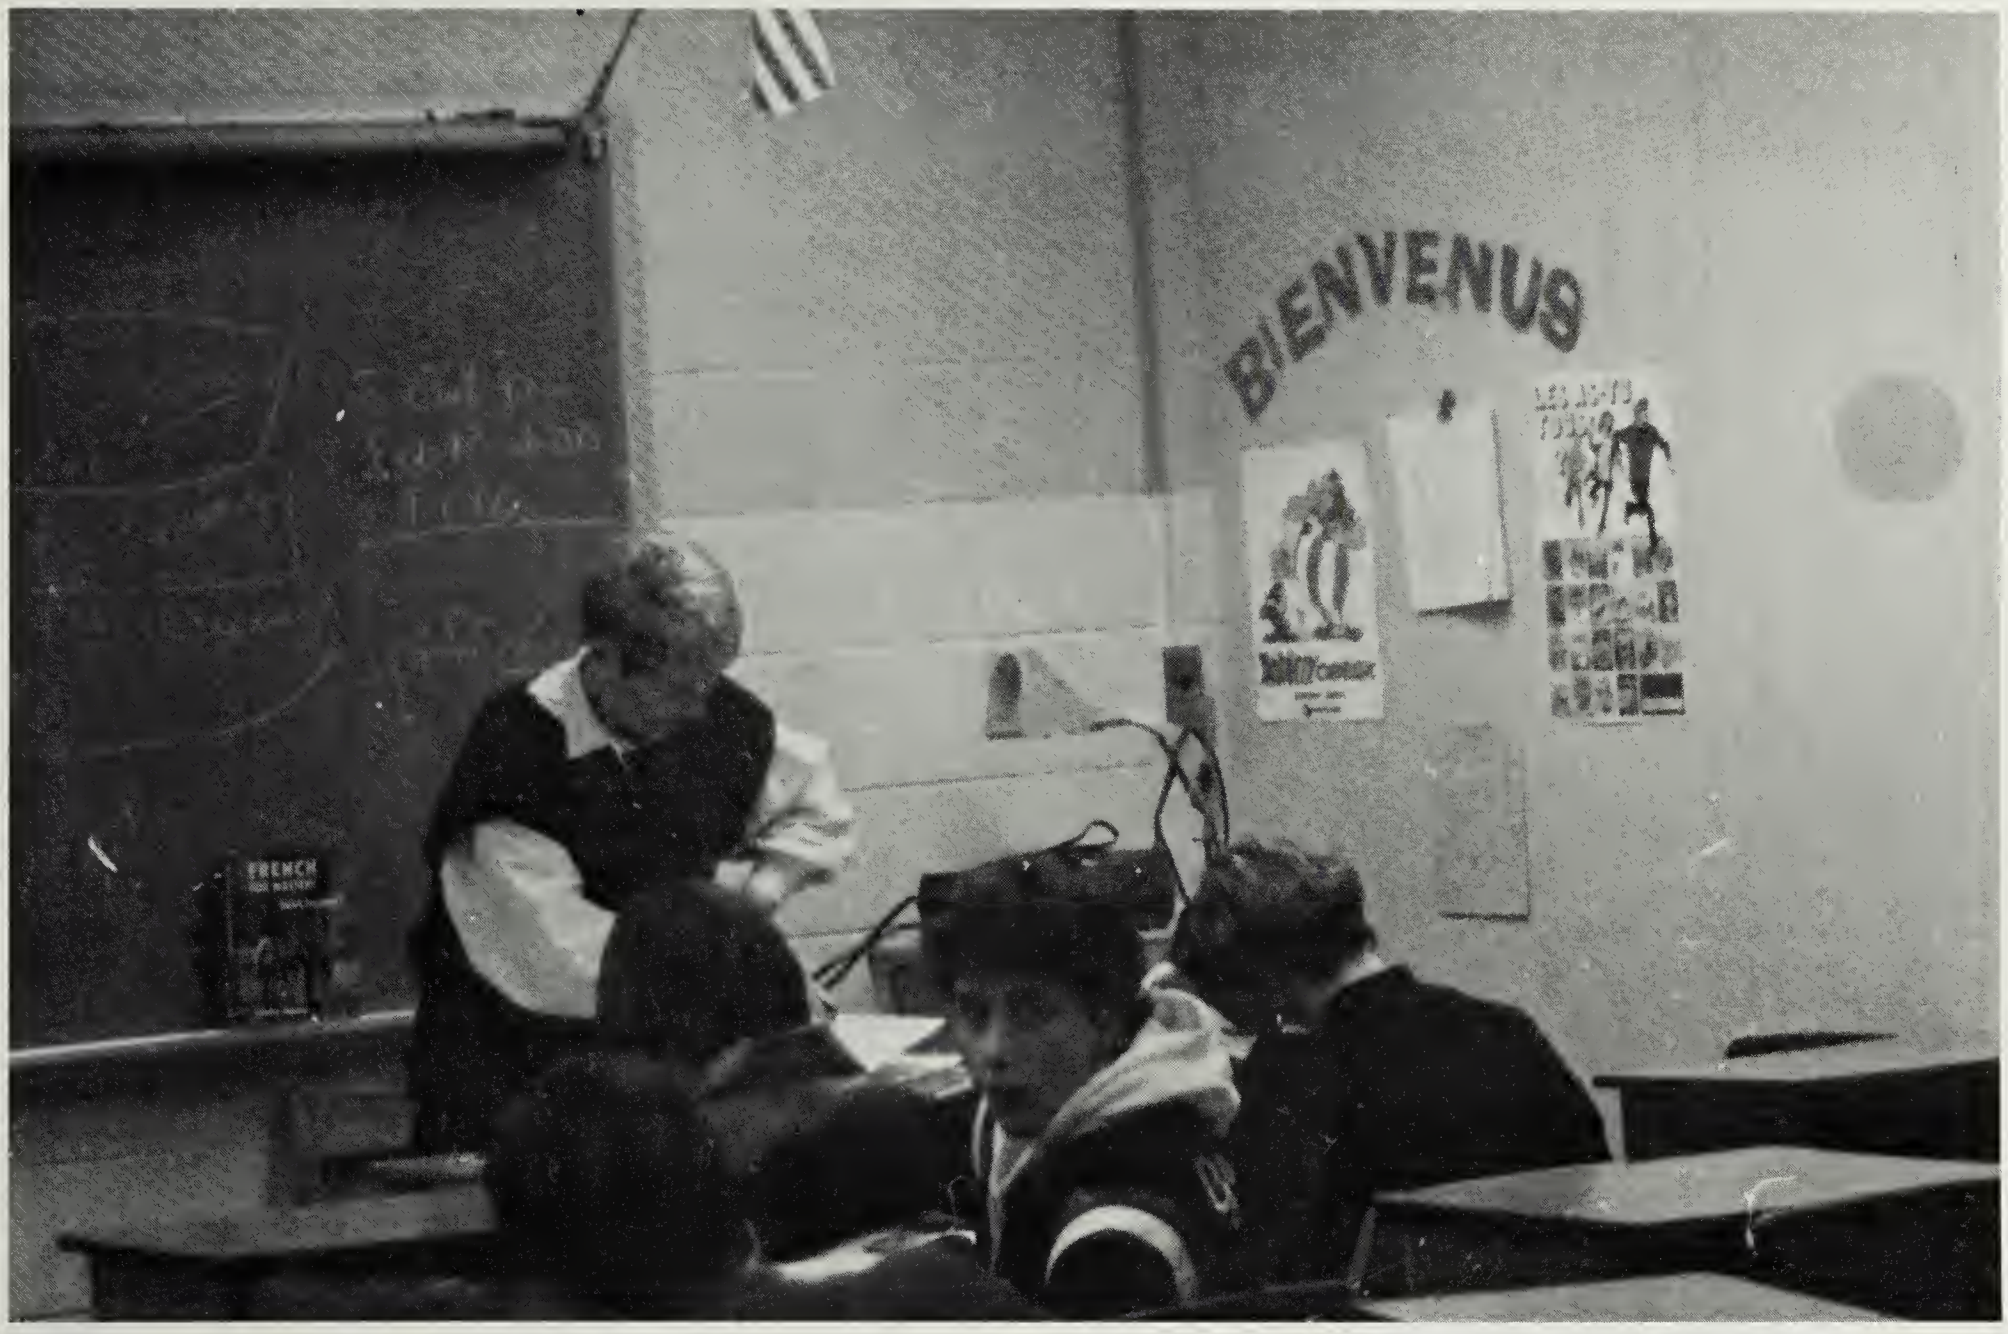

Keeping all this in mind, can a foreign language be enjoyable? Ms. Kabler believes that there are two main things students enjoy most about a foreign language. One is the cultural aspect of the language, the curiosity of the various customs, and how that specific language differs from English. The other, more importantly, is that the students want to be able to speak another language. The only problem is that most students are afraid to learn another language. Other classes do not grade on how a student pronounces his words. Students are not used to being graded for pronunciation in other classes and therefore have a hard time in a foreign language class. Yet, once the students overcome this fear they feel good about themselves and have the ability to achieve a great deal.

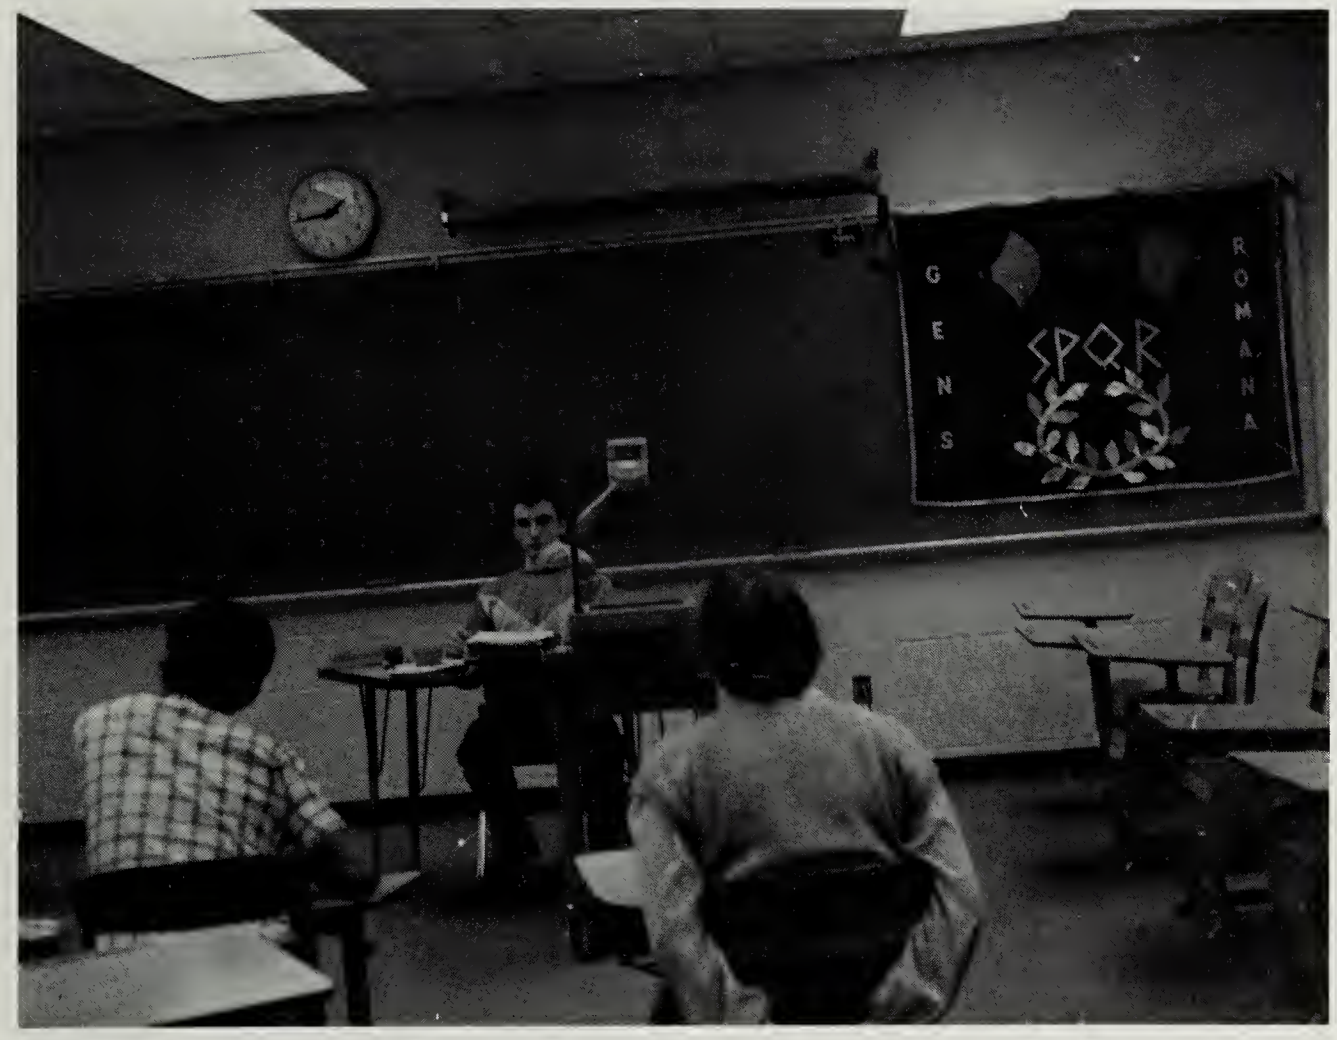

Writing, writing, writing ... students are always writing whether it be for English class or Ms. Cocca's Spanish class.

Mr. Bailey explains one more time the difference between "die" and "der."

Ms. Watts successfully takes David Presnell through a cultural experience in French.

Since Ms. ElNaggar is all tied up at the moment, Sean Martin takes over the lecture on Latin verb tenses.

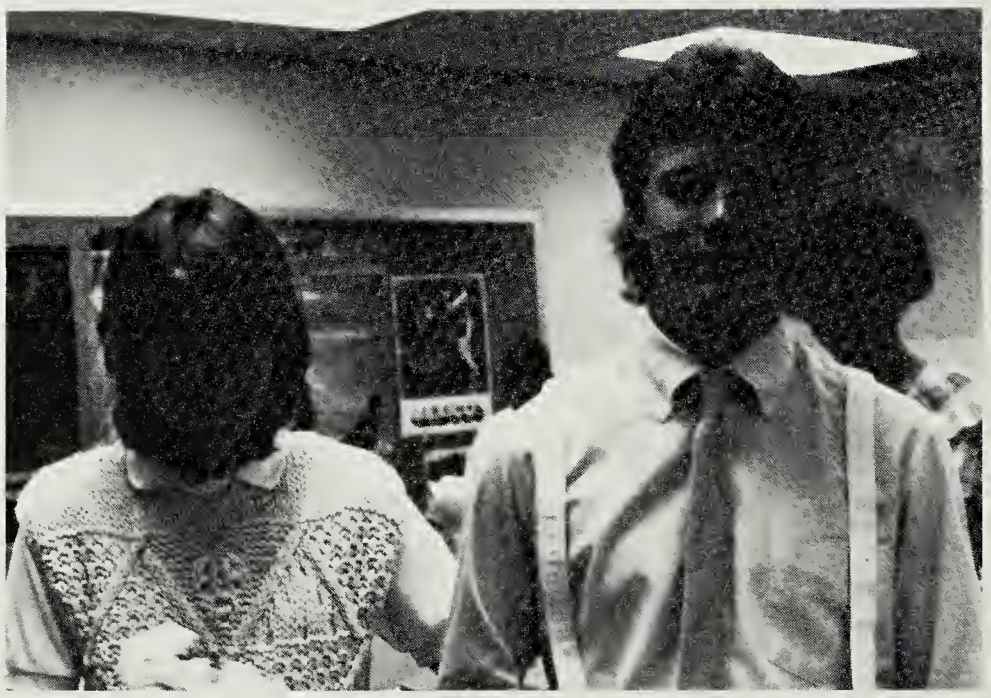

Cindy Grove writes a love letter in French since French is the "language of LOVE."

Le Mariage Francais

Best man James Jandreau looks on as Danny Short and Karen Embrey say their vows in French.

Spring weddings sprung up in the Foreign Language Department. Ms. Heedick and Ms. Piccolo's French classes performed marriages in the French way. The students wrote their vows and all way spoken in French.

Steve Thompson, a groom, felt that his wedding was "pretty cool and an all over success." Ms. Piccolo likes having the wedding because "it gives the students a chance to compare cultures and see how people across the world live."

Jennifer Trace and Steve Thompson take a walk down the aisle.

Peter McGovern prepares to give away the bride, Karen Embrey.

"Reverend" Thomas Brooks presents the happily married couple, Steve Thompson and Jennifer Trace.

Danny Short and Karen Embrey experience their first marital problem when they try an figure out how to cut the cake.

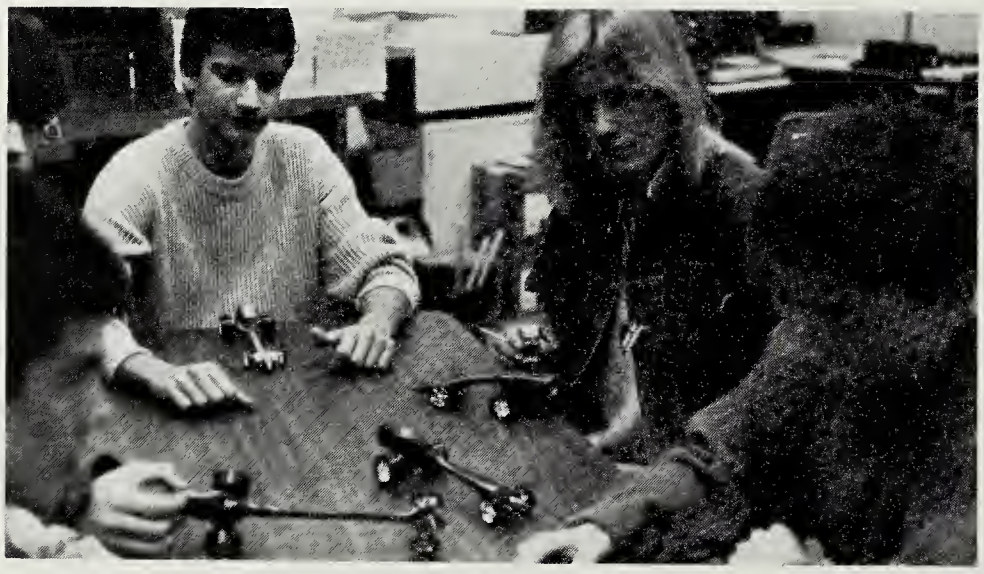

The minister, Donald Pile, lawfully binds Karen Embrey and Danny Short in holy matrimony.

Kenny Kerr, Arthur Kurtz, Domenic Bianchini, Aili Lyon, and Richard Williams discuss the finer technical points.

Challenges of Engineering is the new vocational class offered in school this year. Only two other schools in Prince William County have this challenging course. "The class is designed to give more experiences in different fields of engineering" says Mr. Lucas.

Drafting, designing electronic circuits and C02 powered cars and airplanes for the study of areospace technolgy are just a few of the areas covered in this course. Thomas Brooks says, "Different fields of engineering give me information for a career in engineering."

Also offered is Electronics II. Mr. Wiczalkwoski says "Seeing the students excel in electronics makes teaching worthwhile." In electronics students fix televisions, light circuits, curling irons and other equipment donated by the public. Electronics is a two period class and Jeff Jerrell says, "lectures are common" but he adds, "we really enjoy the work."

Sonny Little and Victor Horne wonder if "it" is still working.

More Than Just Pretty Bodies

Physical education isn't just physical. Along with physical activities, students must take fifteen weeks of health in each of their two years of P.E. In P.E.9, the students deal with general health concerns. In P.E.10, the students take Driver's Education and learn the basics of driving. Even with construction of the new entrance to Gar-Field, range is still going on. The drivers just have to make do with what room they have.

As far as the physical aspect of P.E., the teachers are using a computerized fitness program. The computer is fed the student's age, height, weight, and the results of a physical fitness test. The computer then determines how physically fit the student is, and gives the student a list of exercises that are on his level so that they are right for the student's aerobic capacity. The point of all this? To maintain and develop fitness.

Students in the nursing program measured and weighed the P.E. students for the computer program. "It's more accurate this way," says Mr. Zimmerman.

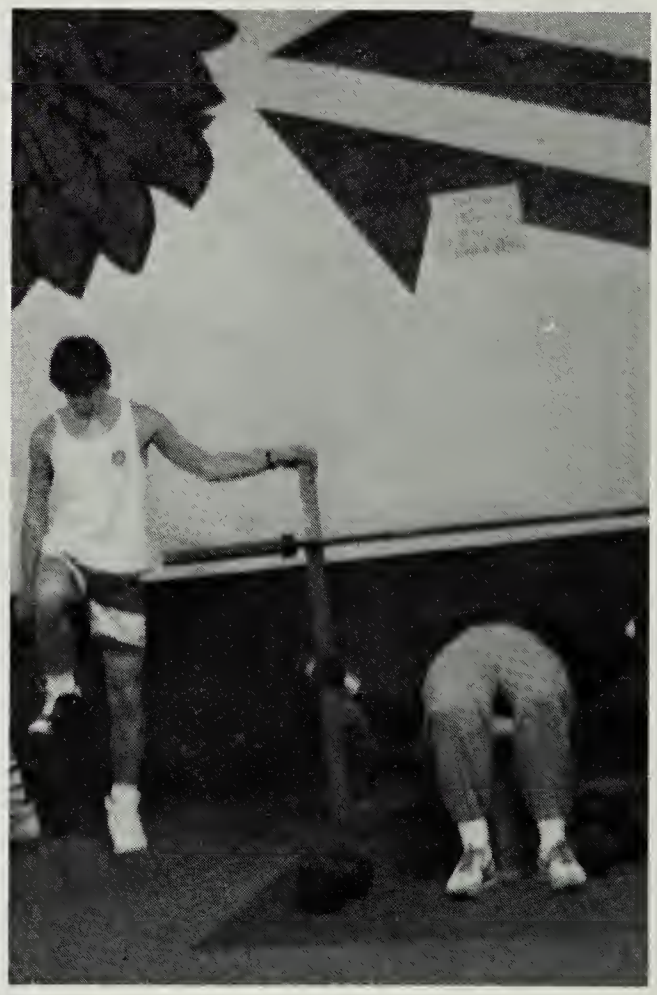

Dina McCarthy, Marcy Casterline, and Leslie Hetzler wait anxiously to see if the ball goes into the hoop.

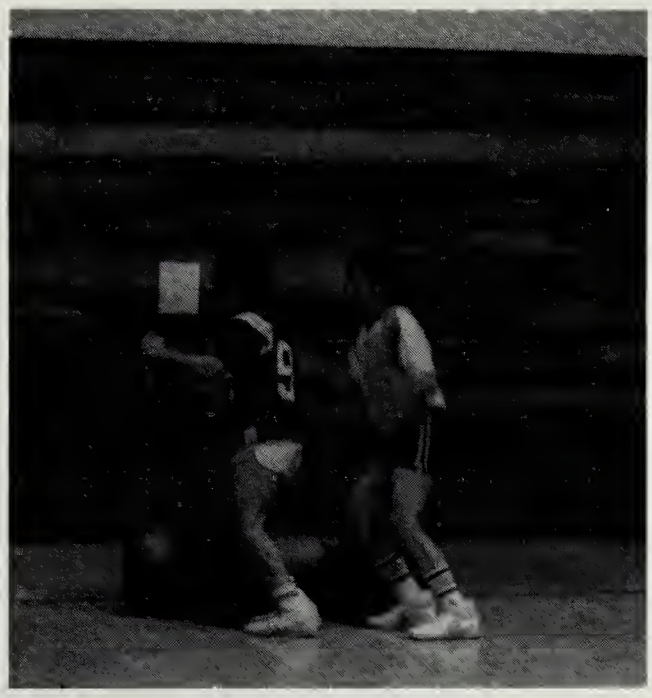

Alicia Drago has her arm measured for the computer.

Mike Moffitt can lift weights with one leg and spot all at the same time.

Even girls can lift 100 pound weights.

Curls are back and Cosmetology's got 'em ...

Down the dark corridors and around corners where no one dares to search, three periods a day students change from daily street clothes into crisp, white uniforms to become the hairstyling and manicuring professionals of tomorrow. Crimping, cutting, shampooing and styling are only a few of the skills these students learn. "It's alot of work but it"s very interesting" according to Senatra Newell.

Cosmetology also offers such services as perming, bleaching, cutting and frosting to students and faculty at very reasonable prices. "The students are very professional," says Tina Hansbrough. Tina is taking Cosmetology I which is a prerequisite for Cosmetology II. Students in Cosmetology II participate in the actual working salon of the department. Many of the cosmetology students work at local salons after school and on weekends. Senetra Newell works at the Hair Cuttery in Manassas and Joyce Soderstrom works at Vincent de Vincent. Both agree that using their skills now while they are in school will better prepare them for jobs after graduation.

Working at Annaburg Manor, Jackie Cross, Beverly Johnson, Mrs. Besch, Sharon Zeets from Potomac High, and Karen Trott from Woodbridge High gain experience and learn about the career of nursing.

Dee Dee Rojas knows that if a quarter can't bounce on it, the hospital bed corners aren't tight enough.

Janet Humphrey knows that the best way to treat a patient is with T.L.C.

The capping ceremony is a joyous moment for every LPN student.

How many people know just what goes on in the LPN lab? Probably not many. For one thing, the LPN class does not operate on a normal school calendar. LPN is not just an ordinary class, and therefore it requires two years, instead of one. From the day after Labor Day until June 17, the preclinical course takes place. The second year then starts on July 5 and lasts until next April. This session is the clinical portion. After graduation, the students work either at Potomac Hospital, Prince William Hospital, or Annaburg Manor. This enables them to prepare for their future.

If you think LPN is time consuming, wait till you look at it from an academic point of view. For instance, the first year of LPN consists of a general study of health behaviors. Instead of the average one text book course, ten text books are needed to discuss the various topics. The second year consists of a study of diseases and healthy behaviors. As you can see, this class obviously requires a lot of dedication.

No Place Like Home

If one was to walk down that far-off hall and smell the pleasant odor that arises, one may come to the conclusion that only cooking goes on down in Home Economics, but that's not true at all! Besides cooking, students learn a variety of crafts that will be useful to them in their lives.

There are various units in the curriculum which help students survive in the real world. Part of the curriculum deals with sewing. In that unit, students made warm-up suits. In the Child Development unit, students carried egg babies. During this crash course of parenting, students learned about the responsibilities associated with children. Raw eggs are used to understand how fragile babies are and how much care and attention they must receive. Along with these units are Single Living, Life Managment Skills, and Interior Housing Design. Each unit contributes to the knowledge that help students cope in the real world.

In conjunction with Home Ec, the Food Services Department learns to prepare their food in the fashion of a catering business, then they cater to the faculty of Gar-Field. Besides learning how to prepare the food the students learn how to price the food.

As you can see, Home Economics is not just cooking. These are all aspects as to what you will encounter in the future, when you are out on your own.

BLACK BOTTOM CAKE

Combine for filling:
1 cup-8 oz. pkg cream cheese 1 egg
1/3 cup sugar 1/8 tsp. salt
Beat well and stir in 16 oz. pkg of semi-sweet chocolate.
Batter:
1 1/2 cups flour 1 cup water 1 tsp. soda
1 cup sugar 1/3 cup oil
1/4 cup cocoa 1 T vinegar
1 tsp. salt 1 tsp. vanilla
Mix well. Fill cups with 1/3 chocolate, batter top with tsp. cheese mixture. Bake at 350 for 30-35 minutes. You can sprinkle top with sugar and chopped nuts before baking. Makes 36.

Laying it Out!

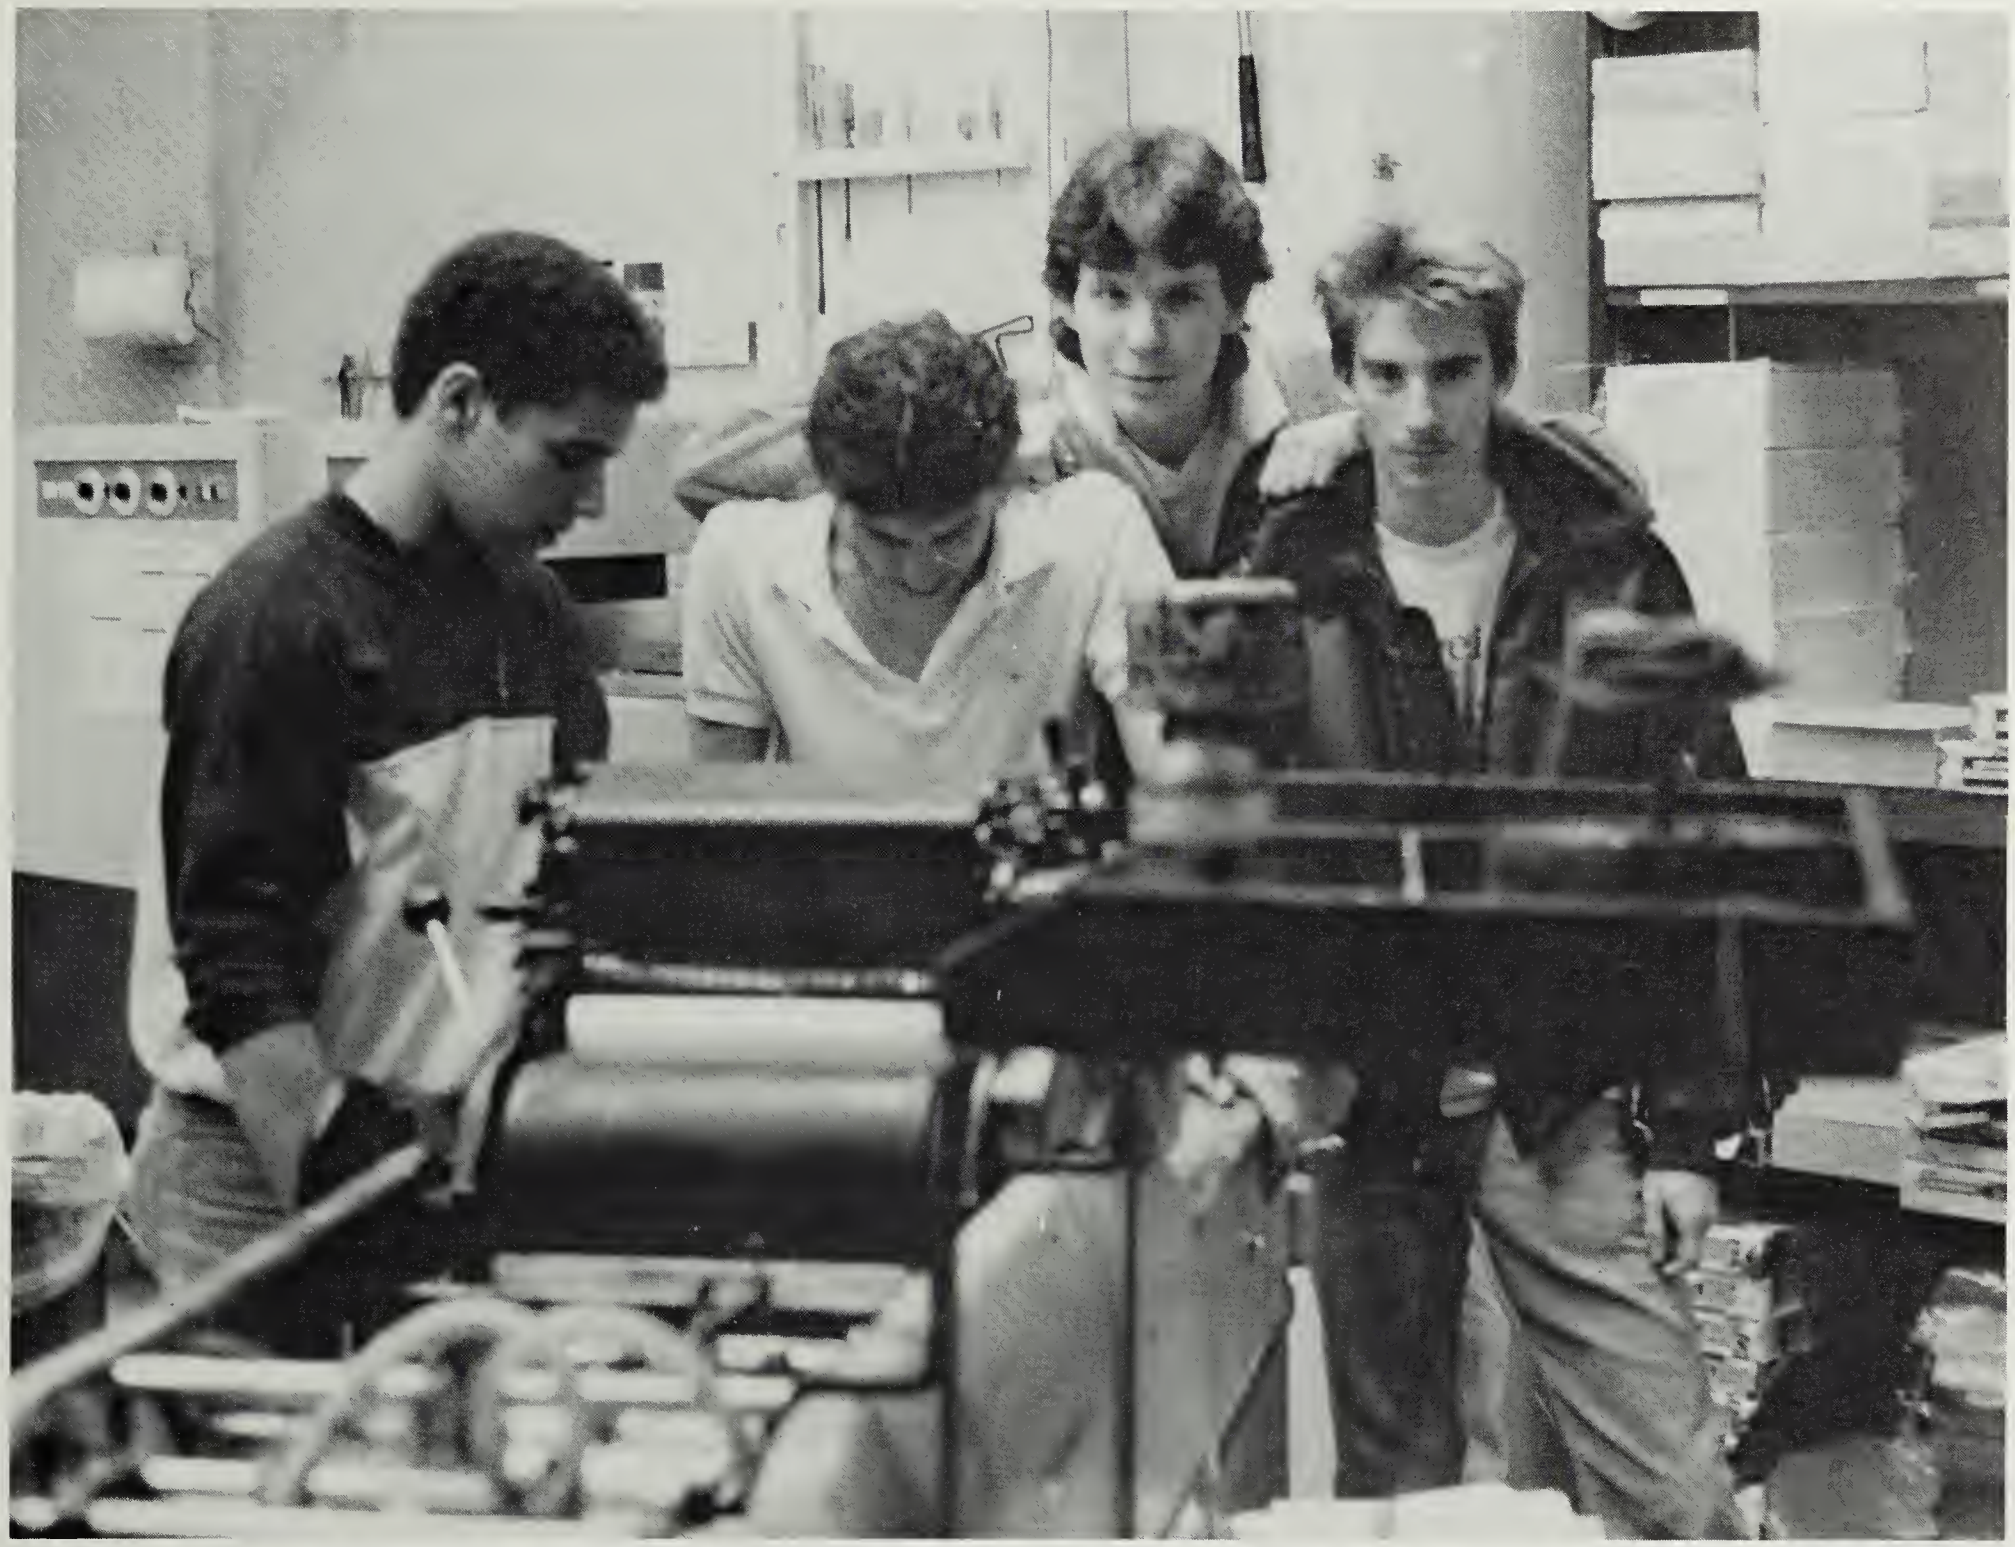

As the master plans are drawn up and the switch is flipped, the vocational classes downstairs are in session. "Printing is an essential part of my career goals," says Sonny Little. Sonny is taking only one of the technical subjects offered in school. Drafting, printing, graphic arts, and engineering are also offered to students who are interested in a career in some sort of architecture or printing work.

These classes are an opportunity to piece together what will be tomorrows technology while learning about todays.

David Ripton is assured the job will be completed.

The Building Blocks of Tomorrow

Construction provides students with introductory experiences relating to the construction industry. Laboratory experiences are conducted in the areas of masonry, electrical wiring, dry wall work, and basic plumbing procedures.

"I really enjoy the class," says Spiro Nomikos, "We take tests like any other class and do homework assignments but we get to put to use what we learned with the equipment." Designing and constructing an architectual model home is used to teach land development which also teaches the student such skills as surveying and mapping areas.

Completion of this course will provide students with the basic skills necessary for pursuing a career in the construction industry.

Gentlemen Start Your Engines!

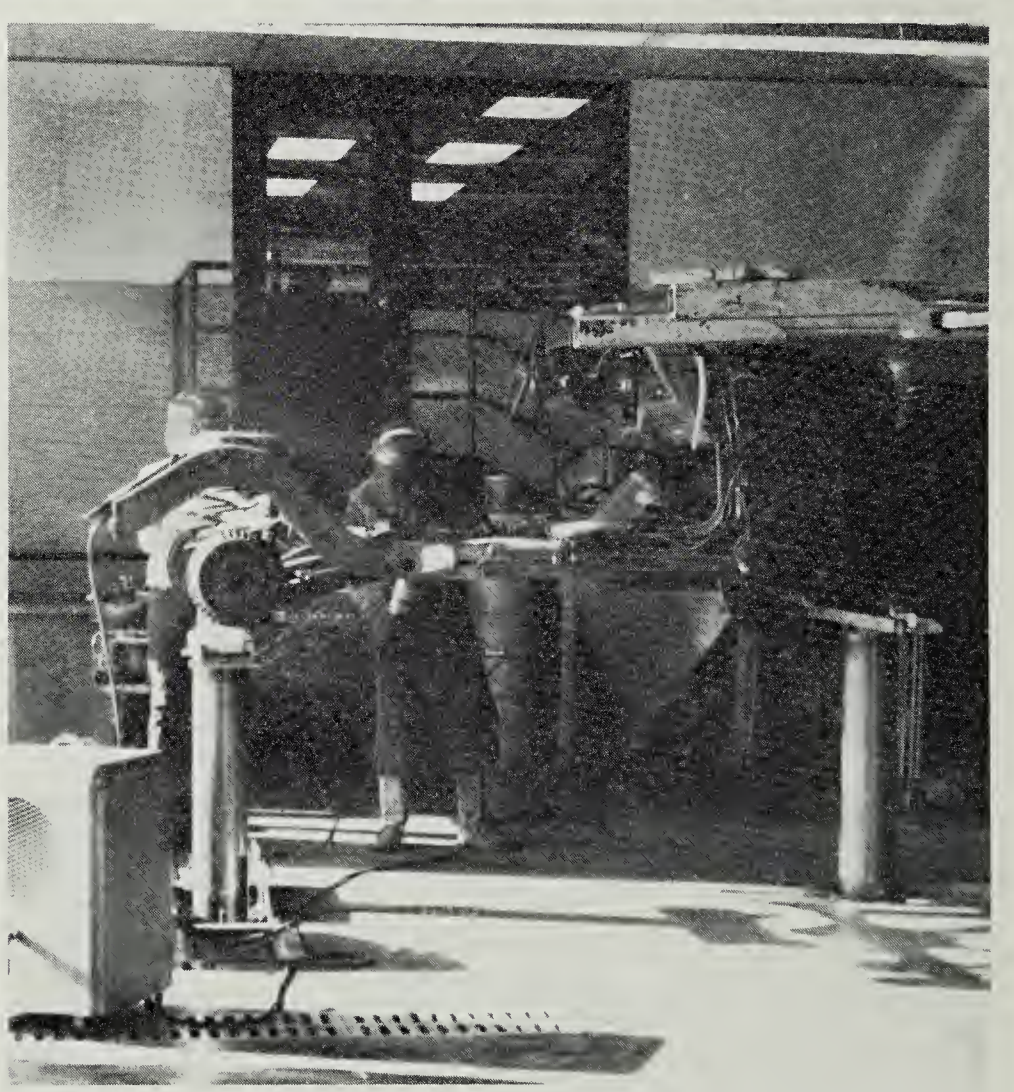

Jesse Perrin and Beetle Bailey are two of many students who spend two hours each day learning to become auto mechanics. They work on cars donated by local groups or the citizens of the community. There are two prerequisites required before a student may take an Auto Mechanics II class. They are Auto Mechanics I and Power & Transportation.

"Students learn to operate machinery, flush radiators, rotate tires, and tune-up cars" says Jesse. Although the classes are predominated mainly by male students Beetle Bailey thinks that "more girls should take these classes, too!"

Jesse Perrin studies the mysteries of an engine block.

Hitting the Books

You walk into the room just as the teacher is telling the class that our next project is a term paper. You do two things -- panic and then head for the library.

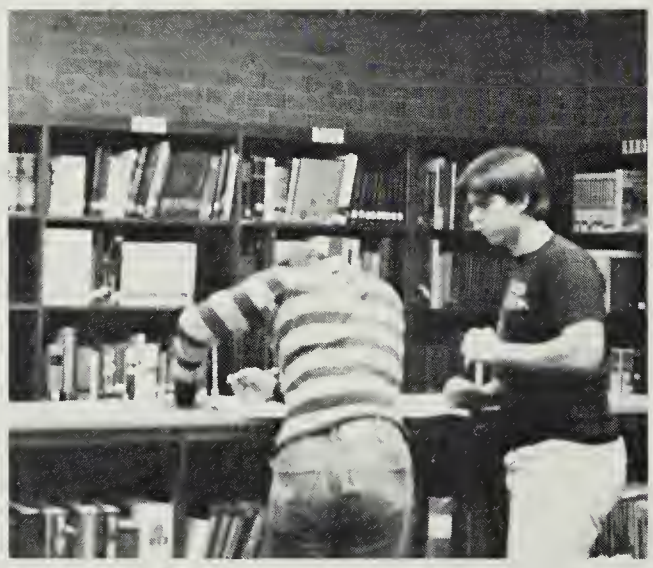

Whether it be a term paper, book report, current events, or pleasure reading, almost every student has entered the library at one time or another.

The library has other resources besides books, periodicals, and microfilm. The television sets and VCR's that you watch those thrilling movies on and the computers you write your basic and pascal programs on are all a part of the Audio-Visual section of the library and are manned by Mr. Wilson.

"Gar-Field is the best equipped school in services and equipment," he states. He adds that the teachers and students take very good care of the equipment and if something does break, they are very good about returning it.

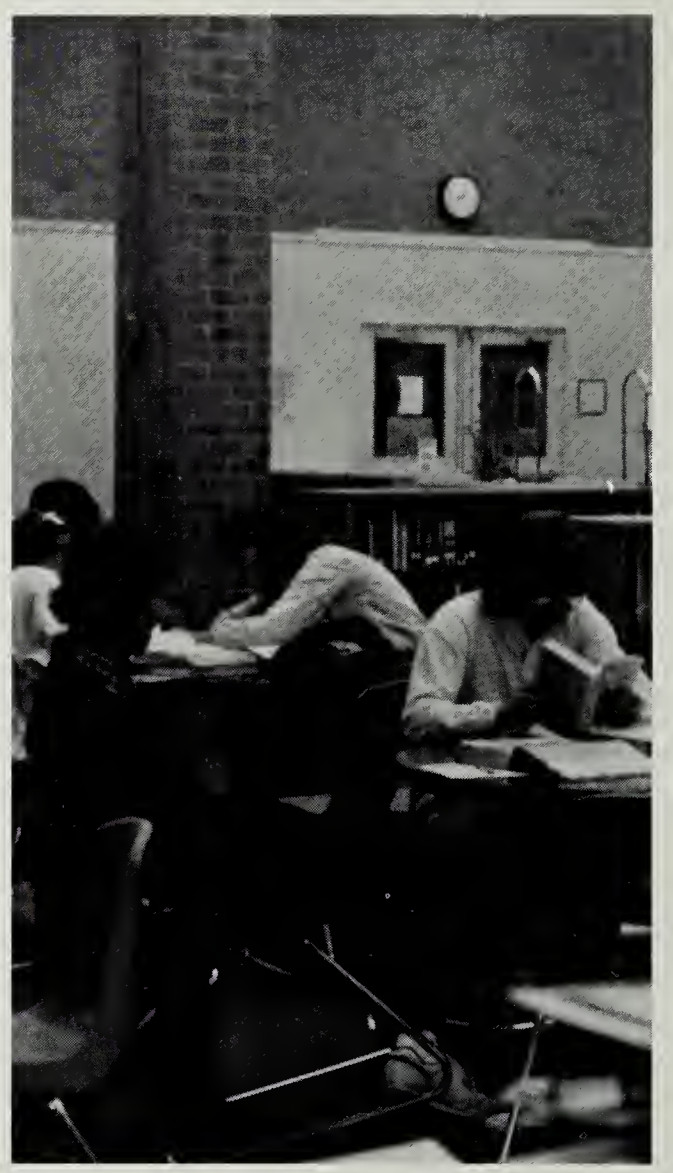

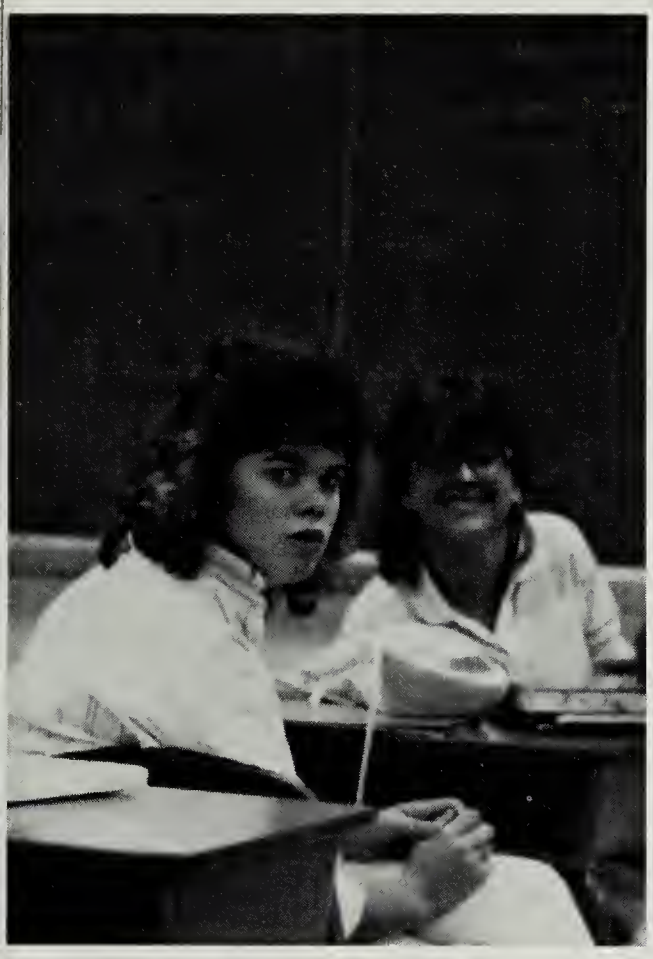

Jay Baker and Terri Thompson browse through the reference books of the library in search of information for their term papers.

Jim Boyd and Ed Macejka find the reference room very helpful in working on a worksheet for Mrs. Davies.

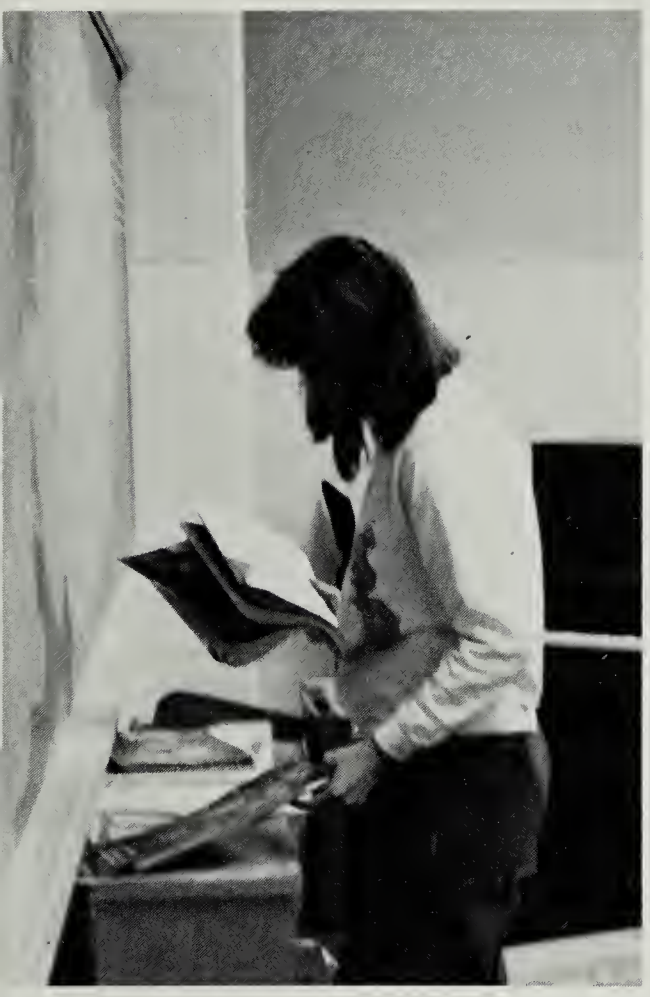

Bobby Campbell uses the library as a place to stop and think.

The library doesn't always have a serious air to it, as Josh Rivera and Sam Clubb demonstrate.

Throughout the year, the Latin Club remains busy with a mixture of academics and fun. In the fall, members competed in the Virginia Classical League. Over ninety high schools throughout Virginia attended, and Gar-Field students came home with awards in art and academics.

David Bachman won fourth place in pen and ink drawing and eighth place in Vocabulary III. Andy Boyd won third place in sculpture Kent Dixon won fifth place in Level I Pentathlon. Brian Green won second place in Vocabulary IV and sixth place in Latin Oratory. Casey Moton won second place in Grammar IV. Stacy Sencock won first place and Kim Tate won second place in pottery.

The spring is spent practicing for Certamen, which are Latin quiz competitions held throughout Northern Virginia.

The club is not without fun, though. Students "eat, drink, and be Roman" at club parties held throughout the year.

Just as the Latin Club has Certamen, and the student body has It's Academic, the German Club has "Brain Busters." which are academic competitions held with Potomac and Woodbridge High Schools every March.

Other activities included a large Christmas party on Dec. 16 and a field trip to the German Embassy in Washington, D.C. on Dec. 18.

Every year, the Spanish club tries to experience a taste of the language: they have a taco party! The food is bought with club dues and all the members dig in.

This year the club also enjoyed some Spanish culture. The club members spent a pleasant evening at the Lazy Susan Dinner Theater. They viewed "Man of La Mancha," and enjoyed some "mean cuisine."

The IT'S ACADEMIC team is a group of students interested in knowing more - about everything! When the group meets, the sponsors, Mrs. Cantwell and Mr. Castrina, call out dozens of questions about history, literature, and science. The questions are often taken from past IT'S ACADEMIC episodes. The quickest and most knowledgable students are chosen to compete in the tournaments.

February 7, IT'S ACADEMIC members competed on television.The other two schools, La Plata High School and the National Cathedral School, ranked higher than Gar-Field.

The Prince William County IT'S ACADEMIC tournament was held February 21. The competing schools were Brentsville, Stonewall Jackson, Woodbridge, and Osbourn Park. Gar-Field placed 2nd.

"Close-Up helps to acquaint students with the Federal and State governments. The club gives students the opportunity to meet with prominent political figures," states club sponsor Mr. Spencer. Club members meet to go over current political issues. These meetings help to prepare the members for the seminars and workshops they attend during their trip to Washington D.C. The trip to D.C. is the club's main event. Schools from all over the metropolitan area attend. The Close-Up participants take part in meetings with the news media, House of Representatives, Senate, the Defense Department, the Capitol, and the other various federal agencies. During the seminars and workshops, participants question Congressmen, officials, reporters, and lobbyists about what they do. A lot of hard work and study goes into this club by its members but they gain an indepth look at the workings of the United States federal and state governments.

The Close-Up Club is comprised of Pat Byrd, Lonnie Davis, Cindy Cross, and Mr. Spencer.

The Mad Scientists !

If someone were to attend a science club meeting, they would be amazed at all that the members accomplish. The club is for those students who enjoy the field of science and wish to learn and deal more with science.

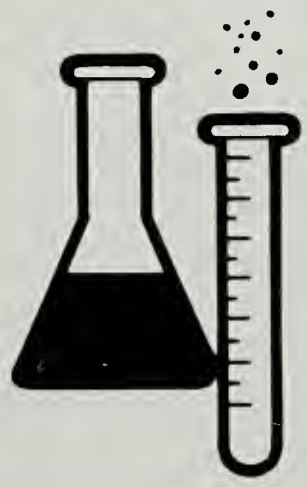

The club exposes the members and instructs them in using the computer. They try their hands at inputting and figuring problems with the computer. During other times the club members work on the fish tanks in the science department or plan field trips.

This year the favorite field trip was the visit to the FBI labs in Washington,D.C. In this tour, the students were shown places around the building that are not normally shown to the public. They were offered a chance to watch and ask questions while the FBI workers were in action.

A major criteria in the science club is joining the science fair. The members spend a lot of time making and finding ways to present their projects. The work is all worth it if some students win the competitions and are able to go to nationals, which is held this year in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

The president of the Model United Nations club, Jeff Patton.

The Model United Nations Club is designed to give students an understanding of the United Nations. Students are able to experience and participate in proceedings based on the actual United Nations.

Every school that participates is assigned to two countries. Students research the country that they are assigned. They then learn the country's policies on different issues so they may become delegates for that country.

The delegates go on several MUN trips during the year. They yearly attend simulations at University of Virginia, Old Dominion University, and New York.

The club enables the delegates to realize some of the real controversial issues of the nations today. The delegates have to put their own personal feelings aside, and stay within their country's policy on the issue. The main objective is to debate and compromise with the other delegates until resolutions or solutions are made.

Prince William Model UN III

This year the Gar-Field Model United Nations Club hosted its third Prince William MUN simulation. Twenty different schools from around the county attended the conference. This brought a total of 220 MUN delegates, who represented 96 countries. According to Jeff Patton, president of the club "I've been a member of the club for the past three years, and every year Prince William MUN accumulates more participants."

With the help of Old Dominion University students chairing the committees, the three day simulation went by fairly smoothly. After the long debating of the weekend, the Gar-Field delegates held a dance and award ceremony for the visiting delegates.

Many of the delegates dress in their nation's native attire.

History In Abundance

History Club: Mandy Souders, Beth Jakub, Terri Denman, and Thomas Filip.

The History Club is based on an appreciation for past years. Says 2nd year member Tom Filip, "The knowledge that's needed to understand the future can be found through history."

The History Club's main event of the year is History Day which is held in the spring. Students throughout the school may enter a history- related project to be judged for the Regional History Fair. Club members help set up the projects in the media center. The club went on several field trips this year, including the Air Ground Museum in Quantico.

The Culture Club is interested in fun and cultural places of interest. In the past, they have been to such places as New York and the Ice Capades. This school year the group went to the Lazy Susan Dinner Theatre to see Man of La Mancha.

The Computer Club remains busy all through the school year. The Computer Lab is open to them at least once a week to work on programs. Every few weeks, members compete in a contest. The students write programs and answer questions about them.

Four ...

In A Row

Since Crew Club's start in 1984, the club has grown from 21 to over 60 members. Its popularity seems attributed to a combination of discipline, hard work, spirit, and fun. Says second year member Billy van Gelder, "Crew is one of the toughest sports to stick with ... because you have to use every part of your body, including your mind. It's alot of pressure on a person, but I wouldn't miss it for all the money in the world."

Crew is strictly a team sport. Each rowing member must be synchronized to the split second with the other rowers in the shell. When it's not rowing season, members work together doing homework in crew study hall or work on fund raisers.

The Crew Club is not school sponsored. Each member must purchase their own uniform and insurance. To help pay fo the expensive equipment needed for rowing, extensive fund raisers take place throughout the year. The Gar-Field Crew Boosters Club composed of parents of students in crew was formed to help raise money with such activities as candy sales, row-a-thons, and newspaper drives.

All of the hard work pays off. At the many regattas the club attended last spring, the Crew Club won several awards. At the Darrell Winslow Regatta both the girls 5th eight and the JV four won first place, boys varsity four and the 4th eight each placed second.

TOP SPINNERS

The Tennis Club is composed of those students who simply love the sport. The emphasis of the club is to promote interest in tennis as a recreational sport instead of a competitive sport. Members hold tennis strategy sessions, watch video tapes depicting serving, volleying, etc. to help them become better players. Intramurals are held with 4 to 6 teams of six players each competing in singles and doubles play. These competitions are for club members. However, single and doubles tournaments are held for all interested students and faculty.

As with all clubs, fund raisers are a must. Money earned by the club has been spent on refurbishing the backboards on our tennis courts, and buying a VHS for members to video tape themselves playing in order to help them critique their playing ability.

LIGHTS, CAMERA, ACTION!

Drama Club has a full season, putting on at least two plays a year. Not everyone can be a "star", but members who do not act help with advertising, stage lighting, props, set construction, ushering, costumes, or makeup.

Last Spring, the Drama Club and Choir Department combined their talents to produce the musical comedy, The Pirates of Penzance. Many people worked both on and off stage to make this the best possible musical production of the year.

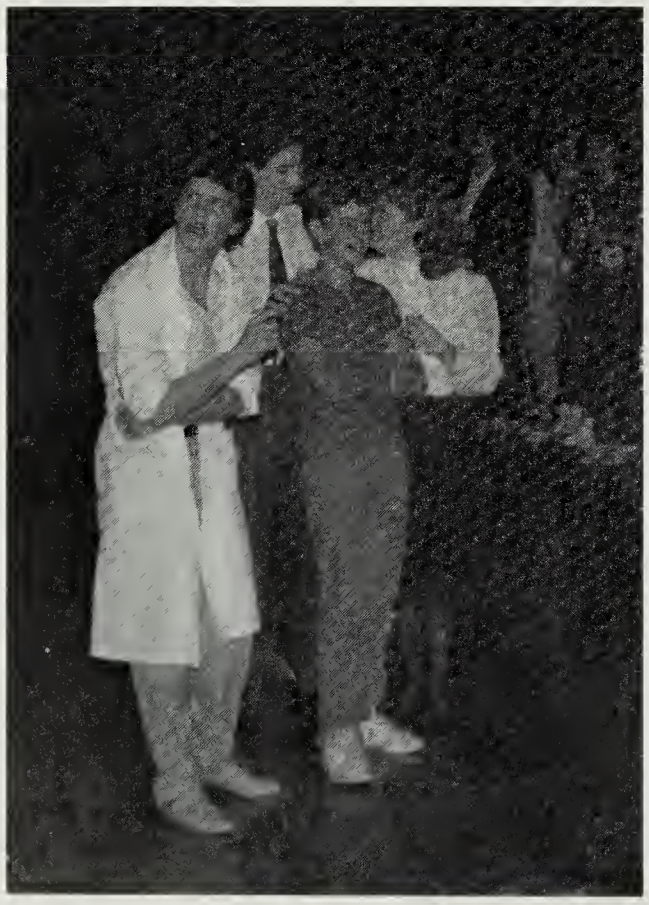

In the fall, the Drama Club presented three one-act comedies; "Illucinations", "Where Have All the Lightning Bugs Gone?", and "Lone Star". "Lone Star", starring Greg Lowe, Wes Fleming, and Osie Brown, was selected to compete in District Competition.

Welcome new members!

The following new members were welcomed into the National Honor Society on January 14 : Danielle Alsop, Carena Bender, Dean Brettle, Tamara Brown, Helen Carpenter, Marion Carrigan, Michelle Chalfant, Steven Chucala, Carmen Dennis, James Derderian, Cheryl Dixon, Elizabeth Dobson, Susan Dockery, Kim Dormstetter, Karen Embrey, Shawn Engle, Tracy Ferrell, Sandra George, Kevin Gutierrez, Linda Harrison, Lysette Heaton, Sandra Heckman, Lisa Hegele, Michael Hertzog, Deborah Hopson, Regina Johnson, Jennifer Kreamer, Chris Le, Hung Le, Diane Loveitt, Hayda Marquina, Suzanne McMoran, Susan Ness, Jennifer Newell, Jacqueline O'Leary, Leslie Pitt, Christine Recknor, Lisa Rich, Patrice Riesenberg, Johnelle Rivera, Dan Rotelli, James Schwab, Brian Scott, Daniel Short, Priscilla Sierk, Jennifer Stanek, Richard Stockman, Susan Straight, Terry Thompson, Helen Todd, Anthony Tuggle, William Weston, Shane Williams, Cynthia Zeunges, Martin Zurflueh.

Becoming a National Honor Society member is not easy. To become a candidate, the requirements are high. Candidates must be juniors or seniors with a grade point average of at least 3.3. Each prospective member is evaluated by the Gar-Field faculty. Decisions are made based on character, leadership, and service to the school and community. Only those students who excel in all four categories are selected for membership.

The club provides tutors for students who need extra help with their studies. On December 18, the Honor Society brought presents for a Toy Drop-Off. This enabled numerous needy children to receive new toys for Christmas.

SGC (Student Government Council) members help to enhance communication between the students, faculty, and administration. One student is selected from each first period class to represent their class. All people who are enrolled as Gar-Field students are considered members of the council. Students with grievances or complaints may talk with their homeroom representative, who in turn will discuss the problem with Dr. Bailey.

All students are eligible to attend representative assemblies and to participate on committees.

SGC Officers: Marya Wright, Brian Woolfolk, and Kristen Fite.

Mary Poczatek and Julie Sarofim shake it down at a pep rally.

Sophomore Becky Shriver says, "I'm ready. Start the music!"

When the Indianettes step out during halftime or during a pep rally, students and faculty see a group of smiling, energetic girls. It may look like the dancing and prancing is easy, yet lots of work does go into each performance.

The girls have grueling workouts almost everyday and must practice, practice, practice. They go over the same routine hundreds of times until they get their moves synchronized to the music.

The hard work does pay off, though. Over the summer, the drill team attended Superstar Drillteam Camp. They brought back many awards for their discipline, performance, and spirit. Two of the Indianettes, Kimberly King and Pamela Fitzkee, were selected to perform at the Aloha Bowl in Hawaii.

3 Cheers ... for the Red, White, & Blue

Cheerleaders do a lot more than jump around on the football field and basketball court. Their many responsibilities keep them far more busy than Friday nights during the fall and winter months.

First of all, cheerleaders practice at least four days a week after school. They stretch and then put in some strenuous physical and vocal exercises doing a variety of jumps, balancing pyramids, and chanting cheers. Second, cheerleaders decorate players lockers, and bake goodies for the guys to show them how much they are routing for them for the next team victory. They also perform during the pep rallies.

The cheerleading squads also attend summer clinics to learn new techniques, and chants. This past summer our girls won awards for spirit and performance while attending the University of Virginia cheerleading camp.

Flying High!

Captain Lisa Busch and Co-Captains Beth Dobson and Glorie Rodriguez lead the flags at the Homecoming parade.

"Three flags are better than one!" say Beverly Johnson, Lysette Heaton, and Sigrun Ortmann.

All twenty-one flags are chosen the spring before school starts. Prospective flag members learn to twirl the flag for three days before the actual tryouts, in which they must perform a short routine.

Flags practice during the early summer to prepare for the Dale City 4th of July parade. Once school starts, the flags work to perfect new routines. Routines take between two and three weeks to learn. The captains must first pick out the music and invent a routine. After the rest of the squad learns the routine, the entire half-time show is rehearsed, complete with the Marching Band and Rifles.

When football season is over, the Flags continue to practice in order to perform at basketball games.

Bearing Arms!

Tryouts for Rifles occur in the spring, before the new school year. In July, the group went to James Madison University for a five day training camp. The girls worked twelve hours a day, with breaks for lunch and dinner. They learned to spin the rifle correctly, and how to perform such manuevers as aerials and butterflies.

When football season starts, the Rifles again work hard. They practice after school every weekday, and then perform at the half-time shows.

Rachel Sutherland, Michelle Meadows, and Serife Kerem hold the flags during a half-time show.

"One ... Two ...

Ready ... MARCH!"

After school has let out for the day, some students are still busy, especially during football season. The team is on the field working on passes and plays, the cheerleaders are in the gym practicing pyramids, and the Marching Band is moving across the student parking lot.

The Marching Band practices Monday thru Thursday during football season. According to Mr. Shrumm, one of G-F's band instructors, new members only need a few hours to learn to march. After students learn basic marching fundamentals, they learn the music, and finally the intricate marching formations accompanied by the music. Oh yes! And then, the band must coordinate with the Rifles, Flags, and Indianettes so they do not bump into each other on the field during the half time performance. All of this takes practice, practice, and more practice so one, two, ready, MARCH!

LEARN A TRADE!

VICA (Vocational Industrial Clubs of America) is composed of students enrolled in Cosmotology, Printing, Electronics, Drafting, Auto Mechanics, ICT, and Construction. Besides learning a trade that will be useful after graduation, some members sell fruit, sponsor shows, and compete in the olympics!

VICA's main fundraiser begins in December. Members sell large boxes of oranges, tangelos, and grapefruit. The money raised helps pay for their club activities. Last spring, the Auto Mechanics division sponsored their 1st Annual Car Show in conjunction with Potomac and Woodbridge high schools.

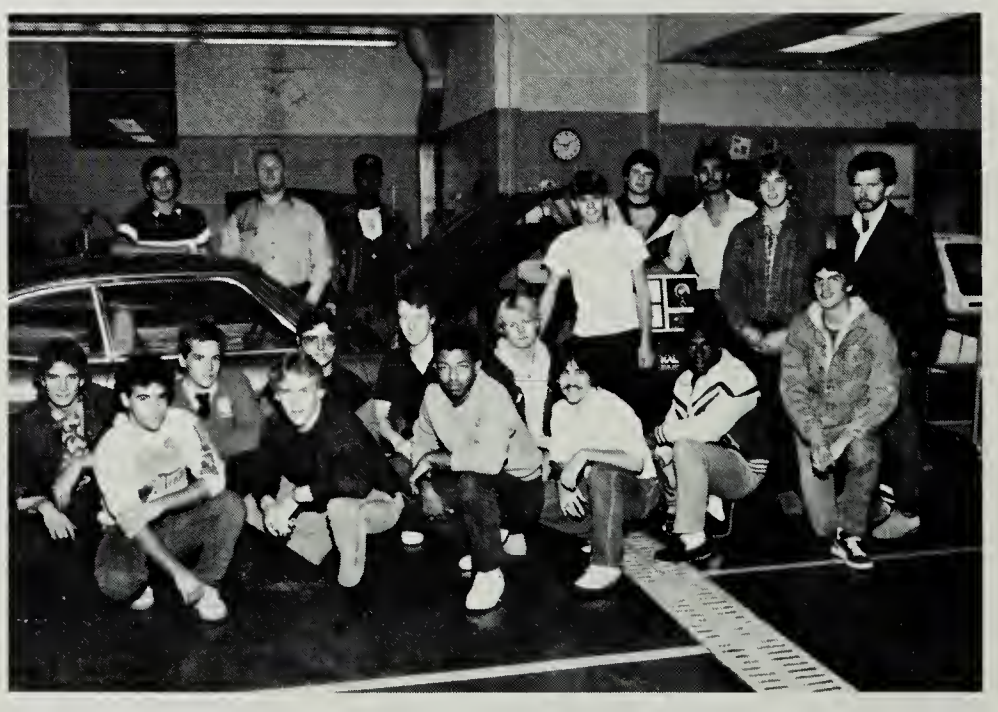

In the spring, VICA members compete in VICA Olympic Skill. This is a district competition where students must show their skills in selected categories. District winners then compete in the state competition.

Working For The Future

Students currently enrolled or formerly enrolled in industrial arts courses are eligible to join the Industrial Arts Club. The club is designed for those students who wish to do extra work and further their skills.

Through the guidance of the sponsor, Mr. Metts, the members build numerous projects. They then go on to compete with other industrial arts students in Regional, Northern Virginia, State, and National competitions.

Let DECA Do It!

Francoise Blais and Terri Opauski prepare backstage for the 1986 Spring Fashion Show.

The Spring Fashion show is a major highlight of the DECA club. The fashion show, which is held each year, enables club members to exhibit what they have learned during the school year with regards to distributive education. Local merchants provide apparel and accessories to the show. It is then the responsibility of the DECA members to piece together the merchandise and plan out the show. All of the modeling, choreography, and promotion is produced and performed by the club members.

Last spring, the theme for the fashion show was "Around the World in a Day". The show, held May 1st, included fashion categories such as beach wear, formal wear, lounge wear, and career wear. Several of the faculty members (Mr. Murphy, Mr. Roadcap, Mr. Washington, Mr. Courtney, Ms. Shacklette, Ms. Piccolo, Ms. Verburg) participated in the event to show off their own modeling ability.

The four purposes of DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America) are vocational understanding, civic consciousness, social intelligence, and leadership development. All of these are promoted during the year, but before the DECA Club can actually begin activities, club officers must be elected. The officers are then required to go on an officers training trip held in the mountains of West Virginia in October.

The purpose of the two day retreat is to gather ideas and come up with an itinerary for the club during the year. Club officers brought home several awards, including Best Pester, Runner-up Pumpkin, and Best Overall Activity Plans.

HOSA follows the creed by helping ACTS. They donated toys during Christmas, and held a canned food drive in the spring. The collected goods go to the less fortunate of the area.

FBLA (Future Business Leaders of America) is a club in which only students enrolled in a business-orientated class or who have completed a business class may join. FBLA is based on a plan encompassing financial activities, leadership and promotional functions, business knowledge and skills, social awareness, and school service.

The club participated in numerous projects this year. The members held a penny count entitled Project ASK. Students brought in pennies to raise money for the Association for the Prevention of Childhood Cancer. Club members raised $688.00 during the project. For Thanksgiving, members collected canned food to make a basket for a needy family in Woodbridge. The leftovers, over 300 cans, were sent to ACTS.

For Christmas the club members participated in bell-ringing for the Salvation Army. The students rang at Potomac Mills Mall during the Christmas holidays. The FBLA members sold Christmas cookies as a fundraiser used to replenish club funds and raised a total of $450.

Ring-a-Ling went the bells for the Salvation Army on November 29. There was only one difference between that ring and the rings of any other day. The G-F Leo Club were ringing the bells.

Ringing bells for the Salvation Army is only one of many service projects that the Leo Club does each year. Each Tuesday after school, the members take time to help retarded children with their bowling. This involves telling the young children when it is their turn to bowl, keeping score, tying shoe laces, and zipping jackets. The Leo Club also does other work with the retarded citizens. In April they attend the Special Olympics and provide moral support for the competitors. In the Fall, Leo Club members collect canned food for ACTS (Action in Community Through Service), the food is sent to needy families throughout the county.

In the Teen Counseling program, Juniors and Seniors provide positive role models for fifth and sixth graders. About every two weeks counselors go to different elementary schools for the sessions. The sessions focus mainly on drug use and peer pressure. Self-esteem, smoking, health, shoplifting, and cheating are also discussed. The counselors make the most of their time with the kids. They perform skits and play games relating to the session topic.

Children admire and relate to high school students more than parents and teachers. "One of the advantages of teen counseling is that the kids have to look inside themselves for answers and therefore get to know themselves a little better," says teen counselor Kathy Ellis.

SPORTS

Senior Casey Moton throws himself over a hurdle.

Why play? Can contact sports be too much fun?

ATHLETES TELL ALL

Since the beginning of recorded history, sports have been an important part of civilized life. The ancient Greeks started the tradition of the Olympic games as a tribute to their gods. Now, the Olympics are a tribute to athletic skill and talent throughout the world.

Currently, students participate in thirteen official sports and one unofficial (not school sponsored) sport. Each athlete has his own personal reason for playing his particular sport. From indoor track to golf to varsity football, literally hundreds of students play sports for hundreds of reasons.

"I play because I love it," says senior Kathy Ellis. "Why else would anyone play? Volleyball is a great game to be in because it's fast moving and always exciting."

Sophomore Sean Masciandaro has different reasons. "It's excellent conditioning and training," he says about Crew. Crew is the sport of rowing, usually in eight-man hulls, and is an unofficial sport in Prince William County. The school cannot sponsor Crew because it is a water sport and the insurance rates would be too high. Sean continues, "It's never boring. We row on the Occoquan River and if you get tired of looking at the back of the guy in front of you, you can watch the beautiful scenery go by."

Naturally, to balance out athletics, there is academics. Some students have trouble balancing the two and some don't. The issue is one of setting priorities straight and going from there.

"To me, soccer is only a sport, kind of like a hobby," says senior Karin Richards. "I like it but it doesn't control my life."

Fellow senior Barbie Sprinkle comments, "Academics is the most important thing, but given the choice between studying and playing I'd pick playing any day."

Neither academics nor sports controls varsity football and basketball player Danny Raines' life. "My number one priority is God," Danny says. "He has always been the most important thing in my life."

Of course, athletic ability is foremost in all sports. Without talent and skill, the teams would suffer at the hands of other district teams.

"In a way, it does come naturally," says Bernie Dombrowski, quarterback for the JV football team. "But it improves because I enjoy working to better it."

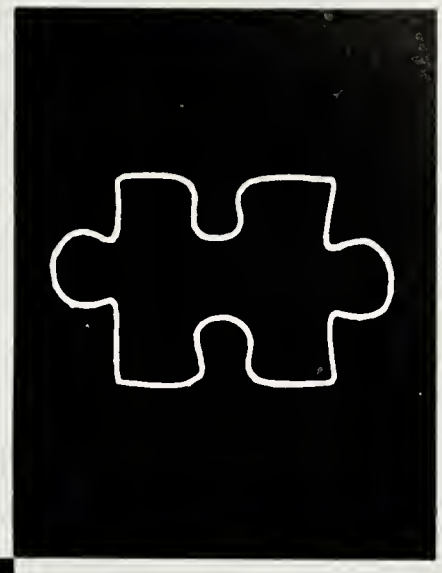

Beth Dietz, soccer player, agrees. "The older I get, the more I have to work at it. It seems now that kids start younger and play longer. They also seem to have better coaches than I did at their age."

Money is a primary problem/asset for all sports. There are many opinions, fair and unfair, of the athletic funding situation for county sports.

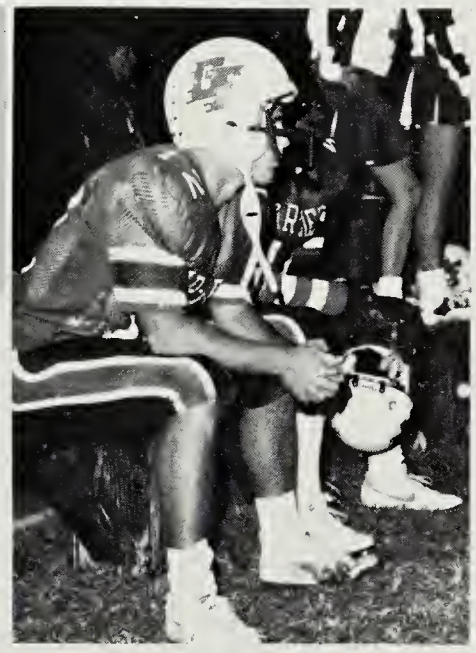

Some of the "minor" sports, such as soccer, volleyball, and tennis receive little money for equipment.

"We used to use old basketball uniforms. The uniforms we have now are three years old," says Kathy.

"We've had leftover uniforms a long time," adds Karin.

"I play because I love it. Why else would anyone play? Volleyball is a great game to be in because it's fast-moving."

7-Eleven

Well, what can one say, 1986 was not a major year for Boys Varsity Baseball. The season was an on-off experience with wins here and loses there. Overall, Boys Varsity Baseball had seven wins and eleven loses. Although this may not seem like an average to jump-up and scream about, this record still is a respectable one. During the past season Coach Labozetta led his team on to victory against Lake Braddock, North Stafford, Osborn Park, James Wood, and Potomac though they had some losses. This just proves the old saying that "you win some and you lose some."

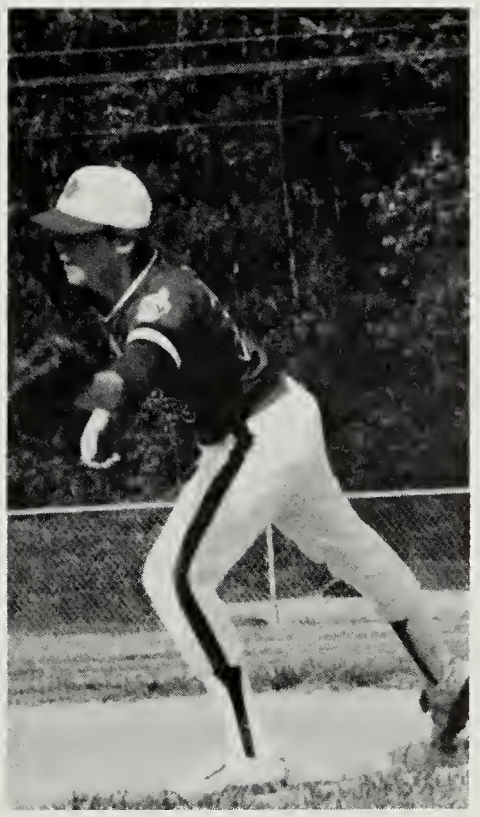

Jeff Ash sits with his glove streched out; he's ready for the call of strike.

One at a Time

The situation looked terrible, but the best games became reality when they played them one at a time.

Gar-Field entered the field facing the massive blue and gold attack of the Osbourn Park Yellow Jackets. The Indians were predicted to lose and were without several key players. Little did the Yellow Jackets know that they were about to be rudely surprised. "When things looked the worst," said Coach Zimmerman, "we played our best."

The overall mental attitude of the team was much stronger than teams of the past. The mental growth increased their performance and the team felt and reacted as one.

The leadership of the team was greatly affected by the returning juniors and seniors. Their ability to overcome adversity and learn from their mistakes helped the younger players to adjust their skills to the expertise of varsity competition.

"When things looked the worst, we played our best." - Coach Zimmerman.

The game against Woodbridge showed Gar-Field soccer at one of it's finest moments. Gar-Field went ahead early by two goals, but due to injuries to several of their players Woodbridge had the opportunity to come back. Woodbridge tied the game in the final minutes of the game. Senior Shane Smith said," Woodbridge had to tie us."

As in the past, this years team gave every game everything they had. They played every minute of every day possible to make this season the best in the history of Gar-Field.

3 - 9 for the 1986 Season

The Long Kick

It was a season of change for the freshjunior varsity team. They went totally against the J.V. philosophy, the philosophy that junior varsity is to teach the players the game and prepare them for varsity play. "This was my first J.V. team that could already play the game," stated Mr. Aleo. Most had played in community or church soccer leagues and arrived with basic skills and raw talent. Coach Aleo was able to advance to the finer points of soccer quicker than in the past seasons.

The goal for the season was to improve the team considerably and come out on top against at least one of GarField's rival schools. "We really wanted to kill Woodbridge," said then-sophomore Eric Davis.

Coach Aleo said of the team, "They played four exceptional games, but the last final hopeful victory against Woodbridge wasn't reality."

Fast Pitch Season

With many talented players, and the ability to make it happen, this team set the pace with a fast pitch season.

Gar-Field was lead by an outstanding group of players. The Girls Varsity Softball Team defeated Potomac for the first time in four years. James wood entered the Commonwealth Districts and by the end of the season James Wood and Gar-Field were tied for second place. Gar-Field had to travel to James Wood to place for the District Tournament, losing 6-2 in a hard fought battle.

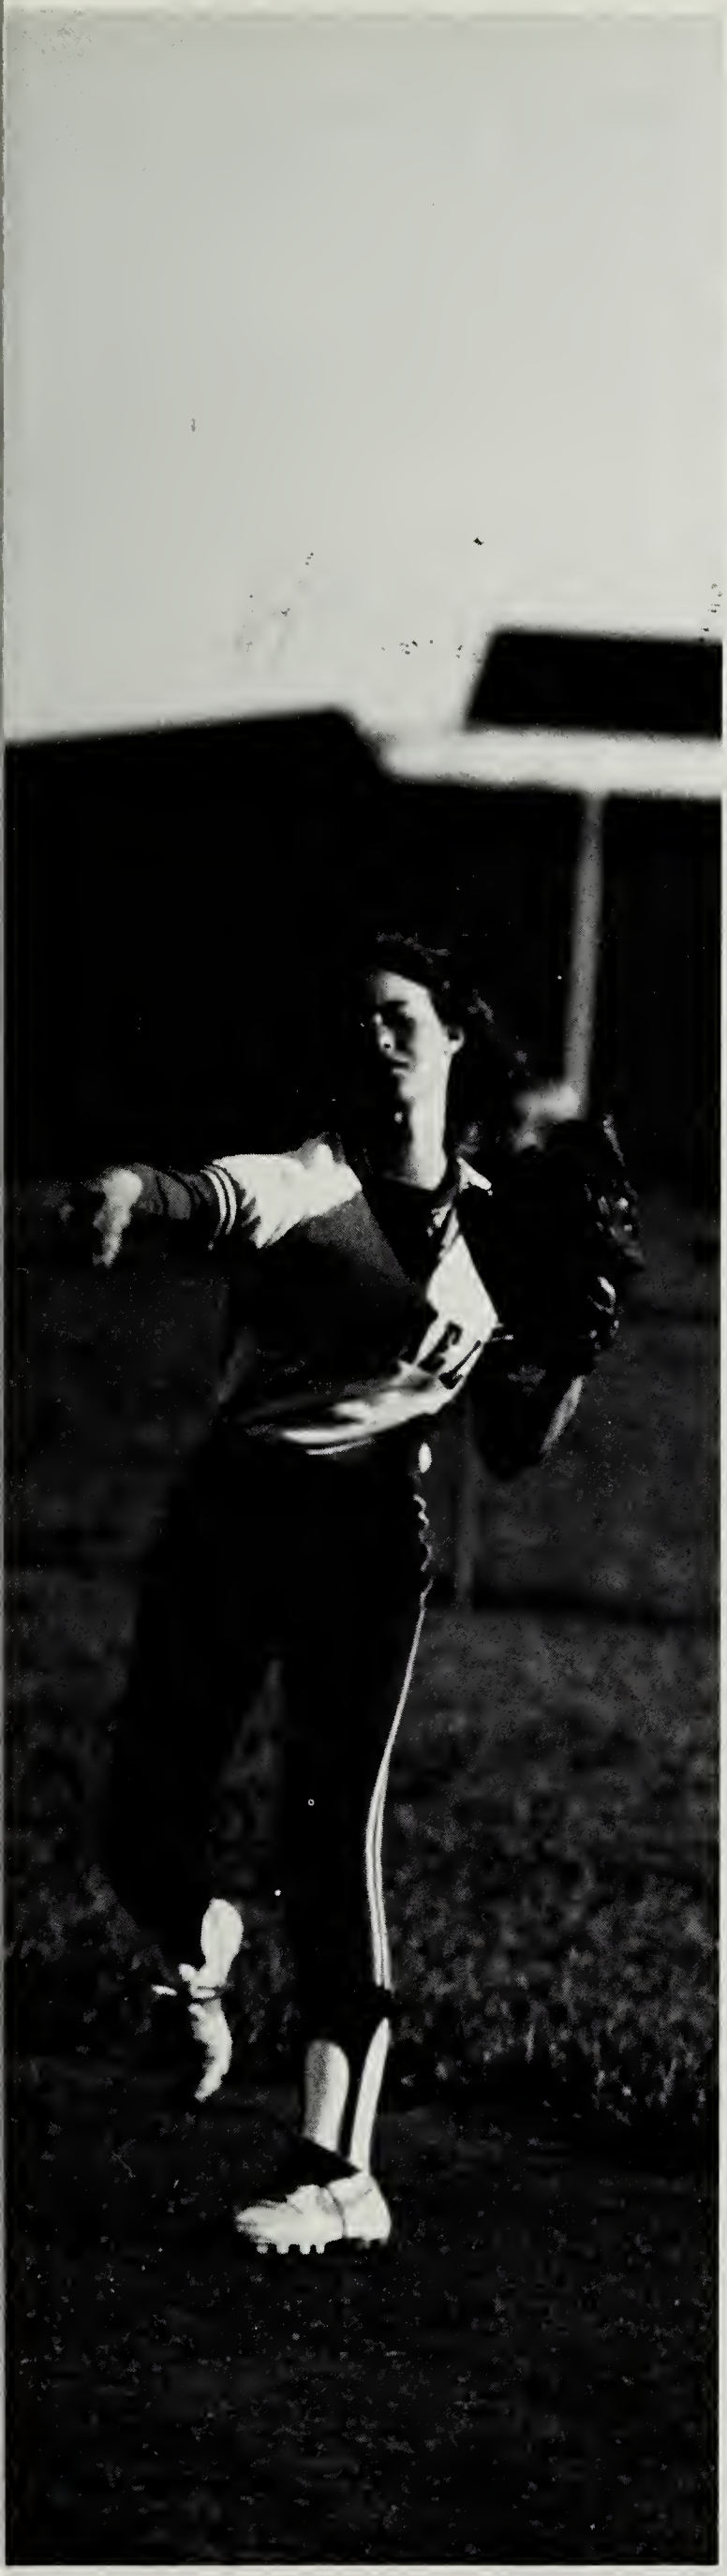

The team elected Pat Burian as Most Valuable Player, Alicia Drago as Most Improved, Debbie Long as Best Offensive Player, and Terry Hosier as Best Defensive Player.

Sliding into home plate, Debbie Long shows us the determination that earned her the title of Best Offensive Player.

Linda Clure concentrates on her throw.

Voted Best Defensive Player, Terry Hosier played to the best of her ability.

CHAMPS!

As separate tennis players, seniors Nha Le and Heather Mason made up part of the elite of the 1986 Girls Tennis team. Both had successful seasons, Le going undefeated in regular season play, and Mason losing only three times.

What paid off best for these two outstanding athletes, however, was not an individual effort. Nha and Heather were also GarField's top doubles team. "We play well together," said Heather. "I always knew where she was even if I couldn't see her."

Throughout the season they won match after match, soundly beating top doubles teams from our rival schools. At season's end, they had earned the titles of District and Regional Champions and the right to travel to Chesapeake for State competition, where they would face the best girls doubles teams from VA.

No. 1 seed Nha Le returns a shot at the net. Nha won all of her matches in the 1986 season and went on to state competition in doubles.

Heather Mason, no. 2 seed, follows through on her serve. Heather also played in doubles competition as Nha's partner.

Donna Gamboa goes airborne to return a long ball.

For extra power, Lara Powell leans into an overhand serve.

Freshman Denise Simcic, definately one of the younger team members, "gets down" to chase a low shot.

Lisa Ward, a junior seeded at number three, looks to the sideline and Coach White for advice and support.

GIRLS SLAM HOME THE SEASON

With awesome talent!

To say that the 1986 Girls Tennis Team had a successful season would be one of the larger understatements of recent history. As a team, Gar-Field lost to only one school during the season.

Led by seniors Nha Le and Heather Mason as well as juniors Lisa Ward and Donna Gamboa, the girls managed to beat all the teams that mean anything when playing against Gar-Field. Woodbridge, Potomac, and Osbourn Park all fell to the onslaught of tennis balls and rackets when they came to visit the Indians.

Filling up the ranks of a relatively young team were many talented players, including junior Lara Powell. Lara helped the team in many ways, losing some but winning several key matches for her school.

"I spent some of the season with an ankle problem I got during the summer at basketball camp," Lara said. "It really hurt my performance for a while but I was 100% by the end of the season."

"I really love to play tennis," said number-four seed Donna Gamboa. "I practice all the time and I've gotten better since last year." Improving their game seems to be one of the more important goals for the girls to have.

Coach Nancy White has coached the team since its start eight years ago. Being the only coach, she has a unique perspective on the outlook of the team. The team has developed over the years, both athletically and as a family-style unit. Before every match, the girls quiet down, stand in a circle, and hold hands. Everything gets quiet around them, even opponent teams. Then one of the girls or Mrs. White leads the rest of the girls in a short prayer.

Coach Nancy White

"We've always done it," said Mrs. White. "One day before a match one of the girls asked if we could pray. We've done it ever since."

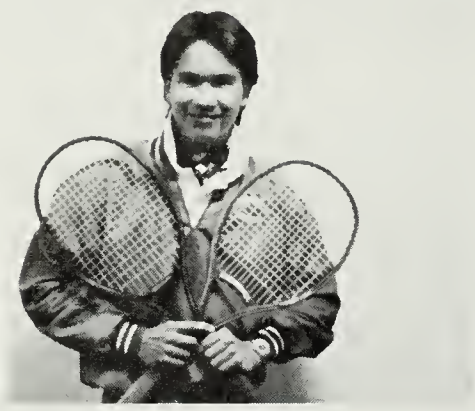

"We're a sort of a family," Mrs. White continues. "If one or two of the girls has a problem, we all try to help out in any way we can." This family attitude extends well past the end of the season. The girls continue to "hang around" with each other and close friendships develop over the course of two or three years.

"They're great people," says freshman Denise Simcic. "Even though this is my first year on the team, I feel like a part of them already. I'm really looking forward to next year."

It's All a Matter of Timing

With only one runner returning from the 1985 Boys Varsity Cross Country Team, this years members became very competitive to earn a spot on the squad. To conclude the season Tom Brandt, Joe Brazil, Pat Byrd, Ken Chase, John Pope, David Presnell, and Albert Stumm represented Gar-Field at the District meet. Tom Brandt was the only runner to qualify for the Regional and State meets placing seventh and twenty-fifth respectively.

Plagued with injuries, the girls team spent the season trying to recover. Newcomer Mary Karis led the team to an eighth place finish in the District meet.

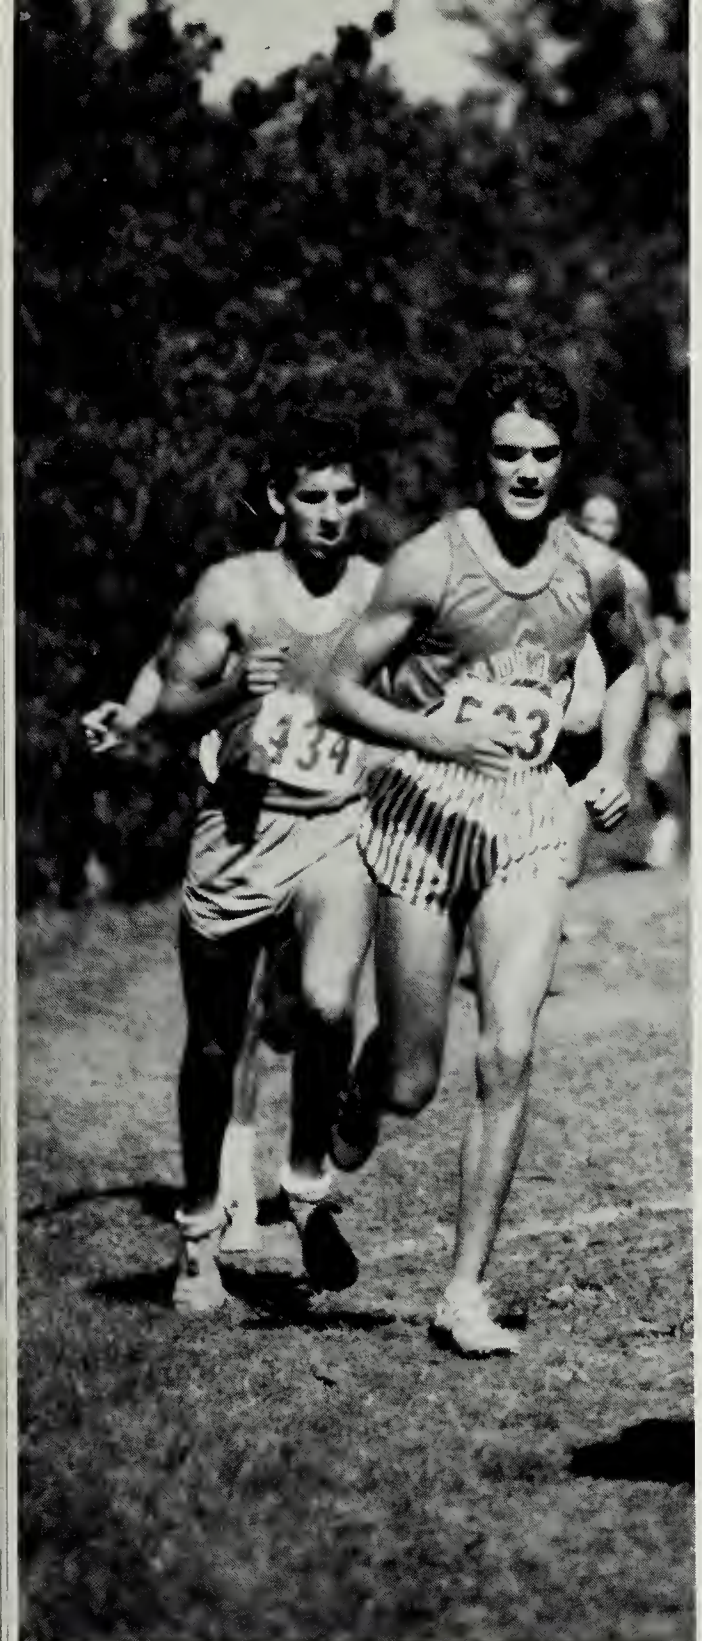

The slogan " T.A.S. " meaning " tough and strong " was adopted by the team. Due to the teams' competitive spirit and determination the slogan was very fitting. The injuries, the pain, nothing could stop this team from having the best season possible.

The girls track team finished the season on a good note by placing second in the District Indoor Championships. Emily Bohuslar, Dionne Butler and Kisha Town led the team in the sprint races and jumping events. Susan Moats landed the only first place finish with a thirty-five foot plus throw in the shot put. Teammates Leneetha Thompson and Lawanda Benefield completed the one, two, three finish by placing second and third respectively. Rhonda Mason and Connie Coaxum showed promising future for the team by competing hard and placing in their individual events.

DRIVING FOR EXCELLENCE

"Unless we get more players to join the team, golf at Gar-Field will only be a fleeting memory in the future," says senior Billy O'Hop.

Five of six starters on the golf team this year are graduating.

Senior Ben Rote states, "If the team doesn't pick up more support and/or players, it will no longer exist."

The team as a whole has improved substantially since the early 80's. Their decisive victory over Osbourn Park by more than 60 strokes proved they could do what they always knew they could. Ben Rote says enthusiastically, "Everyone played up to his potential and we crushed." When they finally put it together, the team they knew that could be existed.

After driving hundreds of golf balls and seemingly endless hours of putting practice, Jerry Manning's hard work paid off. At the match against Osbourn Park, Jerry won the Medalist Award.

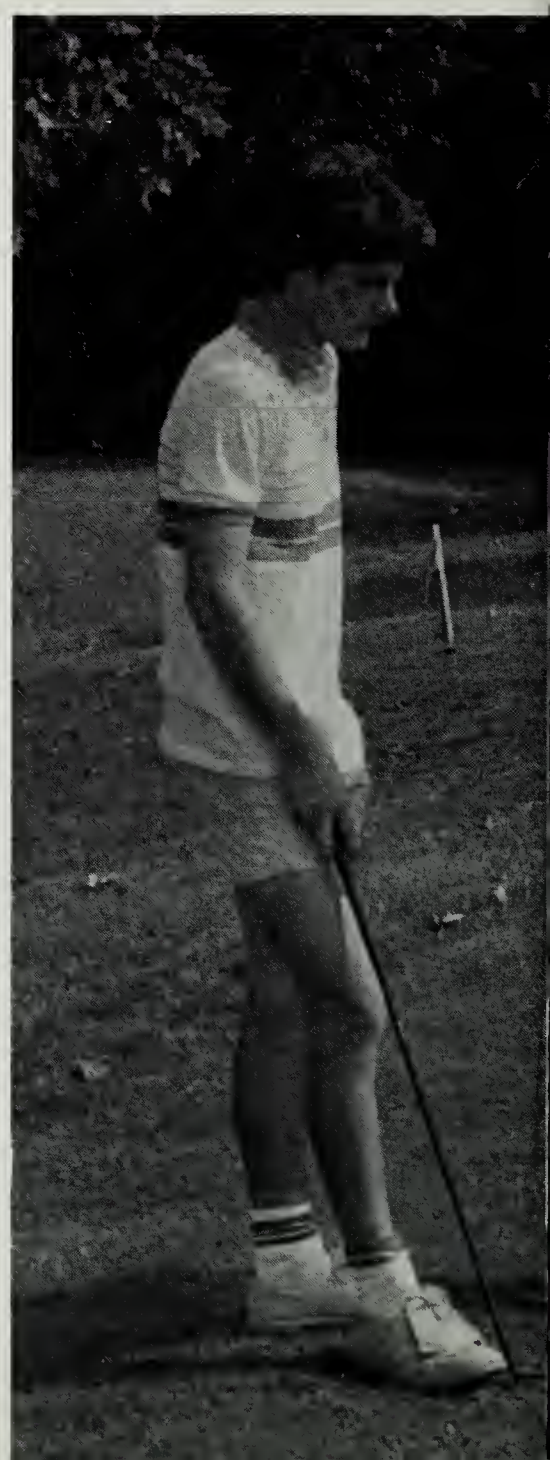

The hard work and dedication of the entire 1985 golf team made the year a valuable one in lessons learned and experience gained.

The JV Boys Basketball Team had a great year and improved with every preformance. The team dominated all their opponents the second half of the year showing their improvements as a team. All the members of the team were very important to the successful season. On the offense the team ran a great fast break that helped them average over seventy points per game. Keith Alvarez led the team in scoring, averaging twenty-five points a game. Chuck McCullough, Jeff Banks, Jack Martin, Troy Fontillas, and Brian Watts all contributed with scoring. Jeff Turner added in an occasional "dunk" or two.

On defense the JV Indians on the average held their opponents to fifty points a game. Jeff Turner, Joel Mills, Chuck McCullough, and Ira Winston controlled inside while Keith Alvarez, Jack Martin and company controlled the perimeter. The team showed its great improvement during the Woodbridge game. The last game of the season. Earlier in the year they lost a last second game to Woodbridge seventy-five to seventy-four. The Indians showed who was number one as they beat Woodbridge seventy-six to fifty-three to close out the season. The team finished eighteen and two and champions of the Commonwealth Junior Varsity Division.

Gar-field's Junior Varsity Girls Basketball Team showed tremendous effort and determination this year in posting a six and eleven season record. The team was lead by Michelle Blackwell, a forward, and Neese Rawlinson, a guard. "The girls gave most of their opponents a good run for their money," stated Coach Riddle. A strong hard nosed defense became a trade mark of this year's team, which gave up an average of only thirty-six points per game. Through team work and dedication the girls made great strides throughout the year.

"I guess it was just a matter of time before we ran out of energy....."
Terry Denman

As regular season champions, our Girls Varsity Volleyball Team finished first place with a 10-0 record. Everyone predicted Gar-Field to go all the way. This was Gar-Field's year. They entered the district playoffs ranked number one and had to face the other four year defending champions, the Potomac Panthers (7-4). "We had everything to gain. We were winners in the greatest sense of the word," said Terri Denman. Potomac won in the final game of the playoffs in the most exciting game in the history of both schools.

The season started off at high speed with nothing but wins for the team. Only one major problem plagued the team during the season, the winning feeling caused an air of overconfident as it would with any team. The team felt as though they could handle anything. Every problem has a solution, so Coach Johnson tried using the school psychologist to calm their emotions. "At first we strongly objected, but we finally agreed and it payed off with a number one district rank at the end of the regular season," stated Terri Denman.

The loss to Potomac in the district finals brought the team closer together. Terri Denman summed up the feelings of the team when she said, "I guess it was just a matter of time before we ran out of energy. I just wish it was after Districts." The season was a success, even with the let down in the finals.

One of the important points of winning is getting oneself psyched up for a game.

Kim Riley struggles to keep the ball in the court so that her teammates can get a chance to return it for a point.

Topped By Few

Senior Curtis Johnson, along with fellow senior William Jackson, were an incredible asset to the team, but they didn't do it alone. Curtis scored over 300 points and had more than 350 rebounds to his credit. The combination of Johnson and Jackson sparked an emotion much needed to make this team one of the best Gar-Field has ever seen. The team reacted to their every move. They played like a single unit timed perfectly, like an oiled machine programmed to do only one thing, play basketball. The offensive attack thrilled the crowd every time the ball was touched. The crowd would tense waiting for a spectacular slam from Curtis or William. Without a defense there would be no offense. Steals, blocked passes, and outstanding rebounds led to the offensive show topped by very few teams in the nation.

CLIFF-HANGER GAMES!

"The girls' basketball games were better to watch," says senior Jimmy Curlis. "They were more exciting than watching the boys dunk up and down the court."

Although some people might disagree, it cannot be denied that the girls played some cliff-hanger games. "One of our best was against North Stafford," player Lara Powell said. "We really came together."

Basketball, contrary to popular belief, is not an easy game to master.

It may be easy to learn the basic skills but, as any good coach will tell their players, it takes practice, practice, practice to be any good.

Senior Terry Hosier comments, "Basketball is not just for boys anymore. Our team works as hard as any boys' team around."

As with all other high-school level sports, the players have a dual commitment, part to their particular sport and part to maintaining the required level of academic achievement.

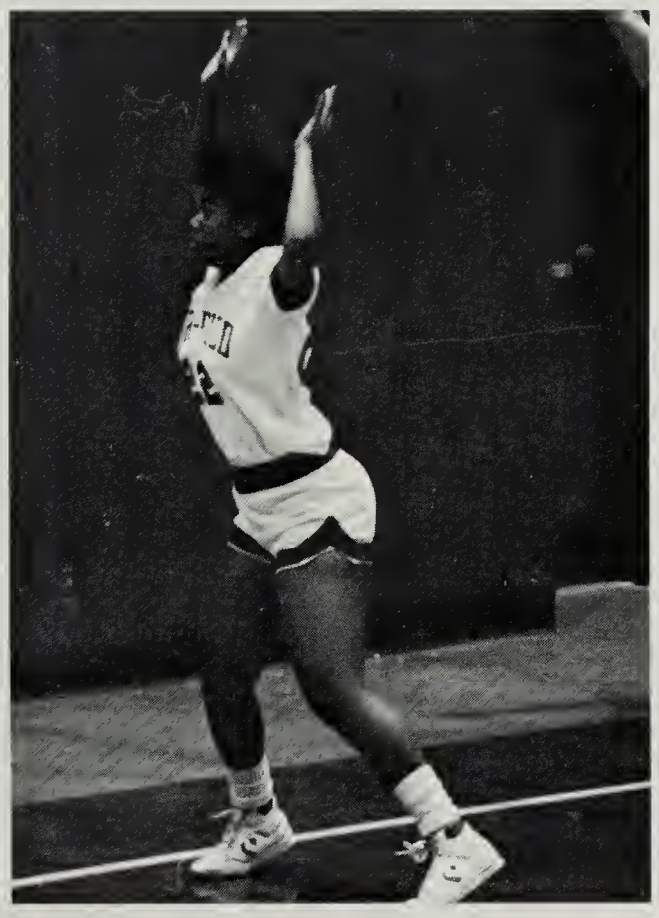

"It didn't always seem worth it to keep up my grades," continues Terry, "But I knew I had to or else."

Mrs. Susan Powell said about her daughter, "I'm behind her 100 percent. I'm glad she plays as many sports as she does."

Another fan, junior Eric Davis, said, "I learned more about basketball watching the girls. They were just as physical as any hockey game I've ever seen."

The Indians charge the basket after Robbin Beasley (24) shoots in the attempt to get the rebound.

Jackie Carter (22) assumes the defensive blocking position against a foe.

Dedication Plus Enjoyment

Having fun and enjoying the sport as well as taking it seriously were important factors for the team. Other important factors and a great source of help to Coach Barrett came from manager Brandi Kelly and score keeper Chris Ondo.

This season's most valuable player was Kenni Allen. Because of her overall demonstration of hard work and determination throughout the season the team elected her as the most valuable player.

"It was an enjoyable season for me as the coach because I couldn't have had a better group of girls to work with. The team knew how to have fun and be serious at the same time."

The Freshman Boys Basketball Team had both a successful year and a winning record. Injuries to key players Tabby Henderson (point guard) and Marcus Hallman (power forward) forced the remaining team members to play with increased determination. Carroll rich was the leading rebounder and was the second highest scorer. Skip Saunders was the most valuable player and the leading scorer with a total one hunderd eighty-nine points at the end of the season.

High Expectations

With a perfect season the year before, the team had to live up to high expectations.

The team entered the season with one of the hardest reputations to live up to (10-0). The previous year was practically a perfect season and the best in the schools' history. The first four games of the season continued their winning streak, and brought it to a two year regular season record of 14-0. The team looked as if it was going to continue rolling over everything with no problem. However, in the next few games to come they lost their momentum and some of the students were beginning to lose faith in their team. With three losses and one tie in the second set of four games their record fell from a perfect 4-0 to an unbelievable 4-3-1.

The ninth game of the season brought the feeling of winning back to Gar-Field. A slaughtering win over North Stafford, 34-0, brought back some of the faith lost mid-way through the season. The win even brought a majority of the students out to the game against our arch-rival Woodbridge. Pouring rain and freezing temperatures didn't stop students, faculty, and even parents from coming out to see their team. The final game was a muddy, hard-fought battle for the playoffs. Woodbridge ended up victorious, but not after playing one of the best games of their life.

The team had a great season despite their not-so-pretty record. Previous records and a winning reputation can be hard on a team trying to live up to high expectations.

"There is no one at the bus stop. Oh no! Did I miss the bus?!!! Great, I'm late for the first day of school! Oh, here comes someone now. Thank goodness!!!"

"Well, I made it to school. Now if I could find my classroom. Excuse me! Can you tell me where SSO3 is?" "Sure its on the third floor. Go past the swimming pool and its the first door on the left." "Thanks a lot! Excuse me, where are the stairs to the third floor!" "There is no third floor!" "Boy, what a great day this is turning out to be! Oh, here it is, SSO3. I think I'll stick to asking teachers for directions!"

Six hundred Freshmen entered these hollowed halls this year. Most were feeling nervous, scared, and apprehensive, which is a traditional expectation. As the day goes by and classes are found they become more comfortable with their surroundings. The nervousness of the morning subsides as faces are recognized and the normality of school sinks in. By the time the school day is over, the nervousness has already turned to excitement! "Hey Caroline, who did you get for English?" "Sam, did you get lost yet?"

"Just Clowning Around"

Is this Mr. Bell's idea of a joke?

Jason Hartman showed his Halloween spirit by dyeing his hair a multitude of colors.

Six period ends then comes the grins for Vicky Sedlacek, Jeannie Schmecht, and Jennifer Breeding.

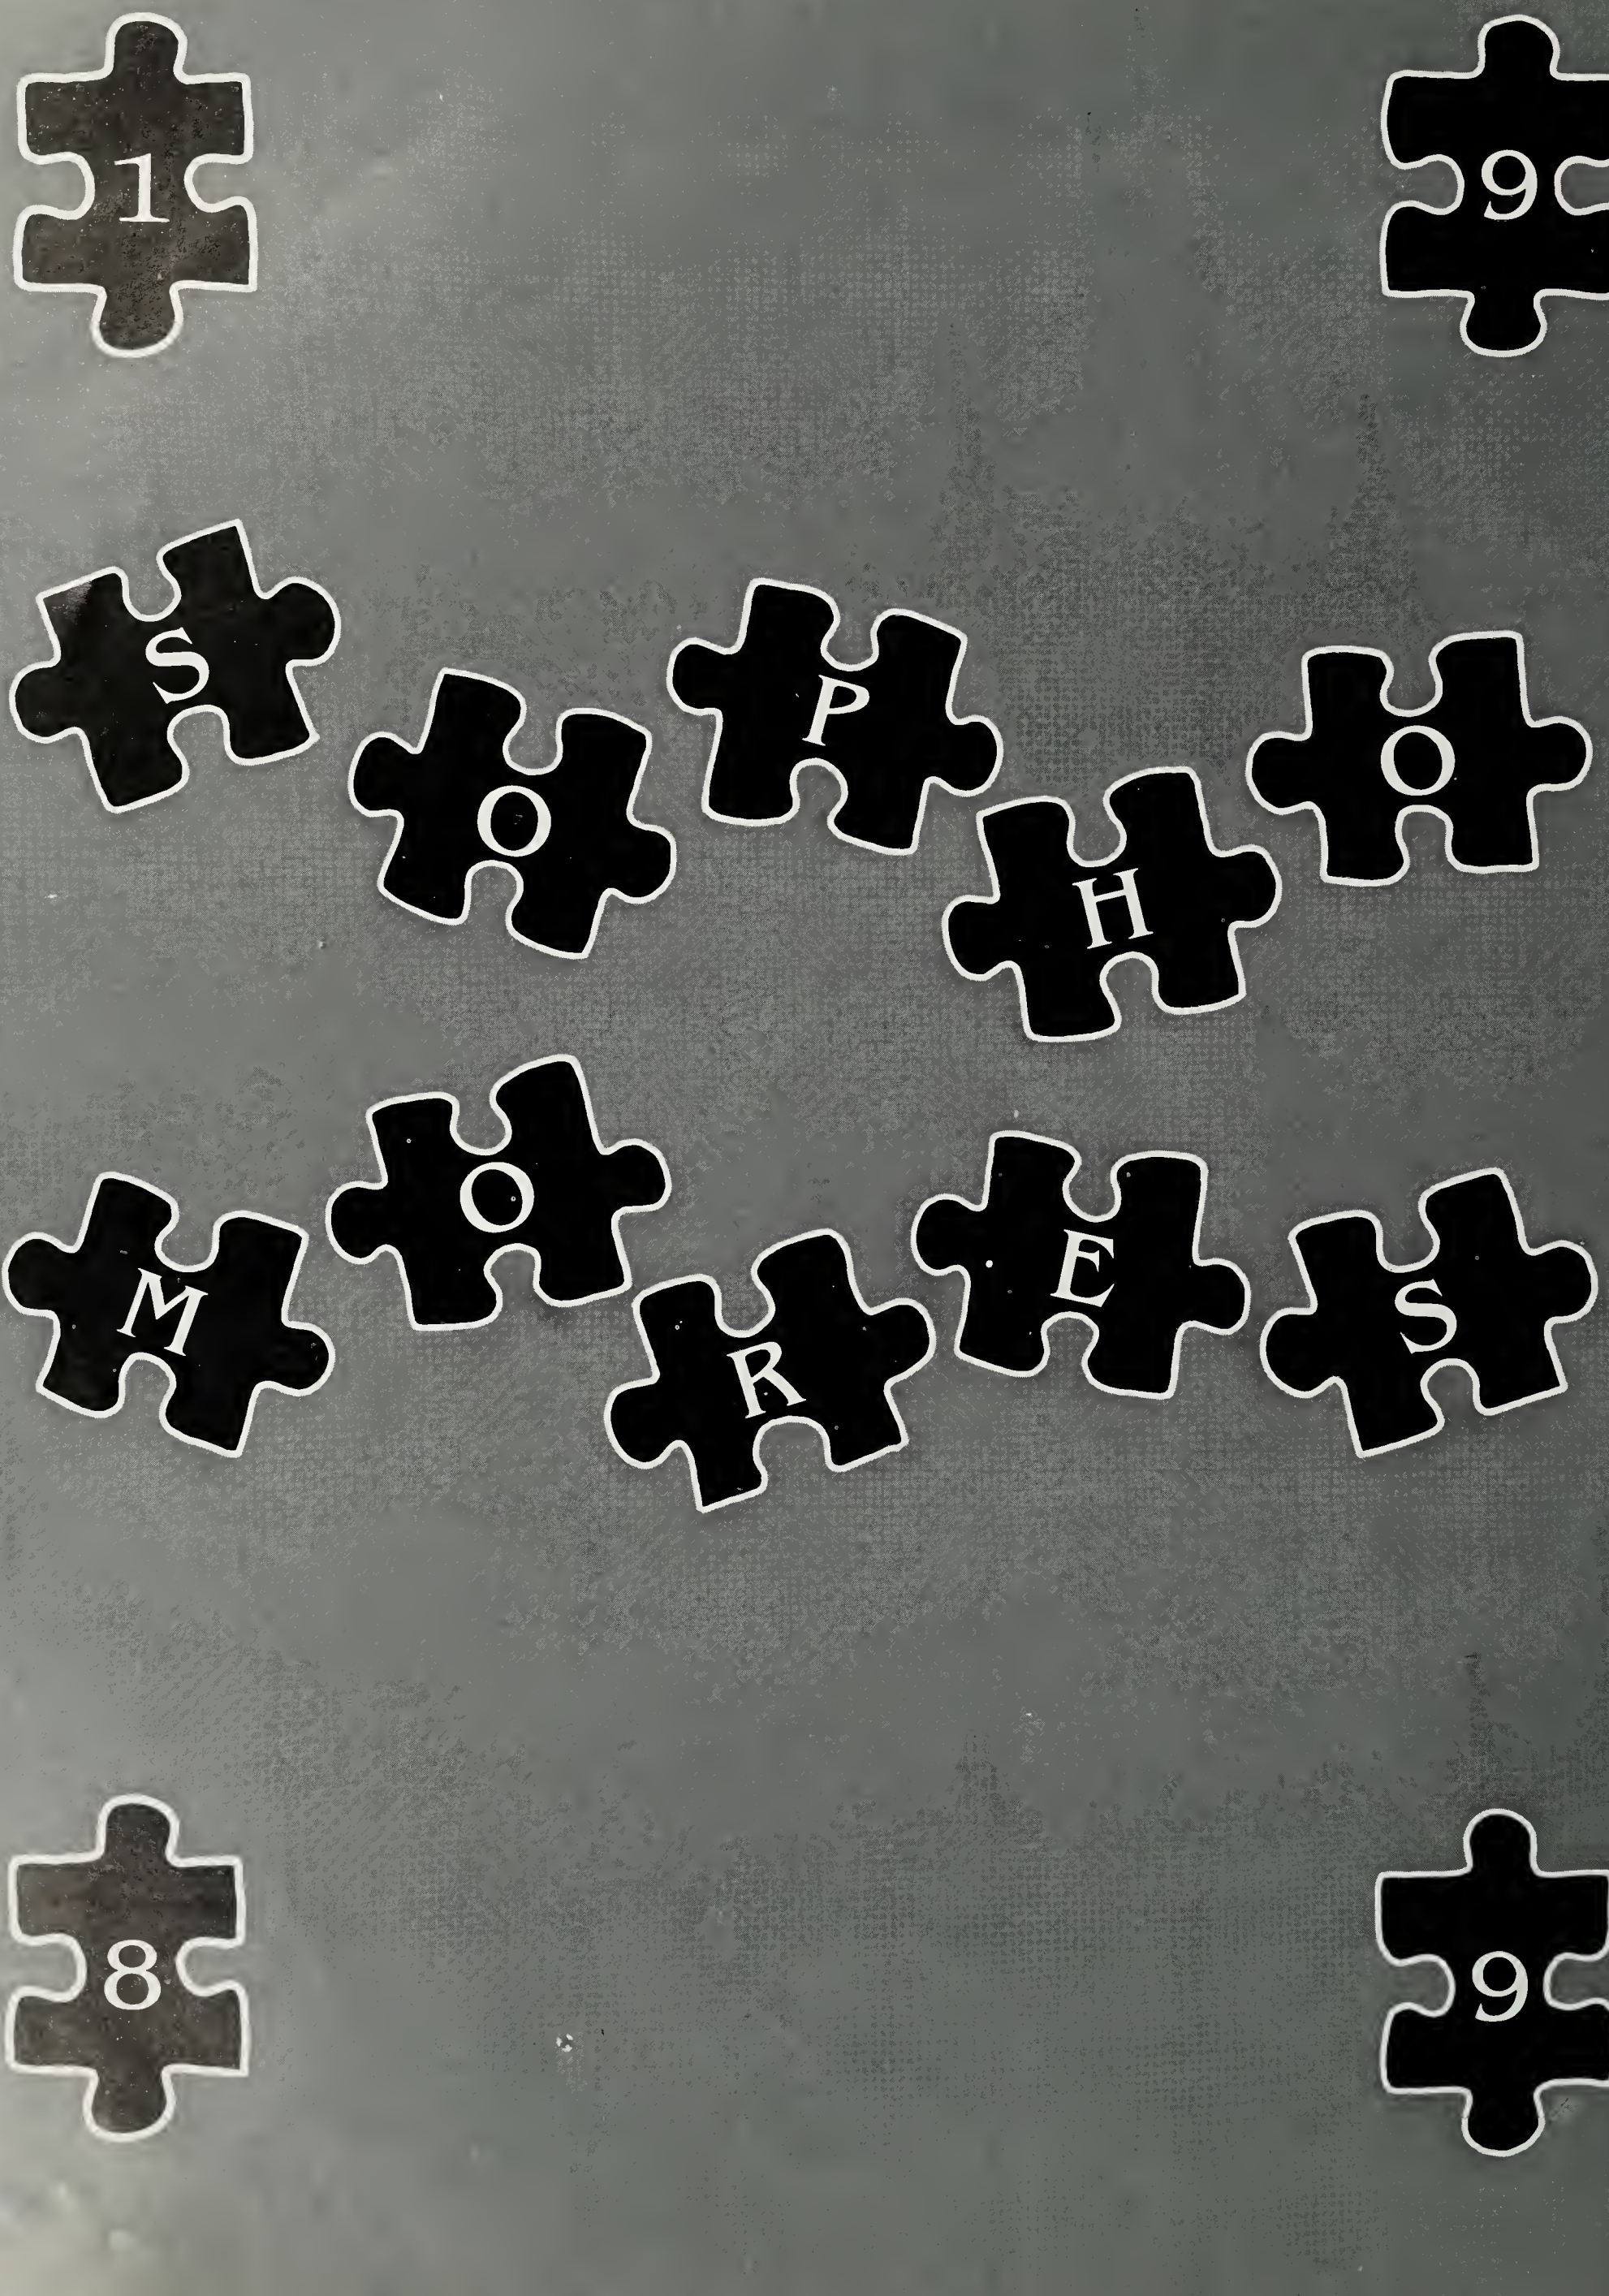

Concentration is the "name of the game!"

In October Mrs. Shacklette, Mrs. Templeton, and Mr. Wilson were pleasantly surprised when Mr. Corbin's third period Freshmen English class presented them with a pot of flowers. Mr. Corbin's class had been working in the library for four days finding information on various topics in the Readers Guide, SIRS, and Newsbank. The librarians offered them as much help as possible and to show their gratitude the 9th grade English class gave them a pot of chrysanthemums. Each student also wrote a letter thanking the librarians for their help.

Mr. Corbin's third period Freshmen English class shows their budding enthusiasm for learning by presenting flowers to Mrs. Shacklette and Mrs. Templeton.

EVERY-THING'S FINE IN '89!

Christie Eastman and Judy East are in the spotlight saying that just after 6th period, is the time for some serious partying!

Jack Martin, J.V. baseball player, says "O.K., I'm ready now, so let the game begin!"

Junior Varsity soccer player Claude Barfield says, "Do you really want my opinion, or are you just 'joshin' me?"

Domenic Bianchini is just doing what comes naturally!

Becoming a sophomore in high school brings about a lot of questions and answers that may influence the rest of a person's life.

The questions of getting a job start to come out into the open. "What kind of job do I want to get?" "If I get a job, will I have time for a social life?" "Once the summer is over, will I be able to keep my job during school without letting my grades go down?" Although these questions are important the most important one is, "Do I even WANT a job?"

Another subject that arouses a lot of questions is dating. Having a job sometimes limits social life, but when there is time, the question of money always stands out. "Will he/she pay (of course it depends on who asks), or will we go 'Dutch'?" "Who will drive?" (Of course that brings about the question, "Will I EVER get my license!?")

So as they say, "life gets harder before it gets easier." Never fear though, "Everything's fine in '89!"

Class of '89

BUMPIN' BOOSTERS!

YEARBOOK - A rather large book you get about two weeks before school ends. This book causes a lot of confusion, teachers and other administrators dislike it very much. If they see it open during class, they take it from you, and you don't get it back until June 16 at 11:30 a.m. It also gets friends very confused because they sign so many of them, they never can remember if they'd done yours, so they sign it again.

Connie Wise - Good luck to the chamber orchestra crew. You taught us a lot! Julie, you've got three more terrific years at G-F- don't let the turkeys get you down. Jen, Sam, Jenni, Pat, Helen, Emily, Beck-its been great. But, hey, I'm not really crazy. As Mrs.Simon put it, a tree fell on me. You have to understand! Keep walking like Egyptians! Remember those crazy days!

School time is no time for fun, so do you really have the answer to the question Erin Evans and Robert Jackson? If so, why is everyone else looking for it?

Sophomore princess Winona Landry and her date Brian Borough seemed to enjoy dancing the night away at this year's homecoming, so they took the time to stop and smile for the camera.

Are you laughing at the other team's goof up or are you just enjoying the football game like the rest of G-F's finest, Lisa Emery?

Amy O'Daniell - Hey, what's up? We want to wish Holly & Chris lots of luck when they move. Holly, you have been a really super friend. Thanks for being there for us! Good luck with the guys! Chris, you are a really great guy. Don't ever forger it! Don't forget to write! Lots for love from Rami, Eliz, Bev, Kim & Amy & all your friends!

BOOSTER AD - A totally ridiculous way of saying thanks to your best friend, family, and boy/girlfriend by means of the yearbook. They have never made sense, because by the time you get your yearbook, you've disowned your best friend (to tell the truth, you were the one who toilet papered and egged her house last week), and gone through four different boy/girlfriends.

TAKE A PEEP

INTO THE WORLD OF G-F s

GREATS

"See, life in school is not that bad," Lynn Ganino and Jim Verschuran say. You only have to know the right people, and you're set for the rest of your high school career!

"No, it can't go that way," explains Mr. Washington to Alan Hartman. But Sean Bennett says "yes it can!", as he tries to prove his point.

Live life to the fullest seems to be Mike McGuire's philosophy as he keeps on movin' and groovin' at the sophomore class dance.

As many couples swayed to the pulsating music at the sophomore dance, Jeffrey Fowlkes seemed to be saying "May I have this dance?"

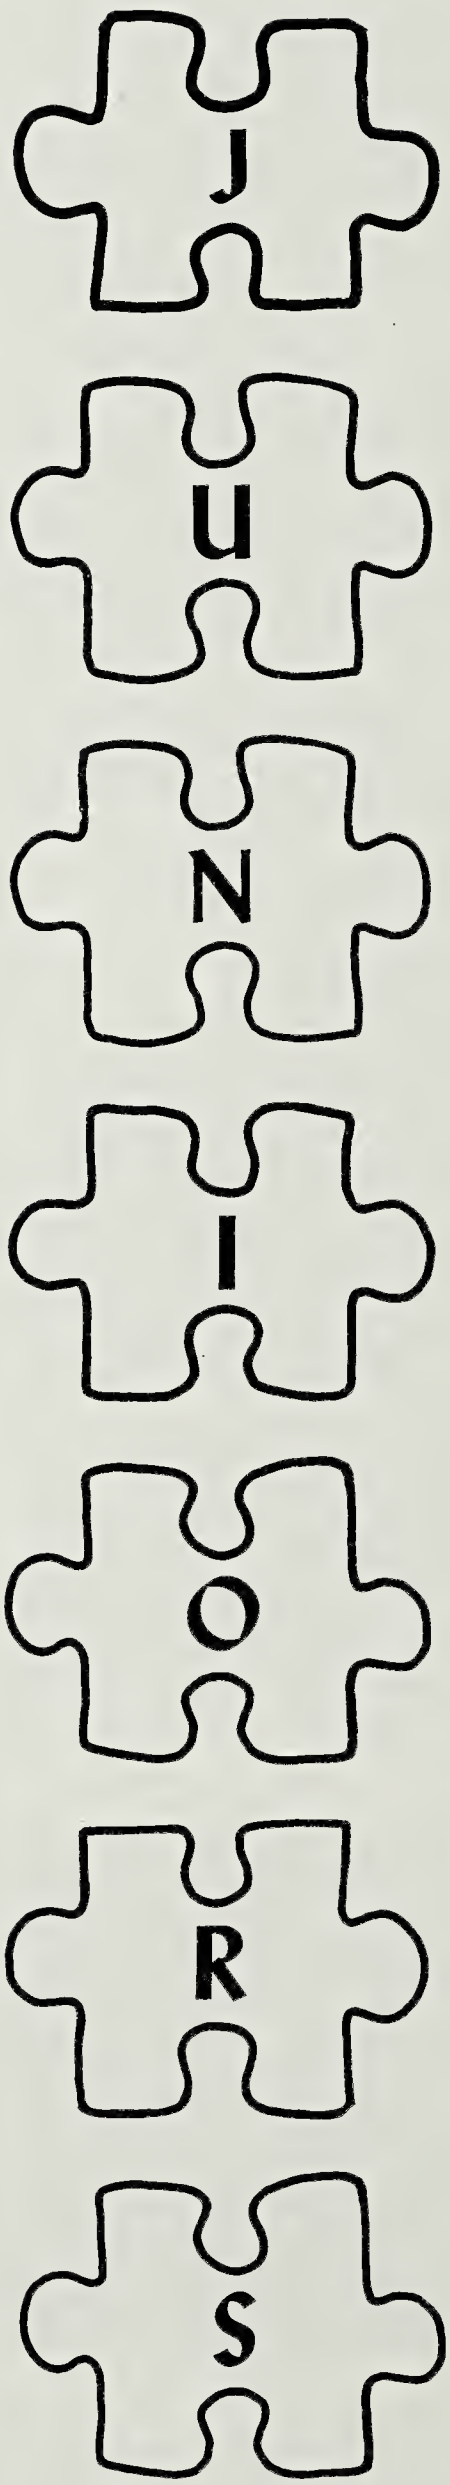

Biology - a class in which a student (usually a sophomore) studies different biological features of the world. Much memorization is required as in the structure of DNA. Then about 3/4 of the way through the year, they compile all supposed acquired knowledge, and they begin everyone's favorite part of the year; DISSECTING!

Geometry - This class is also "sophomore related". During the first few weeks of class, a student can look into the future, and say, "No problem! I can ace the class!" Then comes the postulates, theorems and proofs. After that . . . (Twilight Zone Music!)

Chris Brown - Scott, Thanks for such a great year! Love Always, Chris

Stephanie Hosier - Terry,
Thanks for being such a great sister. Good Luck in college. I'll miss you!
I Love You, Stephie

CLASS RINGS

With this ring...I thee be a Junior

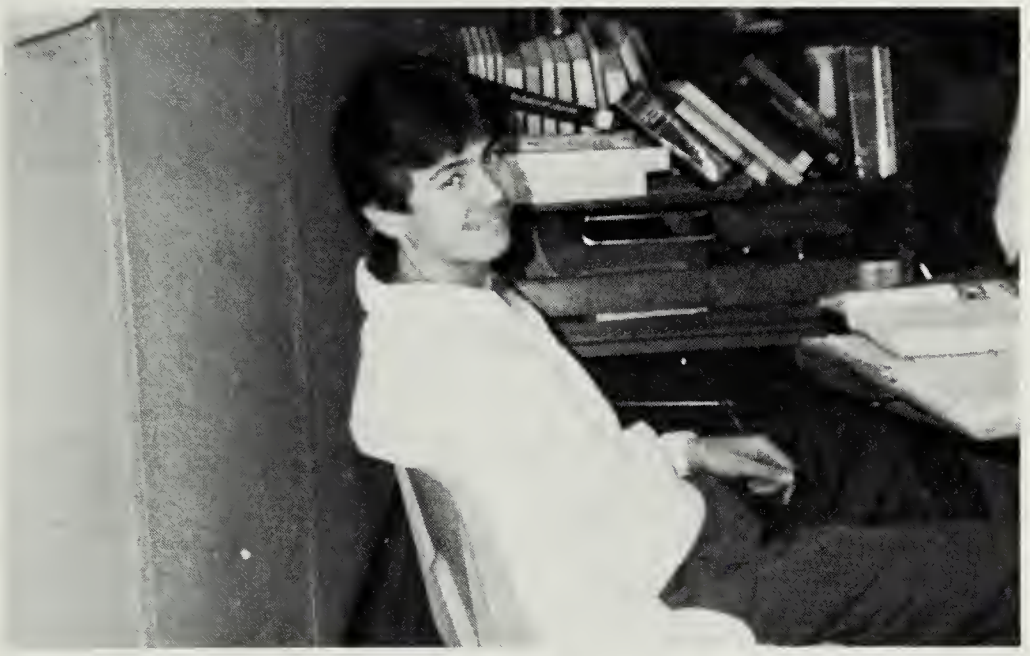

Ordering class rings has been a never ending tradition because it is a status symbol of your junior year. Students start ordering at the end of their sophomore year.

Through the years the styles, selections, and price range has varied, for instance in 1967 there were only two styles of rings, one for males and one for females. This was a standard $40.00 gold ring, which had a basic blue stone. With an Indian Head and Gar-Field on the side.

Now, every student has a personalized ring. There are a variety of different sizes, shapes, stones, and emblems such as sports or extra curricular activities which can be ordered. They also have a choice of having an Ultrium or Gold ring. These rings are now priced between $50.00 to $200.00. We have been ordering class rings from Herff Jones since 1963.

Life Styles

Jim Verschueren has found a new way to put his books to good use.

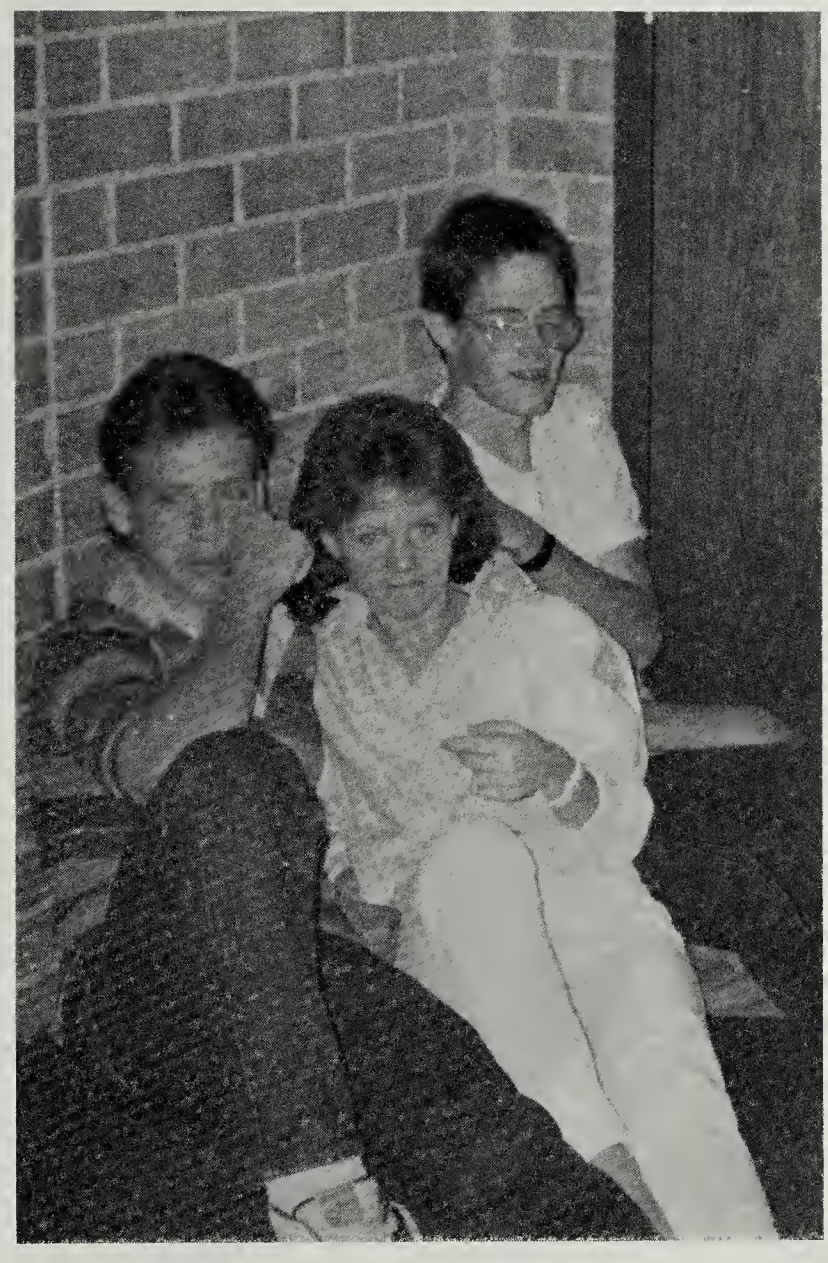

Being able to do a proper split was only one of the reasons why Emily Cunha was selected to be an Indianette.

JUNIORS

Looking forward to their senior year
And trying not to show their fear
Of living in a brand new world.
Only one more year to pass through
The familiar halls, and remember all
Their times of fun and falls.
The funs not over, just beginning,
Applying to college, adding the trimmings,
To their last good look at the school
We proudly call Gar-Field, where
The cool go to school, and the
Good times roll like a great song.

One can always count on Sean Jones, James Jandreau, and Eric Stoutameyer to be walking around and playing it cool during lunch.

Matt Dulin, Dori Dove, and Stephen Shurtliff lounging around Lecture Room 2.

Varsity baseball player Todd Wickum can't believe the bad call the umpire made during the Osbourn Park game.

Decisions, Decisions, Decisions

As you mature, you are faced with many decisions.

Along with marriage comes the decision of having children. Are they in your future?

Laura O'Brien and Matt Shoop got 'married' last May as an assignment for Mr. Aleo's Sociology class.

For some, the senior year of high school is the best. For others, it is also the scariest. What will I do next year? Will I be able to make it my own? What if I do not get accepted into college? How will I even pay for college?

These questions and others are thought about by thousandsof teenagers across the United States each year. Although most seniors plan to go to college, others have different ideas.

The plans of those who want to go on to higher education are as varied as those who do not. Karin Richards wants to go to college, study business, and venture through Europe.

"I have always wanted to fly jets," says Gilbert Roberts. "Hopefully I will be able to fly in the Navy." He will not go unprepared, however, as he plans to major in engineering.

David Michael Watts has political dreams. He would like to major in international or political science. "I hope to be at the United Nations someday."

Others are not so sure about their future. Krystine Wilson knows that she wants a doctorate. "But I do not know what I want it in; either law, accounting, Spanish, or something." She would like to be married also. This goal she shares with many of her classmates.

Even though the last year of high school can be a little frightening, it can also be a year of hoping and planning to fulfill childhood dreams of fame, fortune and plain old-fashioned happiness.

Your Fond Memories

Jennifer Kinzinger-Well it's finally over!! I can't say it's been a great four years because it hasn't. Thanks to Leah for all your help and support through the years. Nusi, I wish you the ability to pluralize words and the money to come to Greece with me, via Europe. Kris 'you gonna eat that bacon' Dixon, it's been great-good luck at TN. Michelle your nose is shining, but I love ya anyway. Keep the faith and keep in touch girls, see ya at the beach.

Wanda Ritter-Congrates class of '87' we did it! No more GF! Yeah! Tracey your the best! I'm gonna miss you when I go to college, Sis! Remember the troublesome twins * mischief * Hey Brent better be good! Don't forget your hugs. Scott thanx for your love and support. I love you! Don't forget love will conquer all! ILY-FYF Wanda.

Tim Riley-Thanks a lot guys for a great time in high school. Thanks Den. W, Butch. T, Joe Cole, Matt, Morgan in algebra one. Also thanks a lot to Kim T. hope you find what you are looking for, good luck in 12th grade. Good luck guys in my old geometry class don't work too hard next year. I would like to thank especially Michelle M. for pullin' by me through the hard times, I appreciate it. Thanks also to C.O. for passing me in Mr. Earl's class, stay cool.

Krystine Wilson-To the class of '87' thanks for all of the good and bad times. I've learned a lot. I hope that all of you succeed in whatever you do. Thanks Mom and Dad! I don't think that I would have made it through these past four years without you. I love you very much!! To Traci and Shellee, I hope that the memories you have of the football and basketball games last until you get into high school. I love you both! God bless you. Krystine Wilson.

Karrie Cull-In the two and a half years I've been here, I have met a lot of people I am proud to call my pals. To those people I'd like to say thanks for giving a new girl a chance. To the brats, it's been a wild two years. To my teachers, trust me I did learn a few things. To J.R., I'm sorry things have to be the way they are. And to my favorite secret agent, 007, take care. I'm going to miss you, keep in touch. I know you'll go far in life, just include me in some of it, OK? Whenever I see a 007 movie, I'll see you.

Deirdre Marsh-Thank the lord I made it. Dear family, thank you for all your love, Miss U. P.S. I love you. Teddy Bear remember me Deirdre "Sunshine" Marsh. Oh! Thanks to my teachers for all your patience.

Stacey Medina-To Kimmi and Jenny, good luck in your senior year! Luv ya! Stace "words"...

Beth Dietz-Can you believe it? We're almost out of here! Oh well!! I'd like to thank all of the guys from the corner for everything they've done and haven't done! Take care and enjoy it while you can! Karin we made it kid and next year will be incredible but never forget the good times we've already had! SP'S, GMU & A.L. you know what I mean?! Mom and Dad I'll never be able to thank you enough! Granny J. thanks to you to! KRT TOP- thanks for being my friend! Michelle stay healthy! Sissy-I'll miss you! Slicky Beth.

Cindy Cross-To Gar-Field Faculty: It is your hard work and your dedication that makes this school as great as it is. It will be hard for me to leave, but my years here have been fun, exciting and rewarding, I will always look back at Gar-Field with pride and my many thanks.

Carla Melonson-Eauh! It's been a trip! We've been through a lot over the years. I'm glad it all worked out for the best. Elena, Lisa, and Ellen I love you all. We'll always be the best of friends. Remember all of the goofy things we did-"the real flying girls" so bad! Also thanks to the cheerleaders-we finally got the recognition we deserve!! Good luck next year. To the crew- good luck, I'll never forget you: B.W., R.D., A.C., S.B., and Aron, I love you all, but I got to go!

Mark Walker-Thanks T.S., D.P., M.H., S.S., and all of the gang, love you all. A special thanks to you Jason for always forgiving and forgetting, luv ya boy, you are the best!! Thanks to you Gloria for spending a great deal of my senior year with me. I hope we are together forever. I love you.

Elena Johnson-High School was good while it lasted thanks to M.Y., C.U., Z.E.S., Ellen, Lisa, Carla. Thanks for always being there for me. The lunch crew lives on: the real fly girls, B.W., R.D., A.C., and S.B. good luck to you all. Keep in touch. Thanks mommy! Lisa Bradford-The time is here, good. To Ellena, Ellen, and Carla I'll miss all of you an awful lot. Remember all the funny stuff we did! Remember going to visit Corey! To the cheerleaders thanks for all the fun times at camp, good luck Mrs. C and to the crew, I wish you'll the best of luck. Good luck sis. To my parents thanks for molding me into the person that I will be tomorrow. Most of all thank you God, for without you I wouldn't be anything, thank you.

Billy Blanton-Thanks Darrell for being my best friend all through school. Sorry about your accident, but I am glad everything turned out OK. Because of it I found my "perfect person"----Cindy!! Thanks Mr. Dew for teaching me a trade that will pay off in the future.

Donna Brothers-Thanks Mom and Dad for being so supportive of me. Francoise I will always remember all the laughs and lunch! Take care of that car! Thanks for caring DJ. JPM- thanks for opening my eyes to the truth-it hurt but it helped! "Yeah Well" love ya Gumby! Donna B.

Donna Cappel-My dearest appreciation and thanks must be said to Jim, my Macaulay you're the best friend that anyone could ever hope for. You've listened to a lot and pulled me also from the hole. Thanks for the patience you've had with me. Thank you for the strength you've given to fight my most important year through. I love you with all my heart-Jimmy Macaulay!! To T.E.-remember that the rainbow always shines after the rain, to T.L.-what a stud! To R.R.-someday you'll find someone to keep you in control. To M.P.-don't worry about the shine! Donna.

Kevin Staford-I did my time, it's time to get out. It's time to party at the beach. Thanks to all my friends. They made it all worth while. Remember homecoming, Troy, Can't wait til our cars are done! Steve V. just----Good luck, and all the rest. Thanks to all the girls! GF girls are the best. It wouldn't be high school without girls. Right guys? Special thanks to Lisa K. Novak, I will always love you! My license plate says "anytime" that doesn't say anyone.

Jennifer Wood-Tami don't forget the awesome times. Your the best Jen. Jennifer and Ricky, Tami and Chester-what a goup of love. Tami Carter and Jennifer Wood best friends forever!!! Tami don't you remember the red Chevette last year Jen. Jennifer Wood loves Ricky DeShong always and forever.

Butch Trowbridge-Thanks for all the help over the years Tim and Dennis. I love you Cyndie Taylor. Love, me.

Earle Perez-Hey gang! This year is over! We're on our way to the big world. Thanks a bunch to G.E., B.J., M.P., L.H., G.O., S.O., M.O., K.R., and all the rest of you guys who I've known throughout my years. You are all the best bunch of characters I've ever known. Best of luck and love, especially all you underclassmen, double for the next senior class. Hope that you are just as spirited as we were. The voice of Gar-Field is running out of words and money, hugs and kisses to all, Earle Perez the voice of Gar-Field 86-87.

Andrea Witzgall-It's Finally over!! Kelly buddy! It's been great-the parties, the laughs, the guys, the times spent cruzin' going nowhere! Who could forget! Michelle-who gets lost better than us? "Lock that door!" Chip-what's laughs without you? You fool! Sherri-got any gum? Arnie you made the past four years the best! I never would have made it without you. I love you! Thanks Mom and Dad for everything. To all underclassmen-especially Joey-later on! Look out Virginia Beach here we come! Love ya'll- Andrea Witzgall.

Mendy Barrett-Hi all! It actually has been fun. Susan, thanks for all you did for me. Greta, keep eating Ho-Hos. S.H., L.B., R.W., go big red! It won't be the same without my toad family. I'll miss ya. Thanks to all my teachers, especially Mr. Bunn, Mrs. Combs, Mrs. Taylor, and Ms. Wolfe. You've done a lot for me. To everyone else: it's not that you're not in my memories, I'm just out of space and money. May there always be peace in your life (and some pink clouds-B.S.) I love you all-you're great! (especially R.S.M.)

Susan Conley-Hey! Thank God this year is over! I never would have made it without Jenny W. Anissa V. I think everything is finally OK with M.T. and B.K. thanks to Mom and Dad! I love you! see you at the beach! (hopefully) Love you all. Dear Teddy Bear- sorry that we had so many problems this year but I'm glad everything worked out! I love you forever and ever! Remember you're the inspiration! Forever-sunshine.

Reagan Edwards-Thanks to all my friends and teachers that made G-F a real experience, especially this last year. Remember the fun times, guys?! Amy how many dates for homecoming? Tracey, feel the heat. Jennifer, we've had fun in spanish. Sigrun, you've been a good friend. Special thanks to Mrs. Jones for listening and to the yearbook staff for the laughter! Good luck everybody! Reagan.

Emily Bohuslar-To all my friends the past four years at G-F have been special to me. To Amy Yenyo, Eric B. and Barbie Sprinkle I give special thanks for all the friendship, love, and good times we have shared. Take care, all my love to you guys. To Ron Roberts I give my everlasting love. You will always have a special spot in my heart. Mom and Dad, I would have never made it without you. Thanks. To the rest of the class of '87' I wish the best of luck in life. We are tomorrow's leaders and the hopes of the future. Take care guys, miss you. Emily Bohuslar.

Francoise Blais-Thanks to Mom and Dad I made it! April and Marcey (wdbg). Donna it was fun in lunch. Don't forget to stare more. Alta-keep up the list. Thanks for the busy sigs hah! Good luck to everyone I left out!!! Bye! Fran. B. (LMS).

Anthony McWilliams-Thanks to my abundance of friends whom I've blessed with friendship. Extra thanks to Boogie, DC, Tray, MF, WC, MW, and my buddy "j". You all have made life so nice. The 1987 Indian Echoes staff expresses their gratitude to those who made the production of the yearbook possible. Our thanks go to those students and faculty who provided us with last minute information and material: Mr. Tom Filip, Mr. Danny Short, Ms. J. Jones, Mr. Hoy, Mr. Riddle, Mr. Cheshire, Mr. Roadcap, Mr. Barrett. This year's book was again published by Jostens Printing and Publishing. All copy was input, fit, and indexed utilizing their new Auto Copy I computer program. Special thanks to Mr. Al Ramer, our Josten's representative, for his continued support and guidance. A total of 1800 copies at $20.00 each were sold to the student body and faculty. This year's book used a variety of type styles in each section in order to set apart the uniqueness of each area: Academics-Souvenir 9/10 point; Clubs-Korinna Bold 8/12 point; Freshmen-Lydian 9/10 point; Sophomores-Benguiat Bold 8/10 point; Juniors, Seniors, Sports-Lydian Bold 8, 9, 10, & 11 point; Student Life- Helvetica Bold 11 point.
